CONGRESS HITS AT AUTOCRACY OF LABOR BOARD

Assaults on Press Stir Protest.

Alleges Persecution

Another instance of national labor board interference with freedom of the press is disclosed by a woman, who accuses a trial examiner of snooping and domineering tactics in effort to force her to appear for questioning on editorial she wrote. Page 9.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—The so-called national labor relations board became the target of condemnation in congress today following revelation of another case of cracking down on a critical newspaper. In the house a movement gained momentum to visit the displeasure of congress on the board by curtailing radically the appropriation for its operations.

Labor board officials came in for a critical questioning in an executive session of the subcommittee of the house appropriations committee which is framing the 1939 appropriation bill for the labor board and other independent offices.

Wants Half Million More.

The board, for which congress voted an appropriation of $2,585,000 for the current fiscal year, is asking an increase next year of $500,000 to enable it to add 100 attorneys, investigators, and examiners to its personnel, which already numbers 500.

Charges that the board has established and is seeking to reinforce an agency comparable to the soviets OGPU for the intimidation of employers and the press enlivened the committee's examination of the labor board officials. Members of the committee, displaying indignation at the current revelations of the board's cracking down on editors who had criticized the agency, questioned the officials closely on their reasons for asking so large an increase of expense money.

With the officials of the board forced upon the defensive, members of the committee obtained inclusion in the record of the proceedings the condemnation of the board voted at the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor and accounts of the violations of the constitutional guarantee of a free press of which the board has been accused.

Led by Liberal Democrat.

One of the leaders of the drive to restrain activities of the labor board is John Rankin of Mississippi, a liberal Democrat who has been disillusioned by the excesses of so-called labor forces under the protection of the Wagner act and the board it created.

"You can't have a free country without freedom of speech and a free press," said Rankin. "By all means, the labor relations act should be amended to put a stop to some of the vicious practices of the labor relations board. Otherwise, the law should be repealed outright or the appropriations for its support discontinued.

"In my opinion, the labor relations board and the sitdown strikes have done more to hurt the administration and to disturb the peace of mind of law-abiding citizens of this country and have done more to injure the cause of organized labor than everything else combined."

Rayburn Sidetracks Inquiry.

Shortly after the house was called to order Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] offered a resolution for an investigation "to determine to what extent, if any, the national labor relations board has overstepped its legal authority and, or, has violated the constitution of the United States by its attempt to hale before it Harley W. Barclay, author of an article critical of the board, published by the trade magazine Mill and Factory."

The New Jersey congressman sought privileged consideration of the resolution immediately, but the Democratic leader, Sam Rayburn of Texas, made the point that it was out of order and Speaker Bankhead sustained him.

Off the floor afterward, Representative Thomas said: "We have come to a pretty pass in this country when federal boards attempt to muzzle the press. I introduced my resolution to

MAYOR'S ROUT OF C. I. O. BRINGS HIS RE-ELECTION

Monroe, Mich., Votes Appreciation 5 to 1.

Monroe Mich., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—This city's home loving mayor, Daniel A. Knaggs by name, stood reelected tonight by an overwhelming majority. It was Mayor Knaggs, backed by a home grown army carrying rabbit guns and target pieces, who routed the C. I. O.s mobile storm troopers and saved Monroe for Monroe's citizens during the steel strike last June.

Mayor D. A. Knaggs. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

It was Mayor Knagg who told Monroe's workers at the start of the strike that it was their right to picket peacefully. But when outsiders came in to terrorize the citizens and block settlement of the strike it was Mayor Knaggs who mobilized professional men and farmers and drove the storm troopers out of town.

Charge C. I. O. Backed Opponent.

Tonight, six months after the mayor's stirring defense of his town, he sat in his modest home and looked over the final returns of yesterday's election. They showed that Knaggs polled 3,479 votes out of 4,599, defeating by 5 to 1 his nearest opponent, George M. Hefner, whose campaign, it was charged, was financed by the C I O. Hefner received 719 votes and Orion P. Barron 401.

"Monroe is happy and peaceful," said the grocer, laying aside the tally sheets. "It always has been peaceful, except for about fifteen minutes last June 10. Our workers are happy; they know they can always negotiate for more money; they can strike and they can picket, if they do it peaceably."

Refers to Bittner Warning.

Mayor Knaggs referred to an ultimatum delivered as strike tension reached its peak last summer. Van A. Bittner, regional director of the C. I. O., speaking at a mass meeting three miles out of town, warned Monroe that unless the strikers' demands were met the C. I. O. would move in.

"They'll pay for what they are doing at Monroe," Bittner shouted. "I say to the citizens of Monroe that if you and your Knaggs want to run your government as you are running it we will block you off from the rest of the United States. We'll bring our union in there and make decent citizens of you hoodlums!"

The strike that had caused the trouble was a walkout of several hundred employés of the Newton Steel company, a subsidiary of the Republic Steel company. A picket line in which women and children marched with the men was organized. After many days a majority of the Monroe steel workers voted to return to work.

Strangers Appear in Picket Line.

Overnight, strangers appeared in the picket line. Tactics of the marchers changed. Barricades were thrown across the street that led to the mill. Citizens not connected with the strike were stoned and terrorized when they tried to pass.

Mayor Knaggs, who repeatedly had asked Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan to send troops, made a new appeal, which was ignored. As a last resort he deputized 650 men as special police. They marched to the mill.

Jeers and threats from the pickets met the mayor's order to disperse. The special police moved in. Armed chiefly with clubs they engaged the pickets, driving them down the street and away from the mill. The C. I. O. storm troopers kept going until they had crossed the city limits.

Troops Out, But Are Recalled.

A new plea to Gov. Murphy by Mayor Knaggs brought announcement that troops would be sent to the massmeeting. [They were, but were called back before the meeting began.] Homer Martin, president of the U. A. W., halted a march to Monroe, but Mayor Knaggs, fearing Martin could not hold his men and distrustful of the governor, put his special police on a permanent basis.

The C. I. O.'s grip on the town was broken; Bittner's storm troopers never did take it. The strikers went back to work.

TOMATO LEAVES AND TEA DO THEIR BIT IN CIGARETS FOR SPAIN

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The smoker in Spain, deprived by the war of his favorite tobacco, has taken to a strange assortment of substitutes. The "tobacco" that goes into some cigarets—they can be smelled yards away—includes cacao bean fibers, anise plant, tomato plant leaves, tree leaves, tea, and miscellaneous herbs. Occasionally good cigarets are stocked by government-controled shops. But at 20 to a customer they are soon sold out.

PLANE DIVES INTO HOME; KILLS BOY IN BED AND PILOT

Austin, Tex., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Two year old Leonard Albright and Capt. F. A. Avelino of the Mexican army were killed tonight when a Kelly field attack plane piloted by Avelino hurtled out of the mist into the residence of Spencer D. Albright Jr., instructor in the University of Texas. A 3 year old son, Spencer III., was bruised. His mother suffered shock.

The ship, reported missing on a flight from Dallas to San Antonio, went into a vertical left bank at an altitude of 100 feet. It struck the rear of the O. J. Herring home, ripped off part of a room, and then plunged into bedrooms of the Albright home next door.

An identification card listed Pilot Avelino as a captain in the Mexican army air corps. He was a student at Kelly field, San Antonio, and was among a group of students who were returning from a flight to Dallas.

Plan to Empty British Cities in Case of War

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The task of removing seven to eight million people from crowded areas endangered by air raids in case of war stirred heated discussion today. The house of commons debated the final stages of a bill requiring local authorities to aid in air raid precautions and then passed it through the third and final reading.

Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, introduced a clause into the bill stating:

"It shall be the duty of all local authorities charged with functions under this act to furnish the home office such information as may be demanded for the purpose of assisting in the preparation by the government of plans for any necessary transference of the civil population in the event of a hostile attack from the air."

Build Up Special Staf.

Secretary Hoare announced that widespread expansion and reorganization of the British government's air raid precautions department, which is responsible for safety measures against hostile raiders, has been made.

The department, he said, will be established on distinctive lines as a civil department with a fighting service basis. Staf duties will be separated from administration. The changes were designed, Hoare said, to bring anti-air raid measures under strongly organized central control.

Opponents of the bill asserted it was impossible to remove three to four million people from London, for example, without danger of panic. It is easier to do it before they are stretcher cases than afterward, was the retort.

Afraid of Raids and Taxes.

The British are afraid of air raids, but still not as afraid of those as they are of tax increases the debate showed.

Indignant outcries from local authorities have made the government raise gradually the amount it agreed to pay toward the expense of taking precautions from an original offer of 50 per cent to the 90 per cent which the present bill provides shall be paid by the national government.

It still was objected today that the burden of caring for those evacuated from the danger areas would fall upon the areas to which they were moved and that it would be "unfair," therefore, to move them.

One preliminary measure being considered was the establishment of huge camps in the country to which children at least could be moved.

A POCKET EXPLORER TRADES COATS WITH COLONEL ROOSEVELT

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—District Attorney Martin W. Littleton today revealed that he got Col. Theodore Roosevelt's overcoat by mistake on leaving a Republican victory dinner Saturday. He then reprimanded the colonel by letter for the things he carried in his pockets.

"I found two dead grasshoppers, one live cricket, a mousetrap, one plug of tobacco, and some chicken feathers [Plymouth Rock]," the letter said. "Really, you should wear gloves and a muffler. If you do not think of yourself you should at least have some regard for the innocent victim who might have to wear the coat."

The letter added that the coat had a torn lining and two moth holes and was plainly the property of some great soldier of many battles against the present administration. Mr. Littleton sent the coat back and asked the return of his own, which, he said, contained a notice of interest due on a mortgage, a writ of habeas corpus, eight buttonholes and one button, and hoofprints on the back.

DIES AND LEAVES HEIRS BARRELS FULL OF PENNIES

HALIBURTON, Ont., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Barrels of wealth—in pennies—were left today to the heirs of Fred Erick Freeman, keeper of the village general store and long one of the most colorful figures in these parts. He died yesterday at the age of 90.

Besides accumulating hundreds of dollars' worth of coppers, Freeman for years kept a coffin in his attic and a tombstone in the cemetery against the day he would need them. Once, in reply to an inquiry as to his longevity, Freeman replied:

"I have chewed tobacco, I have smoked a big black cigar almost every day of my life, I have drunk the best whisky, and I have had a clear conscience. I never did a man wrong."

Ill Luck Hits Reindeer, but Santa Gets There

Bluffton, Ind., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Santa Claus came to Bluffton today on the heels of a snowstorm, but owing to difficulty with his tour reindeer more than 1,000 school children had a long chilly wait. One of the deer broke a leg while trying to free itself from a tie rope. Then a second animal jumped out of its harness, dragging a helper with it. Undaunted Santa decided to go ahead with only two reindeer. He arrived late but amid wild cheering.

A quiet spoken newcomer to the police force who had never before used his gun in line of duty and a world war veteran who has hardly fired a pistol since his days as a sharpshooter with the 10th United States infantry shot down two robbers within thirty minutes last night in widely separated parts of the city.

The war veteran, Leslie Martin, is the bartender in a combination tavern and grocery in a basement at 302 East 53d street. When a colored bandit entered the place and took $4 from the butcher, Benjamin Wilson, a clerk ran to the tavern where Martin was tending bar.

Sharpshooter Uses 2 Bullets.

The ex-army marksman seized his pistol and, following the clerk, reached the grocery just as the robber started up the basement steps. Mounting a shelf, Martin sighted over the crowd of shoppers and fired. The gunman whirled about and fired three quick shots.

Being under fire was nothing new to the war veteran. He sighted again, more carefully this time, and squeezed the trigger. The robber rolled to the bottom of the steps, dead. Martin, who is 41 years old and lives at 517 West 64th street, told police the crowd of customers made him nervous on his first shot.

Policeman Shoots True.

At the time of the other robbery Policeman Edward Dawson was directing trafic at Randolph street and Wabash avenue. Two men broke through the lines of cars and told him a holdup was in progress at the Marco liquor store, 157 North Wabash avenue. Dawson left his post and on approaching the store encountered a muffled figure who was just leaving it.

The policeman seized the man and shoved him back into the establishment. "Is this the one?" he asked two clerks who were still standing with their hands upraised.

"Yes, but be careful; he's got a gun," warned Maurice Gale, the clerk nearest the door. Dawson dipped into the bandit's overcoat pocket and drew out an automatic pistol. As he did so, the gunman jerked away, dropped to a crouch and plunged a hand into another pocket.

Identified as Parolee.

"Hold this!" snapped the policeman, tossing the gun to Gale. At the same time he drew his service revolver and shot the gunman through the body. On the way to St. Luke's hospital the robber identified himself as Joseph Giaccalini, 20 years old. He was paroled from Pontiac where he was serving one to 20 years for robbery, on May 26, 1935.

The parolee has been in the south, he said. The stub of a bus ticket showed he arrived in Chicago yesterday from Dalton City, Ill. In his pockets, in addition to the Marco loot of $173, were found more than $20 in silver together with several pieces of jewelry. Giaccalini refused to say where it came from.

"You didn't give me a square deal," he told the policeman. "My gun was empty." At the hospital the parolee's pistol was opened. It was fully loaded with .38 caliber cartridges.

QUICK TAX CUT PROMISED BY HOUSE LEADER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee, the group from which all federal tax levies spring, pledged himself today to bring about drastic modification of the undistributed profits tax for the relief of stricken business. The changes would become effective Jan. 1, 1938, Doughton promised.

Admitting for the first time the errors in the administration's tax program and the damage wrought on business, the ways and means chairman put his views into a carefully worded speech for the National Association of Tax Administrators' meeting at Atlantic City. The speech was sent to the gathering while Doughton stayed in Washington, pleading that duties kept him here.

Blames Senate For Faults.

The Doughton statement brought to light the footrace between the house and the senate to escape the blame for enacting the undistributed profits levy into law and to receive the credit for scrapping it.

Doughton charged that the faults in the tax law were the result of stubbornness on the part of the senate. This was an answer to a recent statement of Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee, who pointed out that the senate had not acted for tax relief because it was waiting for the house, which, under the constitution, initiates revenue measures.

"The committee on ways and means wrote into the bill [undistributed profits tax] several cushions and relief provisions which were designed to ease the burden of this tax upon debt ridden corporations and upon small concerns that had need of repairing their capital structures," said Doughton.

Acceptance Forced, Says Doughton.

"The senate did not agree to these relief provisions and, while its amendment to this provision of the house bill was vigorously contested by the house conferees, the dire necessity for prompt passage of the bill and the revenue needs which confronted us forced our acceptance of the senate's position, to which it grimly held."

The grimly held senate position to which Doughton referred was in the conference between the senate and the house, at which conferees ironed out differences for final enactment of the bill.

At that time, Doughton declared, many legislators were apprehensive that the law would prove too harsh.

Seek to Remedy Defects.

"It is now apparent that our fears were justified," he said, "and in line with this conclusion every effort is being made to work out a modification that will remedy the defects of the existing law but will, at the same time, retain the principle of equality in taxation and protect the revenue needs of the government."

Doughton declared that the ways and means subcommittee on tax revision, under the chairmanship of Representative Fred M. Vinson [D., Ky.], was making progress not only on the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes but also was making a study of the entire tax structure.

VOTE U. S. COTTON RULE

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Having stricken out the wheat production control section of the administration's farm dictatorship bill, the house of representatives determined by a teller vote of 80 to 59 today that compulsion is all right for cotton.

The house rejected an amendment by Representative Richard M. Kleberg [D., Tex.] to strike out the provision for compulsory cotton acreage and marketing quotas when approved by two-thirds of the voting farmers. Administration leaders were encouraged by this vote, interpreting it as an indication the house is not opposed to the principle of compulsion as such and that yesterday's action removing wheat from the quota provisions will be reversed later on a roll call vote.

Test on Corn Impends.

Another crucial test of house sentiment regarding compulsory crop reduction will come tomorrow with a vote on the amendment of Representative Harry B. Coffee [D., Neb.] to remove corn from the quota provisions. Representative Coffee was the author of the amendment adopted yesterday which removed wheat from the compulsory quota provisions.

The inconsistency of the house in approving the principle of compulsion for cotton, after rejecting it for wheat, was duplicated in another vote on cotton. While approving the cotton production control program, the house rejected, 60 to 29, an amendment by Representative Sam Hobbs [D., Ala.] to make it applicable to next year's crop.

Temporary Proviso Defeated.

The rejection of this amendment was in reality a defeat for Senator John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.], author of the compulsory cotton control section of the pending senate bill, which does apply to next year's crop, and of the unconstitutional Bankhead cotton control scheme.

In the senate today an effort by Republican Leader Charles L. McNary of Oregon to limit the farm dictatorship program to three years was defeated on a roll call vote of 51 to 25. This vote, however, was not a conclusive indication of senate sentiment, since many Democrats who voted against the McNary amendment have said they would vote to send the pending bill back to the agriculture committee. They say they believe in permanent, as opposed to temporary, legislation, but do not favor the scarcity economics of the pending measure.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] assailed the drastic committee amendment providing for the imposition of compulsory marketing quotas on wheat and corn whenever, as of the beginning of the marketing year, the total supply on hands exceeds the normal supply by more than 10 per cent.

Quotes Production Chief.

"Today we voted down an amendment the purpose of which was to make this a temporary bill," Senator O'Mahoney said. "We declared that we are dealing with permanent legislation. I have here a speech which was made in 1934 by F. F. Elliott, chief of the production and control section of the AAA, in which he said that if all the people in the United States were enjoying a liberal diet, it would mean a step up of 25 to 30 per cent in our feed grain acreage over the present acreage requirements.

"Let me say that I have the feeling that we are not going to obtain any permanent solution of the economic troubles that beset us until we find a way of stimulating the purchasing power not alone of the farmer, but of all the population, particularly the industrial population; that in passing legislation, it seems to me, that we should be very careful to set our limit at a point which will not tend to impose what is commonly called the economy of scarcity upon the people of America."

COURT UPHOLDS WIFE'S PICKING AT MATE'S PACKING

Mrs. Anna M. Brewster took the law in one hand and an ice pick in the other Monday and yesterday Superior Judge John J. Lupe said her unorthodox methods were okay under the circumstances.

Mrs. Brewster, who is 32 and lives at 7120 Woodlawn avenue, is suing her husband, George, for divorce. George said he was going so far away it would take a year and a half to reach him by radio, and that he was going to take Grace, their 5 year old daughter, along.

Mrs. Brewster got a writ of ne exeat. When she went home she found George packing. She waited as long as she dared for the deputies to show up with the writ, then she punctured the tires of George's car with an ice pick. Yesterday George was put under $500 bond, told to pay the wife $25 a week, and his auto was impounded.

Widow Trying to Build a House Single Handed

Conneaut, O., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. Jennie Lyubi, widowed mother of six children, started work on a six room house last summer, hoping to have it finished by Christmas and doing all the construction work herself. Cold weather and snow seem to have combined against Mrs. Lyubi, and unless neighbors come to her rescue her hopes of moving into the family home for the holidays will be doomed. But Mrs. Lyubi is still hammering away, for she wants a "big back yard" for her children.

Locomotive Driver Tire Rolls Off and Rams House

Greene, Ia., Dec. 7.—(AP)—As a Rock Island passenger train entered Greene today the steel tire of one of the drive wheels of the locomotive came off, rolled 60 feet, and crashed into a house, knocking over a cookstove in the kitchen. The house was damaged considerably.

DODD QUITS POST; PREDICT SHAKEUP FOR U. S. ENVOYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—A shakeup of this country's major diplomatic posts was foreseen here tonight as the result of an announcement in Berlin that Ambassador William E. Dodd has resigned.

Within a few months it is considered certain that there will be changes at London, Paris, Rome, and possibly Moscow. Dissatisfaction with the conduct of American diplomacy has been mounting in the state department and in the White House.

A few months ago the state department staf was overhauled, but it is said that President Roosevelt is not yet satisfied with the home staf and may summon William Bullitt back from Paris to take a high post in the state department.

State Department Silent.

At the state department a strict silence was maintained on the reports of Dodd's resignation, even though it was conceded that the reports most likely originated from Dodd himself. The same silence met questions on other impending changes.

The Dodd resignation—to become effective Jan. 1—was reported to have been submitted last summer when the ambassador was home on vacation.

Mr. Dodd, a professor of history at the University of Chicago, was one of the few men in American diplomatic life selected supposedly for merit rather than because of gifts or services to the party.

He had studied in Germany and was known as a German sympathizer. It was felt the appointment of a friend of Germany would help promote ideal relations with the German government.

Out of Step With Hitler.

Dodd early proved himself out of step with the Hitler régime and, departing from diplomatic caution, made little effort to conceal his lack of sympathy. His antipathy drew him a rebuke from Secretary of State Cordell Hull last September, when Dodd vigorously objected to the presence of an American representative at the Nazi party conference in Nuremburg. Hull sent Prentiss Gilbert, American charge d' affaires, to the conference.

Last spring Dodd found himself involved in the Supreme court fight when he asserted that an American billionaire was seeking to promote an American dictatorship and urged support of President Roosevelt's plan to pack the court in order to avert the supposed dictatorship. He failed to name the billionaire when called upon to do so by senators, and was held up to ridicule by court plan foes.

Report Wilson as Successor.

According to Berlin reports, Dodd said he is not resigning because of any difficulties with the state department or the German government but because he wants to complete a history of the south and is needed in his history chair at the university.

Reports are that Mr. Dodd's post will be filled by Hugh Wilson, career man in the diplomatic service, who recently was recalled from the ministy at Geneva to become an assistant secretary of state. Wilson formerly lived in Evanston.

Another expected resignation is that of Robert Worth Bingham, who holds the nation's No. 1 diplomatic post at the court of St. James. The state department was highly displeased over Bingham's reports that Edward VIII. would not abdicate, and recently he has drawn censure at home and in England for his overtures toward negotiation of a trade treaty with Great Britain.

Bingham, who left for England after a vacation at home several months ago, said, in answer to rumors, that he was being forced out, but that President Roosevelt had begged him to stay on until spring. He has since returned, pleading illness.

Joseph Davies, ambassador to Russia, arrived home shortly after Bingham to begin a campaign for his post. Davies and his wife, Barbara Hutton Davies, are weary of the lack of social life in Russia and would delight in the round of festivities in London's smart set. Davies, it is said, would take Berlin, Paris, or Rome if they should come his way.

It is considered probable that Ambassador Bullitt might take either the London or the Berlin posts for a few months, so he might come back a more experienced adviser in the state department. He already has served in Moscow.

If he is moved, Bullitt probably will be succeeded by William Phillips, ambassador to Italy and former undersecretary of state.

PRECIOUS MARY PUTS HER FOOT IN ESTATE BATTLE

Claims Web Toes Prove Her Parentage.

This interesting speculation arose yesterday as a major issue in the suit of Precious Mary Geraghty of Indianapolis, Ind., to prove she is Geraghty's daughter and thus inherit two-thirds of his $50,000 estate. Precious Mary, who is 18 years old, has two webbed toes on her left foot.

Miss Geraghty, a petite brunette, told Judge Denis J. Normoyle, who is hearing her appeal from a Probate court ruling denying her claim, all about her toes. It was not necessary for the young woman to display them as exhibits A and B, since their existence was accepted by Geraghty's widow, Mrs. Marie Geraghty, 5726 North Mozart street, who contends her husband had no children. She is contesting the suit.

Judge Has His Choice.

"He had nothing of the sort," was the tart rejoinder of the last Mrs. Geraghty when called as a rebuttal witness. "I was married to him for four years until his death on March 6, 1936. I ought to know."

So there the webbed-toe controversy rested as Judge Normoyle adjourned the hearing until the recovery of a witness for Precious Mary, Mrs. Annie O'Shea, a social service worker, who was taken ill. It may even be necessary, court attaches believe, to exhume the body of Mr. Geraghty for an examination of his feet.

Witnesses for Precious Mary have given depositions that she was born on Feb. 2, 1919, to Geraghty and a Miss Irene Kremer. Mrs. Susan Geraghty testified that as a five day old baby Precious Mary was taken into their home.

The first Mrs. Geraghty was divorced in 1921. Soon after this, she said, Geraghty, who had inherited the button business from his father, married Miss Kremer. Upon her death in 1933 he married the third Mrs. Geraghty.

Mrs. Marie Geraghty had testified that there are no baptismal or adoption records to show that Precious Mary was the daughter of her late husband.

HUNT $200,000 NOTE WRITER IN 'KIDNAPING' OF NEW YORK MAN

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Investigation of the disappearance Saturday of Arthur Fried, White Plains construction company executive, centered in New York today as federal agents tried to track down the source of a $200,000 ransom note.

The ransom note, according to one of the federal investigators was received Sunday by Hugo Fried, brother of the missing man, in a Bronx bar and grill. The investigator made the statement in the face of denial by police, relatives and other officials that the case was a kidnaping.

The case took on additional complexity in view of the fact that Hugo Fried and another brother, Richard, are former convicts, according to records of the state parole board. Hugo and Richard, joint owners of a garage in the Bronx, were convicted on July 5, 1929, of receiving stolen goods. Both were sent to Sing Sing for from two to four years.

WHAT! A BOOKIE IN OUR MIDST? SEEMS IT'S SO

That's What Some People Say at Gambling Trial.

The suspicion that Chicago once had a handbook in which bets were taken on horse races was strengthened yesterday by the testimony of several witnesses in the court of Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court, where Rocco Colucio is on trial as the keeper of a gambling house.

This testimony showed that on Sept. 16 a squad of policemen raided a resort at 139 North Wabash avenue. It was a large establishment, 50 by 150 feet, and elaborately furnished. There were sheets on the wall bearing strange names believed to have been those of horses. There were windows with such legends as "Betting," "Daily Doubles," and "Parlays."

Directed Verdict Refused.

Sergt. Bert Gray of the state's attorney's office testified that he made a bet of $1 and lost it on a horse called Me-O-My. Further, it was shown that Colucio was busy that day as a cashier.

All of this, however, failed to impress Attorneys Abraham Marovitz and Harold Levy, who represent Colucio. When the state announced, late in the afternoon, that it was through offering witnesses, they requested a directed verdict of not guilty. This was refused by Judge Sonsteby.

It was indicated that the defense, when the trial is resumed today, will not put any witnesses on the stand, but will attempt to show by argument that the 50 year old statute prohibiting gambling houses in Illinois is a dead letter.

The case is regarded as a test of the powers of the city and county authorities to enforce the statute. Extraordinary precautions in preparing for the raid and the trial were taken by the prosecutors, Assistant State's Attorneys Gordon A. Nash and Alexander Napoli.

Question Validity of Warant.

The defense attorneys questioned the validity of the search warant under which the raid was made. Their objection was overruled. Then, when they tried to get before the jury statements that telegraph companies transmit bets to race tracks and return winnings to the fortunate betters, they were again overruled.

Sergt. Gray and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, head of the state's attorney's police, testified that when they entered the resort more than 350 patrons were present.

A statement taken from Colucio and read into the record declared he worked as cashier for $8 a day and that the place was operated by John P. Shaw.

Eighteen other employés arrested with Colucio are awaiting separate trials. Conviction under the statute carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a fine of $200.

CRADLE TO BUILD GERMPROOF BABY HOME NEXT YEAR

Start $125,000 Evanston Nursery in April.

A new $125,000 nursery for The Cradle in Evanston, on which work is expected to start April 1, was approved yesterday by the board of directors of The Cradle society, meeting at the Palmer house.

Preliminary plans call for the erection of a modern, fireproof, three story building of white limestone, roofed with slate, at the corner of Simpson street and Ridge avenue in Evanston, the site now occupied by The Cradle's layette shop. The society has $75,000 to apply on the project and expects to obtain the other $50,000 by Jan. 15.

The new plant, fronting on Simpson street and connected by corridors with The Cradle's two present buildings on Ridge avenue, will incorporate the famous aseptic nursery technique introduced at The Cradle in 1928, but will add newer and more modern safeguards for the health of infants.

Devised by Dr. Dick.

This technique, credited with the elimination of hand borne germs, was devised by Dr. Gladys Dick, who with her husband, Dr. George F. Dick, was the co-discoverer of scarlet fever immunization. It now is in use in numerous infant hospitals in the United States.

Such a system, the society announced, has demonstrated its worth in that the only babies dying at the Cradle since 1928 are those who entered in a condition which caused death.

The new nursery, however, will also protect the babies from airborne germs [such as in pneumonia or other respiratory diseases]. To bring this about, a separate glass-enclosed room will be provided for each baby, with a lavatory and outside window in each cubicle. In addition, the building will be air conditioned by a new method in which the air is sterilized with ultra-violet rays.

The Second Floor.

The second floor, which will be finished and put into operation before the third floor is completed, will provide for three units of twelve cubicles each. Each unit, with its separate nurses and attendants, will have a wing to itself. The third floor has space for two additional units.

Lucius A. Crowell, chairman of the Cradle's building committee, said last night that Cradle physicians believe these new features, in combination with the Dick technique, will provide one of the most ideal and scientific nurseries in existence.

"We have done our best to protect the babies against air borne germs," Mr. Crowell said, "but we have been increasingly aware of the inadequacy of our facilities, and realize that, in case of a severe epidemic of respiratory diseases, tragedy might result."

Established in March, 1923.

The Cradle, established in March, 1923, to receive and prepare for adoption homeless babies, has cared for a total of 3,363, with only 76 deaths. Fifty-six of these deaths were before introduction of the Dick technique.

During 1927 an epidemic of infant mortality due to enteritis [infantile diarrhea] occurred throughout the country. Of 86 babies stricken at the Cradle, 27 died. Dr. Dick found the Cradle epidemic spread by nonsterile food and flaws in nursery technique. Since then a surgical asepsis has been maintained.

Aldermen Set Aside $18,000 to Fight Infant Maladies

The city council finance committee yesterday included an appropriation of $18,000 in the 1938 city budget for additional employés assigned to infant health activities. The action was taken as a result of the deaths of eleven babies in St. Elizabeth's hospital of a mysterious intestinal malady, and was recommended by Mayor Kelly and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health.

"When human lives, particularly the lives of little children, are at stake, it is the duty of the chief executive of the city and its council to make available every protection available to science, regardless of expense," said Mayor Kelly.

Provides for More Doctors.

The appropriation will provide for additional physicians and nurses in the health department. They will be assigned, Dr. Bundesen said, to cooperate with hospitals and physicians of the city in combatting any outbreaks of infant disease in the future, particularly when they take epidemic form.

A new set of rules and regulations for the baby wards of hospitals is to be drafted by the health department, it was decided yesterday at a conference of fifteen medical and hospital authorities specializing in the care of babies and small children. The conference was held in Dr. Bundesen's office.

Outbreak Under Control.

Before the regulations are placed in effect by the department, they will be referred back to the members of the conference for criticism and possible amendment. The conferees agreed that the present outbreak is under control, no new cases having been reported.

The conferees suggested that, whenever it is possible, mothers feed new born babies from the breast. Breast feeding, pediatricians are convinced, gives the child a certain degree of immunity, derived from the mother, and it has the further advantage of safety from accidental infections which may arise from careless handling of nursing bottles.

Pathologists and bacteriologists, meanwhile, are trying to identify the malady which caused the deaths. All that is known at present is that it is a diarrhea of exceptional virulence, which apparently attacks only babies under the age of 3 weeks.

Watchful Waiting Attitude.

"In the cases of the babies who are still ill, our attitude is one of watchful waiting," Dr. Bundesen reported. "Several of them are still desperately ill."

Mother Adolphine, superior of the Catholic order which operates St. Elizabeth's hospital, reported last evening that all eight of the babies still afflicted showed improvement during the day.

BOOKS

Almost everybody knows we sell books, and greeting cards decidedly keep them company. Calling on friends on Christmas Day you will probably find Holiday Cards galore on mantel and table. Yet so many of them look like the same old stuff! Only a few are vital, alive, distinctive and in perfect taste, and those are the ones that will attract your attention. Well, now we hate to brag (or do we) but Miss Pryor in the Card and Announcement Section has marshalled her assistants in an anti-mediocrity campaign for several years. Each fall they buy an exceedingly wide variety of cards—all kinds: Arty, home-spun simplicity, laughable, deeply sincere, reverent, and just plain old-fashioned hearty greetings. But, oh, how carefully they select those cards. Honest, now, we KNOW if you'll scan this sparkling aggregation you'll find—in all price ranges—just the cards you want, and NONE will be stuffy.

COLD WAVE GRIPS U. S.; ZERO DUE IN CHICAGO TONIGHT

Sunny South Suffers; Its Crops Imperiled.

Blasts of cold air from the frozen plains of Canada are expected to arrive in Chicago today and drive temperatures in the metropolitan area to the zero mark tonight. Snow flurries also are forecast, but it was indicated the fall would be light.

Forecaster C. A. Donnell said readings this morning probably would be close to 15 above zero, but that nothing higher than that would be recorded during the day. The recission to extreme cold would begin in the afternoon, he added.

Cold Grips Most of U. S.

Most of the country was already in the grip of abnormally low temperatures yesterday. Chicago's mean of 17 degrees was fourteen below normal. Zero weather prevailed in the Rockies and the new cold wave had already thrust itself into the northern great plains states.

Suffering was greatest, however, in the usually sunny south. In Miami, Fla., where the mercury fell to 40, schools were closed and vacationists from the north who had failed to take overcoats with them shivered.

As the frost line crept down to the Everglades region, fears were expressed that the Florida fruit and vegetable crops would be heavily damaged.

Atlanta Colder Than Chicago.

At Jacksonville, Fla., and Mobile, Ala., the lowest temperature was only 22 above zero. Atlanta, Ga., and Nashville, Tenn., were colder than Chicago. Their minimum reading was 10 and Chicago's 12. Savannah, Ga., had a low of 17. Ninety planes, homeward bound from air races at Miami, were delayed in the south by high winds.

Warnings that much lower temperatures would prevail in Oklahoma, Texas, and Arkansas today were issued.

WARNS SHOPPERS TO GUARD PURSES FROM SNATCHERS

It may be Christmas time for most folks, but its harvest time for moll buzzers and purse snatchers, Sergt. John Griffith of the confidence detail warned yesterday. The sergeant listed the following dont's for women shoppers who get busy at their buying and forget about the pocketbooks containing the wherewithall:

1. Don't carry your purse by the strap. It's an invitation to the moll buzzer to open it and remove the change purse.

2. Don't carry your purse under your arm. The alleys are full of snatchers waiting for such opportunities.

3. Don't lay your purse on the counter while you're buying a tidy for Aunt Bessie. Lying there, it's known to the trade as a sleeper, and a cinch.

The way to carry your purse, says the sergeant, is the way a full back carries the ball. If you don't know how that is, look at last month's sport pages.

Guard Your Purse

(Story in adjoining column.)

Myra Weldon demonstrates the RIGHT method of carrying a purse in order to foil purse snatchers in holiday crowds. Hug the purse close to the arm, with the fingers tightly clasped around the end of the purse.

The WRONG way to carry a purse. A thief need only snatch it from behind when it is loosely held.

Two things are WRONG here. The purse snatcher often jerks the purse and breaks the strap. A pickpocket can jostle the victim, open the purse and take the contents

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Chicago Unions to Co-operate with Vocational School Plan

Chicago labor leaders yesterday pledged their coöperation with Superintendent William H. Johnson and the board of education in Johnson's plan to add vocational training courses to the city's school system.

The attitude of the union men following a conference called by Mayor Edward J. Kelly with James B. McCahey, president of the school board, and Supt. Johnson was almost a complete reversal of that held previously. As late as Nov. 23 the Chicago Federation of Labor had entered a protest against the proposed "Johnson plan."

Fitzpatrick Heads Group.

Mr. Johnson denied that he planned to completely revamp the school system to replace 80 per cent of the academic training with vocational courses. The labor men had professed to see in such a plan a threat to the union apprentice system and to fear the replacement of teachers by temporary vocational employés.

Plans Explained to Delegation.

The conference was called primarily with the idea of explaining Johnson's plans to the labor delegation. Supt. Johnson said that the vocational courses will not replace any academic work. They will merely be added as pupils and parents request them. He said they would not overload the market with cheap workers or school trained apprentices.

The labor delegation agreed to name a committee to meet with the school board on any controversial matter which may arise under the program.

"We assured them the new system will not break down union morale or the apprentice system," said Mayor Kelly. "There will be no turning out of teachers and no temporary instructors."

Policeman Slain, Off Duty; Believe He Surprised Thief

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Patrolman Edward Lynch, 45 years old, was shot to death tonight near his home in the Bronx. Thirty detectives began an investigation based on the theory that the policeman, off duty, surprised a burglary suspect.

Sunny South Suffers; Its Crops Imperiled.

Blasts of cold air from the frozen plains of Canada are expected to arrive in Chicago today and drive temperatures in the metropolitan area to the zero mark tonight. Snow flurries also are forecast, but it was indicated the fall would be light.

Forecaster C. A. Donnell said readings this morning probably would be close to 15 above zero, but that nothing higher than that would be recorded during the day. The recission to extreme cold would begin in the afternoon, he added.

Cold Grips Most of U. S.

Most of the country was already in the grip of abnormally low temperatures yesterday. Chicago's mean of 17 degrees was fourteen below normal. Zero weather prevailed in the Rockies and the new cold wave had already thrust itself into the northern great plains states.

Suffering was greatest, however, in the usually sunny south. In Miami, Fla., where the mercury fell to 40, schools were closed and vacationists from the north who had failed to take overcoats with them shivered.

As the frost line crept down to the Everglades region, fears were expressed that the Florida fruit and vegetable crops would be heavily damaged.

Atlanta Colder Than Chicago.

At Jacksonville, Fla., and Mobile, Ala., the lowest temperature was only 22 above zero. Atlanta, Ga., and Nashville, Tenn., were colder than Chicago. Their minimum reading was 10 and Chicago's 12. Savannah, Ga., had a low of 17. Ninety planes, homeward bound from air races at Miami, were delayed in the south by high winds.

Warnings that much lower temperatures would prevail in Oklahoma, Texas, and Arkansas today were issued.

WARNS SHOPPERS TO GUARD PURSES FROM SNATCHERS

It may be Christmas time for most folks, but its harvest time for moll buzzers and purse snatchers, Sergt. John Griffith of the confidence detail warned yesterday. The sergeant listed the following dont's for women shoppers who get busy at their buying and forget about the pocketbooks containing the wherewithall:

1. Don't carry your purse by the strap. It's an invitation to the moll buzzer to open it and remove the change purse.

2. Don't carry your purse under your arm. The alleys are full of snatchers waiting for such opportunities.

3. Don't lay your purse on the counter while you're buying a tidy for Aunt Bessie. Lying there, it's known to the trade as a sleeper, and a cinch.

The way to carry your purse, says the sergeant, is the way a full back carries the ball. If you don't know how that is, look at last month's sport pages.

Guard Your Purse

(Story in adjoining column.)

Myra Weldon demonstrates the RIGHT method of carrying a purse in order to foil purse snatchers in holiday crowds. Hug the purse close to the arm, with the fingers tightly clasped around the end of the purse.

The WRONG way to carry a purse. A thief need only snatch it from behind when it is loosely held.

Two things are WRONG here. The purse snatcher often jerks the purse and breaks the strap. A pickpocket can jostle the victim, open the purse and take the contents

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Chicago Unions to Co-operate with Vocational School Plan

Chicago labor leaders yesterday pledged their coöperation with Superintendent William H. Johnson and the board of education in Johnson's plan to add vocational training courses to the city's school system.

The attitude of the union men following a conference called by Mayor Edward J. Kelly with James B. McCahey, president of the school board, and Supt. Johnson was almost a complete reversal of that held previously. As late as Nov. 23 the Chicago Federation of Labor had entered a protest against the proposed "Johnson plan."

Fitzpatrick Heads Group.

Mr. Johnson denied that he planned to completely revamp the school system to replace 80 per cent of the academic training with vocational courses. The labor men had professed to see in such a plan a threat to the union apprentice system and to fear the replacement of teachers by temporary vocational employés.

Plans Explained to Delegation.

The conference was called primarily with the idea of explaining Johnson's plans to the labor delegation. Supt. Johnson said that the vocational courses will not replace any academic work. They will merely be added as pupils and parents request them. He said they would not overload the market with cheap workers or school trained apprentices.

The labor delegation agreed to name a committee to meet with the school board on any controversial matter which may arise under the program.

"We assured them the new system will not break down union morale or the apprentice system," said Mayor Kelly. "There will be no turning out of teachers and no temporary instructors."

Policeman Slain, Off Duty; Believe He Surprised Thief

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Patrolman Edward Lynch, 45 years old, was shot to death tonight near his home in the Bronx. Thirty detectives began an investigation based on the theory that the policeman, off duty, surprised a burglary suspect.

WOMAN ELECTED COUNTY JUDGE; FIRST IN STATE

Jessie Sumner Defeats Democrat, 2 to 1.

Watseka, Ill., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Miss Jessie Sumner of Milford, first American woman to study law at Oxford university in England, gained another distinction today when she was elected county judge. Miss Sumner says she is not only the first woman to hold this office in Illinois, but according to American Bar association records is the first woman to hold it in the United States.

Miss Sumner, 39 years old, auburn haired and 5 feet 3 inches tall, was Republican candidate in an Iroquois county special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her uncle, County Judge John H. Gillan. Although Attorney Clifford E. Beach of Gilman, her Democratic opponent, campaigned on the derisive cry "You don't want a woman for your county judge!" she defeated him nearly two to one. Complete unofficial returns gave her 4,781 votes to his 2,542.

Wins Against Payrollers.

"And good heavens," Miss Sumner exclaimed last night, "but I had trouble! The Democrats sent payrollers from all over the state down here, and they all worked to create prejudice against women!"

The new judge [who says she will "never, never" don judicial robes] has a varied legal background starting with practice 14 years ago in the office of the late Charles E. Erbstein, well known Chicago trial lawyer.

She had studied law at the University of Chicago, Columbia university, and the University of Wisconsin before going to Oxford. She was graduated from Smith college in 1920.

After several years with Attorney Erbstein, she directed the south side legal aid bureau in Chicago, subsequently donating her services to the United Charities of Chicago as trial lawyer. Later she did income tax and trust work at the Chase National bank in New York.

Candidate for State's Attorney.

Then she returned home to Milford to practice. In 1932 she ran for state's attorney of Iroquois county but was defeated.

"Why," she said last night, "My hair is full of gray since this campaign started, and I've gained five pounds which I didn't need. You know how you do when you get nervous—you eat.

"But all I want to do now," she concluded, "is to show the people here that a woman can be a good judge. I have a great deal of respect for my uncle's policies, and I will be guided by his ideals."

Elected to Bench

[Paul Stone Photo.]

Miss Jessie Sumner, age 39, of Milford, a Republican, who was elected the state's first woman county judge in yesterday's election. She defeated Clifford E. Beach of Gilman, Democrat, in Iroquois county.

4 REPUBLICANS ELECTED

Four Republicans [including Miss Jessie Sumner of Iroquois county] and one Democrat won seats on the bench at special elections held in northern Illinois yesterday to fill vacancies caused by the deaths of two Circuit judges and three county judges.

William L. Pierce, former state legislator and four times Republican mayor of Belvidere, defeated Attorney George R. Lyon of Waukegan for a seat in the 17th judicial circuit. Pierce polled 25,136 votes to Lyon's 15,417. The district is comprised of Boone, McHenry, Winnebago, and Lake counties.

Leon A. Zick, Republican of Oregon, was elected judge of the 15th judicial district. He received 15,120 votes while his Democratic opponent, Louis A. Nack of Galena, was given 10,078. The counties in the circuit are Jo Daviess, Stephenson, Carroll, Ogle, and Lee.

Grover W. Gehant, Dixon Republican, had no opponent in the county judgeship election of Lee county.

The one Democrat elected was in Stephenson county, where Edward J. Sullivan defeated Marvin F. Burt, a Republican, by 60 votes for the county judgeship.

BULLET EXPERT PINS KILLING ON CHICAGO GUNMAN

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Prof. J. H. Mathews, ballistics expert of the University of Wisconsin, testified today in the trial of four Chicago gunmen that the bullets which killed City Detective George Raabe came from the guns of Michael Kalamyer, one of the four defendants.

Mathews also identified a bullet taken from Kalamyer's back as having been fired from Raabe's gun. The policeman was shot when he and other officers interrupted the defendants trying to open a safe in the Luick dairy plant. One of the hoodlums, Edward Atkins, was killed. The other defendants are Fred Young, Charles Carney and Patrick Connolly.

One of the bullets taken from the policeman's body was of .38 caliber and the other a .45 caliber. Prof. Mathews said they were fired from the two pistols found in the rear of the dairy plant after the mêlée.

AMBUSH MURDER BY BRADY GANG IS TOLD TO JURY

Pal of Slain Policeman Weeps on Stand.

The volleys of lead that killed Paul Minneman, Indiana state policeman, when he was ambushed by the Al Brady outlaw gang last May 25 at a country crossroads were described to a jury yesterday by Minneman's partner, Deputy Sherif Elmer Craig, who survived the machine gun and rifle attack.

Unable at times to continue because of his unashamed tears, the gaunt, raw boned deputy testified as the government's star witness in the murder trial of James Dalhover, surviving member of the Brady gang. Dalhover was captured in Bangor, Me., on Oct. 12, when federal agents killed Brady and another gangster.

On Trial at Hammond.

Dalhover is being tried before Judge Thomas W. Slick in the federal district court at Hammond under a new statute giving the government jurisdiction in certain types of crime. Dalhover has pleaded guilty, but under the law the death penalty can only be inflicted by a jury.

Craig told of taking up the trail of the gunmen with Minneman when they received an alarm at Logansport, Ind., that the Goodland State bank had just been robbed. They stopped to investigate an abandoned automobile three miles west of Royal Center.

"Paul looked up and saw another car in a cloud of dust approaching from the west," said Craig. "About a block away the car skidded to a stop, turned around, and sped west again. We started after it."

Dust clouds stirred up by the outlaw car made pursuit difficult. Two miles farther on Minneman slowed the car as they approached a small white church at Galey's crossing.

"Fifty feet from the church the shooting started," said Craig. "Paul slumped over the wheel, the door fell open, and he tumbled out. A bullet got me in the ankle as I stopped the car.

"I hobbled out with my shotgun. Two men, one at each corner of the church, were shooting at us with machine guns and high powered rifles. I got to a fence and flopped down. Then I must have fainted."

When he came to, Craig said, he crawled over to Minneman.

"Paul said, 'O, it's you, Elmer,'" Craig continued. "'Get me to a hospital as quick as you can. They got me.' I hobbled to a farmhouse, and the farmer drove us in to a hospital at Logansport."

HAWAII IS TORN OVER ISSUE OF BECOMING STATE

Sugar Industry Favors a Change in Status.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 7.—Next to the Chinese-Japanese war, the livest question in the territory of Hawaii today is that of statehood.

No matter what sources are consulted—from the man in the street to the governor—all are ready to discuss the question at length.

"Big Five" Rules Sugar.

The missionaries came to Hawaii to save the natives in 1820. Since that year, prosperity has steadily been increasing. Last year the islands exported sugar and cane worth $125,000,000 and another $40,000,000 was spent here by the army and navy.

During the ascension of progress, the majority of wealth was accumulated by a few individuals, and they belong today to a group known as the "big five." The term, however, does not mean men, but the five leading sugar refineries.

There are, of course, other large industries and enterprises, such as pineapple production, transportation, utilities, and banks. They all have interlocking directorates and, since there is little movement of investment capital or labor in and out of the islands, this group has, by right of eminent domain, a monopoly on everything but the army and navy.

Business Cites Taxation.

The army and navy, of course, will not comment on political subjects, but informed circles maintain that the defense services can do a better job of protecting the islands and guarding the American west coast as conditions are, than they could if hampered by additional congressional supervision and interference.

The "big five" is on record in favor of Hawaii becoming state number forty-nine. Their principal line of argument, advanced in a 32 page treatise published in October, is the old revolutionary cry of "taxation without representation."

"Up to June 30, 1937," the treatise said, "a total of $155,858,707 had been contributed by Hawaii in federal internal revenue. To collect this sum the government spent $1,284,615."

Honolulu No Longer a Village.

The "big five" advances the argument that Honolulu is not a village of grass huts. In their places have risen business structures that would do credit to any community in the United States. The forests of yesteryear have been replaced by great fields of green sugar cane and tan pineapples. Modern railroads and up to date highways have replaced the forest trails.

On July 28, 1934, President Roosevelt made a flattering speech in Honolulu, but he failed to mention the issue of statehood.

It is the concensus of opinion among representative persons that the islands will be ready for statehood in 10 to 20 years.

PEGGY HOPKINS JOYCE IN CHICAGO FOR BRIEF VISIT

Peggy Hopkins Joyce, actress whose press notices first appeared twenty-six years ago with her runaway marriage in Denver at the age of 17, and extended through four marriages, one annulment and three divorces, stopped at the Congress hotel for several hours yesterday. Miss Joyce, who is 43 years old, was en route from New York to Hot Springs, Ark., where she will spend Christmas. She arrived on the Century and left on the Santa Fe Chief. Miss Joyce said she had not yet completely recovered from injuries incurred a year ago in a sleighing accident at St. Moritz, Switzerland, in which her fiancé, Vivian Jackson, was killed. He was to have been her fifth husband. He was a gentleman jocky and professor of astrophysics at a London university.

Weds Banker

MRS. CAROL BROOKS.

Reno, Nev., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Robert O. Lord, wealthy New York investment banker and former president of a Detroit bank holding company, was married this evening to Mrs. Carol Newberry Brooks of Detroit three hours after he obtained a divorce from Mrs. Marie Lord of Des Moines, Ia.

Mrs. Brooks is the daughter of Truman H. Newberry, former secretary of the navy and former United States Senator from Michigan. She won a divorce here Dec. 2 from Frank W. Brooks.

Lord charged cruelty at the uncontested, private hearing of his suit. He and the former Marie Louise Lepold of Burlington, Ia., had been married since 1914. They have a grown son and daughter. The couple signed a separation agreement last Oct. 23.

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Frank Scotten, 65 years old, of Vandalia, was killed last night near Cassopolis when the auto, in which he was riding with Henry Stenneck and Clark Smith of that place, skidded and crashed into a tree.

DEATH DECREED FOR 13 MORE IN STALIN'S PURGE

9 Others Held in Alleged Epidemic Plot.

MOSCOW, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Thirteen more death sentences were reported today in Dictator Stalin's purge of alleged anti-soviet elements in the Russian provinces.

One of the condemned was a peasant accused of hiring a friend to kill a woman candidate for the supreme soviet "because she denounced his disruptive behavior on a collective farm." The friend, instead of carrying out the alleged plot, was said to have denounced the plotter.

Six persons were sentenced to death in Ordjonikidze province and four in the Crimea for "practices which killed livestock." One was given the supreme penalty in Gorky province for "grain spoiling" and another in Turkmenistan for "wrecking a sulphur mine."

Nine Veterinaries Indicted.

The indictment of nine veterinaries in the Georgian republic on charges of spreading livestock epidemics was reported in a Tiflis newspaper.

The charges alleged that the epidemics were spread as a preliminary to "armed insurrection whenever the U. S. S. R. was attacked by foreign countries." The defendants were accused of being "separatist plotters" who delivered data on cattle breeding to two Germans.

The charges, among other things, including infecting horses with anthrax with the intention of spreading disease among Red troops.

Campaign statements by high soviet sources tonight urged the people to regard Sunday's election of the supreme soviet as a "mobilization" to show the world the nation is united.

Warns "War Is Near."

Marshal Semion Budenny, commander of the Moscow military zone, warned a political rally that it was necessary to mobilize because "war is nearer than ever."

Speaking at Shepetovka, a town near the Polish frontier where he is a candidate for the soviet of the union, Budenny said:

"We will say outright to the gentlemen capitalists that we have grown so much we will beat them wholesale or retail, day or night, summer or winter or whenever necessary. We have grown gigantically. We have strengthened ourselves on all fronts. Now it is more than ever necessary that we mobilize."

Pravda, official organ of the communist party, featured a party manifesto calling on every one to go to the polls Sunday as evidence that members and nonmembers of the party were united behind the government.

WHY COUGH?
DO AS MILLIONS HAVE DONE—USE PERTUSSIN

When you catch cold and your throat feels dry or clogged, the secretions from countless tiny glands in your throat and windpipe often turn into sticky, irritating phlegm. This makes you cough.

Pertussin stimulates these glands to again pour out their natural moisture so that the annoying phlegm is loosened and easily raised. Quickly your throat is soothed, your cough relieved!

Your cough may be a warning signal from your respiratory system. Why neglect it? Do as millions have done! Use Pertussin, a safe, pleasant herbal remedy for children, grownups. Many physicians have prescribed Pertussin for over 30 years. It's safe, acts quickly. Sold at all druggists.

JAPANESE STORM NANKING; CHINESE REPULSE ATTACK

Three Columns of Troops Batter at City Gates.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 8 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Chinese sources reported today that Japanese columns storming two gateways of Nanking's walls were repulsed by Chinese defenders of the former capital. The Chinese said the Japanese suffered 1,000 casualties.

Three Japanese columns were said to be attacking the almost surrounded city.

Chinese reports said the vanguard of one column advanced to the Chilin [Unicorn] gate of the outer walls, but was driven back with heavy casualties.

A main motorized column next attacked the "Morning Sunshine" gateway in the southern main walls leading to the beautiful Ming palaces. Chinese defense forces were said to have pushed this column to the village of Tenghwachen.

The third column had not yet reached Nanking, being held up by fighting at Mulinkwan.

Begin Destroying City.

Chinese troops inside the barricaded city, apparently convinced the former capital would fall eventually before the oncoming Japanese legions, earlier in the day had begun destroying military supplies and equipment to keep them from being taken by the enemy. Foreign reports from Nanking said the Chinese were burning some buildings in the environs.

About 200,000 Chinese soldiers were massed around the city. The Japanese force was estimated at 75,000.

Within the city scores of thousands of civilians, including 17 Americans and many other foreigners, massed in the residential area, which the Japanese said would not be attacked. All exits were closed.

Foreign warships at Nanking reported the Yangtze river devoid of all craft which might afford a possible means of Chinese retreat to the north. The Japanese previously asserted they had blocked all roads on the south and east.

Extensive damage was reported by Chinese in Japanese air raids in the Nanking area. They said the village of Shunhwanchen, 10 miles from the former capital, was bombed in eight separate raids and that more than 200 persons had been killed or wounded.

Burn City of 150,000.

NANKING, China, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A foreign observer tonight gave an eye-witness account of the systematic burning and leveling of Chinkiang by Chinese troops.

Chinkiang, capital of Kiangsu province with a population of 150,000, lies 40 miles east of Nanking on the Yangtze river in the path of advancing Japanese infantry and warships.

The observer said the soldiers were laying the city in complete ruin in accordance with the Chinese government's "scorched earth policy." This policy favors destruction of cities and the countryside rather than leaving them for Japanese occupation.

Reports from Wuhu, Yangtze port 90 miles southwest of Nanking, said British property was again damaged when Japanese planes bombed the waterfront in an effort to harry Chinese troops attempting to cross the river before their avenue of escape was cut off. Japanese troops were reported to be surrounding the city. Several bombs were said to have hit a warehouse of the British Butterfield Wire company.

Tokio Prepares to Celebrate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 8 [Wednesday].—Tokio was jubilant this morning awaiting word of the fall of Nanking. A million flags and lanterns already have been distributed for use in a great victory demonstration. In many parts of the city banners announcing victory already were up.

Reports from Japanese officers outside of Nanking said the only reason they had not yet entered the city was their desire to show the "bushido" spirit of the Japanese warrior—to spare the enemy when he is down and out. The Chinese forces will be given a chance to surrender, and if it is not taken the city will be destroyed, it was said.

DICTATOR CHIANG ESCAPES JAPS IN 200 MI. AIR CHASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 8 [Wednesday].—A 200 mile chase, in which six Japanese pursuit planes tried in vain to catch an American made Boeing airplane in which Dictator and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek had fled from Nanking, was recounted today by Japanese sources.

The Boeing's pilot, believed to be an American, eluded the Japanese near Anking, in Anhwei province, these sources said.

It was said the Japanese were unaware that Chiang and his wife were passengers on the Boeing until they learned later that the generalissimo had flown to Nanchang, Kiangsi province.

FEAR FOR LIVES OF 4 CHICAGOANS MISSING IN CHINA

One Is Reported Kidnaped by Bandits.

Father Cyprian Frank of Mount Carmel, formerly a student at the Passionist monastery in Norwood Park, has been kidnaped by bandits in the interior of China, according to advices received yesterday in a cable from Chenki in Hunan province. It said the bandits seized Father Frank at Paotsing, far distant from the scene of the Japanese invasion. Father Frank has been a missionary in China for 12 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Tucker, 900 Oakton street, Evanston, made known their anxiety last night for their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Springer, and the Springers' baby daughter who have been missing in China since Nov. 8. Springer represents the China Inland Mission with headquarters at Philadelphia and comes of a long line of missionaries. They were last heard from at Wuhu. The baby was born Aug. 19 in a hospital full of wounded Chinese soldiers.

RETURN ACCIDENT VERDICT.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death yesterday at the inquest over William McLaughlin, 78 years old, who was asphyxiated by smoke Monday when fire broke out in his flat on the second floor at 912 Madison street.

KING OF SWEDEN OBSERVES 30 YRS. ON THRONE TODAY

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 7.—King Gustaf V. of Sweden will celebrate tomorrow the thirtieth anniversary of his accession to the throne. At his special request and in keeping with the democratic simplicity of his life, there will be no official ceremony. The only departure from the usual court procedure will be the placing of a wreath on the tomb of Gustaf's father, Oscar II., in the Riddarholms church in Stockholm. The king will spend the day at the family residence, Drottningholm castle.

HOBBIES—ASSORTED

By CALEB

OUR discussion of model airplane building as a hobby received some approbation. But amid the applause were some jealous "boos."

Men and boys with a rolling walk and a flair for the sea have said, "What of model boats?" Men and boys with railroading in their blood have said, "Trains are more difficult to build. They are more interesting when built." Laboratory lovers have stopped peering into microscopes or making mixtures in beakers, to complain.

Even the collectors have had a word to say. Stamp collectors, for instance—who seem more violent verbally than other hobby riders—such as book collectors.

To all these and many other riders of unique or common hobbies unmentioned, we bow in deference.

Most hobbies are good hobbies. They are a relaxation. They refresh the rider. They are educational and they may turn leisure hours into work and worth instead of worry and waste.

Evidence of our interest in many hobbies and our lack of prejudice, we hope, is in the extensive array of hobbies we are prepared to satisfy.

We provide sets of tools for carving all sorts of wood, soap, and linoleum blocks. We have model boat kits of many important vessels. Our model train kits are numerous and include famous trains of history as well as models of conventional steam types.

Our "hobby" microscopes range from 100 to 600 power and can while away innumerable hours while piercing an infinitude of the secrets of nature. Chemistry sets capable of executing hundreds of interesting experiments are here. So are mineralogy sets for the budding mineralogist or geologist.

We can provide glass blowing sets for the hobby rider who wants something different—and lead casting sets for making lead soldiers—and magic sets for those inclined toward the making of miracles.

Our fourth floor is, for boys and men whose interests remain young, a hobby rider's heaven on earth. It would take far more space than this to list all the hobbies on which our customers are mounted.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—WHERE IS OUR WANDERING BOY TONIGHT?

CONGRESS RIPS INTO AUTOCRACY OF LABOR BOARD

Attack on Press Stirs Condemnation.

investigate the national labor relations board, hoping to make our burocratic boards and pay roll patriots understand the American people intend to make a real fight for liberty."

Administration Attitude Reflected.

President Roosevelt, who has frequently manifested antagonism to the press, evinced only nominal interest in the charges against the board when questioned at his press conference today.

According to Representative Fred L. Crawford [R., Mich.], the acts of the labor board reflect the general attitude of the Roosevelt administration to the press. He gave several examples. One was the speech in which Postmaster General Farley said he preferred the medium of the radio because "it will be uncontaminated by coincident editorial comment."

Mr. Crawford also cited the episode of the board's subpena for Mr. Barclay for questioning regarding his article characterizing as farcical the board's so-called trial of charges of unfair labor practices imputed to the Weirton Steel company. Mr. Barclay ignored the subpena on the ground that the board was attempting an unconstitutional invasion of freedom of the press.

Advertising to Magazines.

The Michigan congressman also cited the treasury department's advertising of its saving bonds in several magazines instead of in newspapers. The defense of the treasury department is that it has relied on the advice of two advertising agencies—Albert Frank-Gunther-Law of New York and D'Arcy of St. Louis—regarding the media to obtain maximum results.

Mr. Crawford also displayed a copy of Father Couglin's publication, Social Justice, the Washington correspondent of which reported that a department of justice investigation of the periodical was in the making. The department stated today that it had received no complaint against the publication.

Board Summons Editor.

The latest disclosure of the descent of the labor board's heavy hand on the press comes from St. Marys, Pa. The board haled before its examiner Harry T. O'Brien, editor of the St. Mary's Daily Press, for questioning regarding an editorial critical of the methods of the board in trying charges against the Stackpole Carbon company.

The trial examiner overrode a contention of the editor that he could not properly reveal the name of the contributor of an editorial, a matter which the editor believed was confidential. The examiner said that the witness possessed merely the privilege of not being prosecuted for self-incrimination if he was called upon to testify.

The questions ranged far and wide, but the general intimation of the NLRB, made specific in the trial examiner's report, was that a local corporation involved in a labor trouble had control of the newspaper and that the contributed editorial was a company contrivance because it came from the wife of an engineer employed by the company.

[Editor O'Brien finally was persuaded by implied threats, he said, to disclose the name of the writer. Her story is told on page 9.]

Seeks to Limit Testimony.

However, when the editor sought to show the qualifications of the woman as a consistent contributor of articles and a former "excellent" newspaper reporter, the trial examiner sought to limit this testimony. "It is getting a little far away," he said.

According to the trial examiner's report, the newspaper, which also runs a job printing plant, made 1,000 reprints of the contributed editorial.

These reprints, according to the examiner's report, were ordered by the labor troubled corporation before the editorial appeared in the newspaper and were subsequently distributed to employés of the industrial concern. The transcript shows that the editor denied knowledge of the reprints at the time, and said the order for them had not come to him or his department.

LANCE ROOSEVELT'S INFECTED GUM; NOW HE'S 'DOING NICELY'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—The infected gum, which forced President Roosevelt to cut short his Florida fishing cruise, was lanced this morning in the White House dispensary.

At his press conference this afternoon, Mr. Roosevelt reported he was getting along nicely. The lancing was decided upon after Lieutenant Commander Arthur H. Yandon, navy dentist, examined X-rays made of the President's mouth on his return from Florida yesterday evening.

The press conference produced little more than a flock of negative dodges from Mr. Roosevelt. He had no announcement to make as to whether the administration's silver buying-policy will be continued. He said an announcement will be made shortly before the present policy expires, Dec. 31.

DISPATCHERS OF TRAINS ASK LAW FOR 6 HOUR DAY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—(AP)—American train dispatchers, claiming to have one of "the worst jobs in the world," asked a senate committee today to order a six hour day for them. J. G. Luhrsen of Chicago, president of the American Train Dispatchers' association, said the dispatchers who control all train movements, had decided to ask legislation rather than strike for the six hour day. He estimated shortening the day from the present eight hour shift would cost railroads about $2,500,000 annually.

FARLEY PASSES OUT 2,800 JOBS TO TAMMANY HALL

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—James A. Farley, who as postmaster general plays Santa Claus annually with temporary mail jobs for party workers, didn't punish Tammany Hall for being a bad boy and losing an election, it was learned today.

Christopher Sullivan, leader of the Hall, received between 2,800 and 2,900 Christmas rush postoffice jobs to be filled by appointees of his choice. Chairman of the party organization in the other counties of the city likewise received their usual quotas. The work pays 65 cents an hour and nets tidy sums to the lucky clubhouse boys.

Ex-Ald. Leahy's Son, 13, Is Found in Downstate Town

David Leahy, 13 years old, son of former Ald. Jeremiah Leahy of the 27th ward, who had been missing since Friday morning, was found at Effingham, Ill., 250 miles from Chicago, yesterday afternoon. He said he had started on a hitch-hiking tour of the country with 75 cents in his pocket. His parents left by automobile to return David to their home at 4655 Monroe street.

HOUSEWIFE TELLS PERSECUTIONS BY LABOR BOARD AID

Made Target of Snooping After Writing Editorial.

St. Marys, Pa., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—A small town housewife told today of the snooping and domineering tactics of a trial examiner for the so-called National Labor Relations board in his efforts to force her to appear at a hearing here. She said she fled from her home and stayed away two and a half weeks to escape an intolerable situation.

The woman is Mrs. Ruth Searcy Sanders, a graduate of Stanford university who also studied at the University of Chicago and the University of London. She formerly was engaged in newspaper work in New York and California.

She contributed an editorial to the St. Marys Daily Press which contained criticisms of the labor board's policies and which caused the paper's editor, Harry T. O'Brien, to be questioned for hours by the labor board's examiner. O'Brien said he was forced to reveal the name of the editorial writer under implied threats from the examiner of penalties that might be imposed on him.

Tells of Giving Her Views.

The incident, which aroused criticism of the National Labor Relations board in congress today, arose in a hearing on a case involving the Stackpole Carbon company. Mrs. Sanders' husband, V. H. Sanders, is head of the engineering and research departments of the company and one of the directors of the concern also is a director of the St. Marys Daily Press.

"I wrote the editorial and sent it to the newspaper merely because I was interested in the subject—the labor problem in St. Marys," Mrs. Sanders explained.

"When the board hearing started, Editor O'Brien, employés of the paper, and stockholders were grilled about editorials and other matters. Mr. O'Brien refused at first to give my name, saying he had promised it would not be divulged. But an agreement was reached at a side bar conference whereby the editorial with my signature was shown to the trial examiner only."

A few days later, Mrs. Sanders continued, the examiner telephoned her at home and asked that she come to the hearing.

Learns cf Deception.

"He said, 'I would like to have a little talk with you about the editorial you wrote,'" she related. "He asked me to meet him about forty minutes later at Grange hall, where the hearing was held. Fifteen minutes later I was served with a subpena calling for my appearance at the hearing at 3 p. m. that day.

"After learning that I had been deceived, in that my name was to be made public, I went to the home of a friend. It was while I was away that the labor board attorney went to my home and forced my maid to accept a subpena for me. He ordered her to see that I was at the hearing by 3 o'clock."

That afternoon, Mrs. Sanders said, she decided to leave town. While she was away from home, she declared, the board attorney snooped around her house. She said the employment manager of the Stackpole company was directed by the trial examiner to find her and bring her to the proceedings. She never appeared, however.

Gifts for Actress

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Sigrid Gurie, who was imported from Norway to help beautify Hollywood movie productions, will miss the snow and ice of her native land during the holidays, but in the matter of gifts she has already been impressed with the warmth of America's affections. This will be the first Christmas away from her home in Oslo. She has just completed her first film, in which she played opposite Gary Cooper and made countless friends at the studio.

MELLON CLEARED OF ALL FRAUD IN INCOME TAX CASE

Board Cuts $3,075,000 Claim to $750,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Andrew W. Mellon, the noted Pittsburgh industrialist and financier who served as secretary of the treasury under three Presidents, today—a little more than three months after his death—was completely exonerated of income tax fraud.

The United States board of tax appeals, by unanimous action, threw out the fraud charges brought by the Roosevelt administration against the former head of the Aluminum Company of America, and, in an 8 to 7 ruling, slashed the government's claim for additional taxes on Mellon's 1931 income from $3,075,000 to about $750,000. So complicated is the board's 125 page decision, which took a year to prepare, that it may be several days before the exact amount is known.

Attorney to Continue Fight.

Attorney Donald D. Shephard, executor of the Mellon estate, declared he would leave no stone unturned in carrying on his fight for complete vindication of the former treasury head on all points in the tax case. The decision, he said, is being carefully studied with a view to appealing to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

Mr. Mellon was appointed secretary of the treasury by President Harding in 1921. He continued to serve under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover until 1932, when President Hoover sent him to London as ambassador. With the advent of the Roosevelt administration, Mellon retired to private life. A year later the tax quarrel began.

Refusal to Indict Upheld.

The government accused Mellon of dodging taxes, filed the huge claim, and sought a criminal fraud prosecution. A Pittsburgh grand jury, however, refused in 1934 to indict the industrialist. That action was supported by today's decision.

Mellon branded the administration's charges political persecution. He charged that Attorney General Homer S. Cummings ordered the prosecution even after agents of the internal revenue bureau and his own department had reported thorough investigations revealed no grounds for action. The financier continued until his death, last Aug. 26, to fight for vindication. Many of his friends believe that concern over the tax case hastened his death.

On the basis of the board's findings today, Mellon's estate won six of the ten major issues in the case; the government was victorious on three points, and one was compromised.

Should the board's order for payment of the $750,000 be upheld, the money must come out of various charities. Mellon left nearly all his estate, estimated at more than 50 million dollars, to charity.

The board's ruling upheld the validity of several major stock sales and financial adjustments, which the government had sought to show were fraudulent tax evasion schemes. Among these was a $5,667,956 sale of stock in the Pittsburgh Coal company to the Union Trust company of Pittsburgh.

Creation of Trust Approved.

The board also upheld Mellon's creation of the Mellon Educational and Charitable trust and the transfer of five costly paintings of old masters to that trust. The paintings and their valuations, fixed as their cost to Mellon, are Raphael's "Alba Madonna," $1,166,400; Titian's "Toilet of Venus," $544,320; Perugino's "Crucifixion," $195,815; Van Eyck's "The Annunciation," $503,010, and Botticelli's "Adoration of the Magi," $838,350.

The pictures are part of the art collection now valued at more than 50 million dollars, which Mellon gave to the nation through President Roosevelt last Jan. 2. He also gave 10 million dollars for an art gallery.

Transfer Loss Affirmed.

Further actions of the tax board in favor of the Mellon estate upheld the loss of $445,307 through a transfer of Ascalot company securities to his daughter, ruled that the former treasury head did not own disputed stocks which would have made him subject to additional taxes of $49,000, and overruled a taxable gain of $933,848 on liquidation of the Union Construction company.

The board ruled for the government by disallowing a claimed loss in the sale of stock in the Western Public Service corporation, by upholding the increase of taxable income in the exchange of McClintic-Marshall corporation stock, a subsidiary of the Bethlehem Steel company, and by affirming additional taxes on certain payments of the Union Construction company and the Pitt Securities corporation.

On the final point the board fixed a compromise sum between the government and the Mellon estate figures on the market value of McClintic-Marshall company stock.

REPORT PROFESSOR WHO SHOT SELF IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Stuart P. Meech.

Stuart Putnam Meech, associate professor of finance at the University of Chicago, who shot himself yesterday morning in his apartment at the Plaisance hotel, 1545 East 60th street, was reported in a critical condition at the Illinois Central hospital last night.

Mrs. Meech told the police that she had quarreled Monday evening with her husband, who had been drinking. She then went to visit in another part of the hotel. Returning about 1 a. m., she said, she found the bathroom door locked. Hotel employés and a physician helped to open the door. Prof. Meech was lying on the floor and beside him a .22 caliber rifle with which he had wounded himself in the right temple.

The professor, who is 40 years old, is widely known as a business counselor, as well as an educator. He collaborated with the late James O. McKinsey, who was chairman of Marshall Field & Co., in writing the book, "Controling the Finances of Business."

LOYALIST PLANES RAID REBEL BASE ON MALLORCA IS.

Palma, Resort City, Hit by Many Bombs.

MADRID, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A successful raid by 24 government planes on the Island of Mallorca, rebel air and sea base off the east Spanish coast, was announced tonight by the Barcelona government.

An air ministry communique said government squadrons inflicted heavy damage on Palma, Mallorcan city once famous as a Mediterranean resort. The planes dropped bombs and flew low to use their machine guns.

The communique, terming Palma the base "where Italian resources predominate," reported three rebel planes and one government craft were shot down in an air battle.

Base for Raids on Coast.

Because it is only 200 miles from Valencia and other coastal cities in government hands, the Palma base has been an increasing menace to east coast shipping and cities. Numerous rebel raids on the east coast were reported to have originated from Mallorca.

[Fifty persons were killed and more than 100 wounded in bombardment of Barcelona by rebel planes yesterday. Several towns along the Catalan coast also were bombed, a government communique said.]

Rebel shells killed a number of persons today in a heavy bombardment of the Puente de Toledo quarter of Madrid, the site of one of the city's principal markets.

Ship Rescues Plane's Crew.

VALETTA, Isle of Malta, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The British liner Largs Bay rescued the pilot and observer of a Spanish rebel warplane and landed them at Valetta today after the plane was riddled by anti-aircraft fire and sank off the southern coast of Spain.

Russian Assails Franco.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Ambassador Ivan Maisky of soviet Russia censured Gen. Francisco Franco today as the nonintervention subcommittee debated technical details of its plan for evacuating foreign volunteer soldiers from Spain. He called the Spanish rebel leader "this pocket general who is unable without powerful foreign aid to stand on his feet."

The subcommittee got down to details after it decided notes from the Spanish government at Barcelona and the rebel régime at Salamanca constituted "acceptances in principle" of the plan for evacuating foreign fighters.

The scheme envisions removal of a "substantial" number of foreign fighters from Spain, granting of belligerent rights to the warring parties, and eventual withdrawal of all foreign volunteers.

Raid Rebel Air Base

(Story in adjoining column.)

Spanish loyalists yesterday reported (1) their bombers made a destructive raid on the rebel air base at Palma, Mallorca; (2) rebel air raiders killed 50 persons at Barcelona; (3) rebel artillery shelled the Madrid market place.

DUCE OUSTS TWO GENERALS FROM AFRICAN POSTS

ROME, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini took another step toward civil reorganization of Italy's African colonies today by naming three colonial office career men to high posts.

Two of them succeed generals as governors, thus making a shift from military rule to one divided between civil and military authority.

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy named Marshal Rodolfo Graziani the marquis of Neghelli on the eve of his retirement as viceroy of Ethiopia. The duke of Aosta, cousin of the king, was named on Nov. 20 to succeed Graziani.

As first assistant to the duke of Aosta, Mussolini appointed Enrico Cerulli as vice governor general of Italian East Africa. Francisco Saverio Caroselli was named governor of Somaliland to succeed Gen. Ruggiero Santini. Giuseppe Daodiace was appointed governor of Eritrea to replace Gen. Alfredo Guzzoni.

TURKS DENOUNCE NONAGGRESSION PACT WITH SYRIA

ANKARA, Turkey, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Turkey denounced its treaty of friendship and nonaggression with Syria today in a note to the French government, which administers Syria under league of nations mandate.

The Turkish view apparently was that the attitude of French authorities in Syria had been inimical to Turkish-Syrian amity. Turkish-Syrian relations have been strained during the past year particularly on the question of French administration of the sanjak [district] of Alexandretta, on the Turkish frontier.

Official sources indicated that Turkey is disposed to consider a new agreement to safeguard Turkish interests in Syria "more adequately." A formal announcement said foreign minister Yvon Delbos of France is expected here in January to discuss Turkish-French problems.

SEEKS $500,000 FOR PLANE CRASH DEATH OF MATE

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Laying the air crash death of Martin Johnson, famous explorer and producer of adventure films, to assertedly dangerous low flying by a Western Air Express plane, Mrs. Osa Johnson, the adventurer's widow, today sued the air line for $502,539.

Western Air Express, United Airport, Company, Ltd.; W. W. Lewis, pilot of the plane, and Ernest N. Whitney and Kenneth Hoorn, groundmen, all are charged with negligence in Mrs. Johnson's complaint. Johnson was 52 years old and was enjoying an income of $100,000 a year, Mrs. Johnson alleges.

MEXICO RATIFIES PEACE TREATIES OF THE AMERICAS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Mexico City today put into effect peace treaties adopted by nations of the Americas at Buenos Aires, Argentina. The official gazette published ratification by the Mexican senate of a pact for maintenance, guarantee, and establishment of peace; a nonintervention protocol; a treaty to coördinate, amplify, and secure fulfilment of existing peace conventions in America, and a treaty for prevention of controversies and for good offices and mediation.

WIFE SHOOTS HUSBAND AND SELF.

Nevada, Ia., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Story County Sherif C. V. McRiff reported Mrs. Vera Mathews, 33 years old, wounded her husband with a shotgun as he lay in bed today and then shot herself. Both are in a serious condition.

TOMMY ATKINS NEARLY LOSES CHRISTMAS LEAVE

But Jittery British Finally Put Off African Duty.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Jittery official nerves, an outgrowth of recent events in the near east where Great Britain is confronted with unrest among Arabs and Jews, resulted in complications over Christmas leave for British troops today.

Two hours after being paid and given furlough money, troops of the 1st anti-aircraft group stationed at Aldershot were told that their Christmas leave had been stopped. Instead of going home they would embark for Africa on Dec. 27, the soldiers were told.

Some men had reached railroad stations when they were summoned to return to headquarters.

Later, after consultations, it was decided the troops should be allowed to go home after all, but their leave was shortened. The departure date was changed to Jan. 6.

The group, which is going to Egypt, includes the 6th anti-aircraft brigade, Royal artillery, the 1st anti-aircraft battalion, Royal engineers, the 1st anti-aircraft group signal unit, and the 4th anti-aircraft brigade, Royal artillery.

IL DUCE FREES SERB PRISONERS; MEETS JUGO-SLAV PREMIER

ROME, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Political prisoners, said to be the last held in Italian areas adjacent to Jugo-Slavia, were released today in celebration of the visit of Jugo-Slavia's premier, Milan Stoyadinovitch.

The prisoners freed were mostly Serbians who acquired Italian nationality unwillingly after the world war and were sent to jail for anti-Italian agitation.

GERMANS ARREST 80 IN HAMBURG FOR MONEY DEALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 7.—Eighty persons were reported under arrest tonight in a roundup of merchants and other business men in Hamburg on charges of violating currency regulations.

Preparations being made for a mass trial were expected to take several weeks. More arrests were anticipated before the investigations are closed.

Under Nazi laws the maximum punishment is death for serious violations of foreign currency regulations, which are regarded as "betrayal of the German nation."

Art Patron Held.

Outstanding among the accused persons is Alfred Toepfer, one of Germany's leading grain dealers. Toepfer is interested in art and instituted prizes totaling $4,000 annually to be distributed in Scandinavian countries, the Netherlands and Denmark for outstanding artistic achievement.

He established four scholarships also to enable English students to study in Germany. Foreign currency authorities started investigations soon after Toepfer provided for these awards.

Meanwhile in a special court the trial of Arnold Bernstein, Jewish shipping magnate, on exchange law charges continues. The court today attempted to disentangle the transactions constituting the brief history of the Palestine Shipping company which operated with one vessel between Haifa, Palestine, and New York.

Ship Is Rebuilt.

In general, the charge is that Bernstein induced Germans in 1933 to invest 600,000 marks [about $240,000] in rebuilding his ship Hohenstein for the service and received a frozen mark loan for which the reich did not receive an equivalent in foreign exchange.

The Hohenstein was sold first to Bernstein's new Palestine Shipping company and later, for $125,000, to another company. Of the latter amount Bernstein claimed that $75,000 actually was returned to Germany.

He asserted that rebuilding the ship cost several hundred thousand marks more than was expected, due to rising prices in Germany.

Disagree on $75,000.

The prosecution charged he was trying, in the transaction, to sell an old ship at advantageous terms and secure foreign exchange. Bernstein claimed Capt. Thor Eckert, his New York agent, loaned him $75,000. The prosecution charged that the $75,000 was taken from his alleged secret account with Capt. Eckert.

The Palestine company, Bernstein said, failed eventually because it could not compete with other lines operating in the Mediterranean. To this failure he attributed his financial tangle.

Bernstein, former head of the Arnold Bernstein and Red Star Lines, operated the only German companies under Jewish control. The lines are administered now by a trustee of the German nation. Bernstein has been in prison more than ten months.

6 LOSE DRIVING PRIVILEGES IN SAFETY COURT

Judge J. M. Braude in Safety court yesterday took away the driving privileges of six motorists for varying periods and sentenced one of them to jail. Those punished:

EDWARD L. BYRNE, 7410 Luella avenue, sentenced to fifteen days and fined $50 on a charge of reckless driving; ordered not to drive for thirty days.

ALBERT GAYDOS, 1217 Garfield street, Gary, and HENRY G. FISHER, 6148 South Sangamon street, fined $25 each for reckless driving; Gaydos suspended from driving for ninety days and Fisher for sixty days.

LAWRENCE WALLERMAN, 3746 Oriole avenue, and EDWARD PABIN, 8056 Exchange avenue, fined $15 and $10, respectively; Wallerman suspended from driving for twenty days and Pabin for thirty.

ADRIAN BRONZELL, 5200 South Honore street, placed on probation for six months and ordered not to operate a car in that period for leaving the scene of an accident.

Judge James G. Gullett of Elizabethtown, sitting in County court, imposed a fine of $100 and $20 costs on Dr. Luther L. Blaine, 4046 Hermitage avenue, a dentist, on a charge of drunk driving.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Although not yet 16 years old, Miss Ivy Tate has been chosen as North End's "glamor girl." Her prize is a night in the West End, with a car and model frock at her disposal. She is a laundry clerk and does not like makeup.

URGE STOP SIGNS AT DEATH CORNER ON SOUTH SIDE

Erection of stop signs at Crandon avenue and 79th street was recommended yesterday by a coroner's jury at the inquest over Helen Morrison, 15 years old, 7259 Crandon avenue, who was killed Monday night in an automobile accident at the intersection. The girl, a junior at the Aquinas High school, was thrown from the automobile of Martin King Jr., 16 years old, 25 North Lockwood avenue, when it collided with another car.

Lincoln park police yesterday sought the owner of a car which was found wrecked at the foot of an embankment on Ridge drive near Grant Monument drive in the park. They said the license was issued to Stanley Michals, 1808 Wilmot avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 1,009 persons had been injured by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 762 were killed in Chicago, where 21,381 were injured in the same period.

LAY GROUNDWORK OF NEGOTIATIONS ON TRANSIT PLAN

Wilkerson Confers with Money Interests.

Representatives of securities committees of the elevated and surface lines companies met with Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday to outline a program for carrying on negotiations for a traction settlement. This was in accordance with an arrangement made in Judge Wilkerson's court Monday.

Started at Court Hearing.

The latest negotiations aimed at obtaining a new city franchise providing for unified operation of all transit facilities grew out of a hearing Monday on the Abbott plan for reorganization of the four surface lines companies. The elevated interests named Lynch and D. F. Kelly to carry on new unification negotiations and the Abbott committee empowered Richardson to act for it.

Mayor Kelly yesterday called upon the financial interests representing the traction properties to carry through negotiations which will result in a settlement.

In an address before the North Central association at the Drake hotel he said that the city plan was open to modification and that he was not campaigning for any particular transit proposal.

Urges Agreement of Interests.

"The traction situation is just as chaotic as it ever has been," he said. "We are hoping that the men who control the financial interests will sit down together and consider this plan or some other plan. The financial interests are jockeying for position. We hope they will get together. At least we've laid a plan in their laps. It is up to them to show something better."

STREET CAR HITS SWITCH ENGINE; 6 MEN INJURED

Six men were in the Peoples hospital last night for treatment of injuries suffered early in the day when a Cermak road street car crashed into the tender of a Burlington railroad switch engine near Loomis street. None of the victims was seriously hurt.

C. W. Krohl, terminal superintendent of the railroad, said a switchman was flagging the car with a lighted lantern. Representatives of the surface lines said they were told that the locomotive had stopped at an angle so that no lights were visible and that the switchman was not on the track flagging but on the curve of the street.

TELLS JURORS HE WORKED AS HIRED THUG IN MINE WAR

Ex-Convict Testifies for Defense in Bomb Trial.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—An ex-convict from Chicago, who boasted of his fighting ability, told a jury in the government's mass bombing trial today that the Peabody Coal company mines in Christian county used strongarm tactics during the mine warfare.

The witness, Vernon Vickery, said he was a native of Kankakee and had been a Pinkerton and railroad detective. He said he was hired because the Peabody district superintendent "wanted a man who could dish it out." He was a defense witness.

Vickery said that when he went to work for the Peabody company in January, 1930, the company's district superintendent, W. C. Argust, assigned him to a strong arm squad and directed him to beat up any one trying to interfere with the workers. He quoted Argust as once saying: "To hell with the sherif and his deputies—I'm running this county."

5 Heavily Armed Squads in Cars.

The witness said that between 100 and 150 deputy sherifs were on the Peabody pay roll under the direction of Argust in 1932. Argust also organized squadrons of five cars, each carrying five heavily armed men, to patrol roads in the vicinity of Peabody mines until late in 1932, when the United Mine Workers of America was split and the Progressive Miners union was born, he said.

Vickery testified that in the fall of 1932 a washhouse at a Taylorville mine was converted into a small arsenal for the storing of dynamite, a machine gun, high powered rifles, revolvers, and ammunition.

The witness said he handled the machine gun as part of his duties and passed out dynamite to the "boys who wanted to go out and raise things up."

Bombings and Shootings Follow.

Vickery told of several bombings and shootings that occurred after dynamite and arms had been distributed from the arsenal. He also said that a group of men he supposed were Progressive members were beaten by Peabody employés and U. M. W. A. men.

Charles M. Lemmons of Kankakee, formerly an employé of the Peabody company at Taylorville, corroborated much of Vickery's testimony and said he was hired as a member of the motorized patrol squad.

In his testimony Vickery admitted he had served one year and eleven months in Leavenworth penitentiary for grand larceny. He was released in 1928, two years before he went to work for Peabody. He was not permitted to tell of what he was accused.

TELLS OF 44 HRS. IN MINE MAZE ON HANDS AND KNEES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pinckneyville, Ill., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Haggard and bruised after being lost for 44 hours in the labyrinth of passages at the bottom of a coal mine, Lawrence Lee, 28 years old, told a dramatic story of his exhausting experience when a rescue crew brought him to the surface early this morning.

Lee, a bookkeeper at mine No. 5 of the Interstate Coal company, was suffering from lack of sleep and food and from cuts incurred in crawling through the underground tunnels. He had wandered through the mine passages since 11 a. m. Sunday, when he lost his way.

"I had heard there were some new developments at the south end of the mine and I decided to inspect them," said Lee today. "I counted the mine rooms as I walked away from the shaft, but I must have become confused and started back in the wrong direction."

A ROLLS RAZOR WITHOUT A SERIAL NUMBER IS NOT COVERED BY MANUFACTURERS' GUARANTEE

AS SOLE authorized distributors for the United States of Rolls Razors, we are proud of our product which we sincerely believe to be the finest safety razor in the world.

Before it leaves the factory each Rolls Razor is subjected to 243 inspections to assure you a life time of perfect shaves. Each razor that passes these inspections is given a serial number. For your protection that number is registered in the United States and London.

Recently in the Chicago area we found Rolls Razors being sold from which the serial number had been obliterated. Frankly, such razors are under suspicion. They have been tampered with after they have left the factory. We do not know how far that tampering has proceeded nor what possible damage may have been done to these precision instruments. We have tried to trace the source of these defaced razors. We cannot. We know nothing about them even though they are packed in boxes which in every way resemble our own.

The manufacturer's guarantee appearing in each box states plainly that in order to be effective the razor to which it applies must bear a serial number. Any merchant selling a Rolls Razor with the serial number obliterated is selling a razor on which the guarantee has been destroyed and, therefore, is not giving you the value in merchandise or service which the manufacturer intended you to have.

The number we refer to is plainly stamped on the side of the operating handle of every genuine Rolls Razor, or on side of case. Be sure your Rolls Razor carries a number.

GAG RULE BY NATIONAL LABOR BOARD.

Hartley W. Barclay, editor of the magazine Mill and Factory, did not appear Monday in Steubenville, O., before the National Labor Relations board. He refused to answer a subpena. The board demanded that he answer for an article he had written on the trial of the Weirton Steel company by the board.

Barclay had written that the hearing, which is in its seventeenth week, was a burlesque and framed to make a case against the company and for John Lewis and the C. I. O. He described the trial examiner, Edward Grandison Smith, known as Judge Smith, as a lovable old small town West Virginia lawyer who didn't know anything about the steel business. He said that the C. I. O. dominated the hearing, that the company's evidence was not accepted, that the workers were well paid and satisfied, and that the proceedings would be comical if they were not so tragically serious.

Mr. Barclay was ordered to appear, bring his notes and records, and explain why he wrote the article. On the advice of his attorney he refused to do so. In his article he had accused the labor board of playing the rôle of the Russian OGPU in the Weirton hearing. If the article libeled the trial examiner or other members of the board they have recourse to the courts. A libel suit will lie against the author. If one is not started the charge that the board is a GPU will be admitted.

Although the editor of Mill and Factory stood his ground for his right of comment and opinion, another editor, Harry T. O'Brien of the St. Mary's, Pa., Daily Press, submitted under protest and under threat of penalty to a grilling by another section of the board hearing a case involving the Stackpole Carbon company. He was compelled to explain his comment and to divulge the name of a correspondent.

The NLRB has assumed these inquisitorial powers. Its severest critic is the American Federation of Labor. President Green has described it as partial, partisan, and prejudiced, and the federation asks that it be dissolved. Like every other dictatorial body it seeks to intimidate and coerce its critics. It tries to stop opposition by threatening punishment. There never was an autocracy which did not want to control or stop the presses.

The government has hundreds of press agencies supported by public money to influence public opinion in its favor. When the other side is presented the government will suppress it if a way can be found. That is the nature of autocracy.

THE HAWAIIAN STAMP.

Mr. Farley's Hawaiian stamp has the name Hawaii on it, which as a piece of description is unusually useful because without it some romantic misunderstandings and political implications might be involved. Above the word Hawaii is a noble figure on a pedestal, handsomely legged and supposedly a native chief, but looking every inch a Roman emperor.

To the first glance and even under closer inspection he seems to wear the Roman toga, tunic, breastplate, and helmet. He carries the Roman spear and he is giving the Roman, now Fascist, salute. If the Italians do not think that Mr. Farley is helping Mussolini celebrate the 2,000th anniversary of the magnificent autocracy of Augustus Cæsar, Roman emperor, it will be because that word Hawaii corrects their first impression. Even then they may think there is a hidden meaning and that it is a very neat bit of hands across the sea in fraternal greeting.

THE NUT PROFESSORS.

The second recessional has liquidated a large number of learned docs and profs who flowered in the pre-New Deal depression. As the new era folded up the academic nuts had the scene for their own. They said they knew the catastrophe was coming. It had been inherent in the social and economic order and if the structure were not planned all over from the basement to the roof another shakedown would be the last. There wouldn't be any society remaining.

A great many people believed them. A great many people were hurt, dazed, and frightened. They were willing to take any way out and frequently, as we all recall, the more extravagant a scheme was the more rapidly it gathered strength. The simpler minded of the millennialists, such as the Townsendites, were the least blameworthy. They had no pretenses of intellectual superiority or erudition.

The nut professors were in different stead. With their emergence it was made to appear that for years a body of wisdom had been neglected by willful persons heedful only of themselves and heedless of everything else, as if all the time there had been available sound advice, counsel, and direction. The learned docs and profs took charge.

That was the time when thoughtless editors were filling their columns with the socialistic outpourings of professors, many of whom were safe in life jobs endowed by Rockefeller, Carnegie, Vanderbilt, and other fund and university founders, and were tireless in their attacks upon the economic system upon which all working people are dependent.

We do not hear so much from them now. Trial and error, experience and weariness have liquidated many of them in the only fashion in which a democracy purges itself. Serious professors, having stood all they could stand and aroused by the national peril, entered the forum with counter arguments of soundness and sense, and some of the silly ones, alarmed by their own folly, have shut up. Moreover, some editors have discovered that there is more in journalism than sensation seeking. They, too, are suffering from the results of their own editing.

These are more sober minded times. The quacks are not so numerous, so loud, or so persuasive.

MODERNIZED TACTICS FOR THE ARMY.

American citizens who regard the efficiency of national defense as important in the troubled state of world affairs were interested in the "motorized march" of ten thousand regulars in Texas. They have read in recent years of mechanization and perhaps something of the military emphasis in recent years upon mobility; that is, rapidity and efficiency in the movement of armed forces. They like to think that, in a country which has achieved so much in mechanical invention in civilian affairs, our military establishment is being put on the same plane, and will have all the advantages of science and invention applied to the art of war. In the land of the motor car and the tractor it must be obvious that transport of our troops and equipment should leave nothing to be desired, and the "mechanized march" will be taken as evidence that the army is away to its responsibilities, if a little tardy, in getting forward with all available means of movement.

But there is another aspect of military efficiency of which the civilian, except our veterans and citizen soldiers, is less aware. We may move our forces expeditiously by motorized marches, we may "get there fustest with the mostest men," but what will happen then? Will the men be equipped with the best weapons and will men and weapons be handled so as to get the best results? In other words, are the tactics of the American army being developed in conformity to the conditions which modern instrumentalities of combat are creating? Are we to have not only modernized transport but also modernized tactics?

The late war was full of lessons, but there have been signs in all countries that a good many important ones have not been learned by the gentlemen at headquarters. A conspicuous example is the use or rather the failure to make full use of artillery in attack. This cost heavily in unnecessary loss of life and tactical failures, as combat officers know and bitterly remember. There is evidence that our military planning is not up to date in this respect. In maneuvers of recent years there has been too much evidence that artillery coördination with infantry action has not been improved and in new tactical organization there seems to us to be failure to provide for the maximum use of artillery. The traditional exaltation of the infantry morale, as superior to all material considerations, needs correction in view of the development of new weapons. Our tactical conceptions should take into account more seriously the coördination and full use of all arms.

We suspect our tactical modernization is being retarded by the division of the officers among the several arms. Our officers are infantrymen, artillerymen, and cavalrymen, each preoccupied with the special character of his own branch. The general staf which directs the whole lacks experience in combat.

The navy does not suffer from this disadvantage. A naval officer may come to be a specialist, but fundamentally he must know the whole ship and all its possibilities and responsibilities. He knows navigation, aviation, and gunnery, and even land fighting, and, especially important in this age, he is gun-minded. His offensive weapon is the cannon and he is not likely to ignore its capabilities or send men to attack without its protection and aid.

A MISCHIEVOUS PROPOSAL.

Senator Capper's proposal of a constitutional amendment imposing a uniform law of marriage and divorce would be hard to beat for mischievous implications. The first of these is the projection of religious differences into national politics and their consequent intensification in the national household. This result alone would overwhelmingly offset whatever benefits the proponent seeks in uniformity. The chief factor in the preservation of domestic peace in the American community is freedom of religious conviction and toleration among citizens of differing convictions. A uniform code on marriage and divorce could not be imposed with respect for the conscience of minorities or the variations of social character in our differing communities. Like the ill fated 18th amendment, it would be an act of tyranny.

In practical effect the national regulation would be to foster widespread revolt among citizens whose moral convictions were outraged, disrespect for law, and evasion. In many communities it would be looked upon as a blue law and would tend to make open adultery as prevalent in the United States as it is in European countries.

The judiciary committee of the senate, we trust, will realize the serious mischief of this proposal and promptly put it in its waste basket. There are already too many elements of discord in the American household. This would be one of the worst. The experience of the nation with the teetotal fanaticism of national prohibition has left no excuse for a perpetration of another blunder of the same sort.

Editorial of the Day

TROUBLESOME.

[New York Sun.]

Any thinker is prone to mischief, especially one a cut or so below first grade. First grade thinkers are almost invariably disturbers of the peace, but they are so rare and come along so seldom that the world can endure them to its ultimate advantage. The trouble with the others is that they so often kick up as great a shindy without ever getting themselves or anybody else anywhere. They are constantly proclaiming some new idea for regenerating the world which the world examined and set aside long back there, say, in the days of the peripatetic philosophers. It is all right for colleges to attempt to teach youngsters to think, but their main job is to assist them to think straight. Knowledge is the only sure foundation for that. If the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom a wholesome fear of reasoning on inadequate data should be its middle and its termination.

VISITORS ALWAYS want to see Gen. Grant's saddle at the Grand Army of the Republic headquarters in the public library, where we go today. Grim cannon, pistols, and flags of the historical exhibits are scanned with interest, but a section of tree, in which a cannon ball embedded itself at the Battle of the Wilderness, ranks next to the general's saddle with the public. Although the G. A. R. men's ranks are thinning, several of them still drop in during the day. They were given permission to build clubrooms in Dearborn park, where the library stands, in the seventies. The clubrooms never were built, though, and the city authorized the library there in the eighties. When the library was built clubrooms for the Civil War veterans were provided.

NO ONE CAN EXPLAIN why magicians have suddenly caught the fancy of night club fans. Now that the old Punch and Judy show has been freshened up by dummies with tailcoats and smartcracks, there aren't enough ventriloquists to go 'round. The experts are still trying to account for Benny Fields' overnight rise. One of the first crooners, he played the night clubs of the prohibition days with indifferent success. For a time he was accompanist for Blossom Seeley, whom he eventually married. She was a headliner; together they played on Broadway, but two years ago saw him on his way to oblivion. Friends got him a brief engagement at the Chez Paree—and suddenly his ballads made him the hit of the show. He went on to New York, where he received even greater acclaim. Then came the movies. Now he's heading the Chez Paree show again. No one can detect any difference in Benny. Some think he suddenly discovered how to adapt his voice, never of great volume, to the stage microphone. Some say Blossom's arranging his songs. But others suspect the public just suddenly began liking something it hadn't particularly noticed before, like magicians and ventriloquists.

THE SNAP-BACK FROM MELANCHOLIA.

MANY a family has been obliged to face, at some time or other, a case of melancholia—depression—which has fastened itself on some beloved member. The symptoms have a habit of appearing, continuing for a few days, and then vanishing as quickly as a morning mist. In fact, they may be so slight that the patient—unaware of the true situation—attributes his "low" feelings to some infection or to a disturbance of body functions. If actual pain is complained of that is the very time when some undiscerning surgeon may step in and subject the patient to an operative procedure.

The real character of the difficulty—when severe—may be disclosed by thoughts of suicide or by an attempt on the part of the victim to break away from his home environment. Most of these persons, before yielding to the manifestations, will exhibit what may be termed a tenseness, tightness, or nervous strain which—overlooked by those immediately in contact with him—will not escape the watchful eye of the trained observer. The sufferer will talk fluently, think logically, and possess a full sense of his responsibilities, both business and social; there will be no actual delusion, mental confusion, or loss of memory. Indeed, depression may not be mentioned, although there will be alibis in the shape of indigestion, sleeplessness, and even high blood pressure.

We must not forget that many normal persons are pessimists—it is their rule of life; others are sad; while still others have periods when they are unstrung, when they give way to uncontrollable outbreaks of joy or weeping, particularly if they are called upon to face some unusual situation.

What is the outlook? Fortunately, we can say with certainty that recovery is the rule, particularly in those who have exhibited no abnormal tendencies prior to the onset of the trouble. In addition, there is no reason to believe that once improvement has taken place a second seizure will come later. The individual is generally capable of engaging in all his activities after he gets well.

The thing to do, however, is to make certain that the set of circumstances which precipitated the initial episode is not reëstablished. Anything that calls for the needless expenditure of energy—nervous as well as physical—should be eliminated, and this includes men as well as women who take on civic duties, who are praised for the moment, but whose sacrifice is forgotten quickly.

The whole objective in treatment is to get the patient's coöperation to the point of looking ahead instead of dwelling on the past. It is a problem then of reëducating thinking and he can be placed on his honor to report promptly should "blue" thoughts overwhelm him. There is no use in ordering such a one to the seashore or in advising a change of climate or scene, nor is there the slightest advantage to be gained from psychoanalysis. I have known many of these people to do poorly under overly strict supervision. The chief feature of the better plan is both a physical and mental build-up in which the sufferer is permitted to resume work and participate in affairs gradually.

When health returns—and it may take months—the whole attitude may change slowly but surely to one of contentment and amiability in which there is little ambition to regain earning power. In time, however, the patient—relieved entirely of his tension—is able to sense affairs accurately. Then he can look back on his illness not only with complacency but with understanding.

AVOID EXCITEMENT.

Mrs. A. G. writes: Two years ago I had a cerebral hemorrhage. Since then I have a dazed feeling in my head. What do you advise me to do? When I am tired my mind refuses to function.

REPLY.

The blood clot in the brain probably has not been entirely absorbed. Keep your general health as good as possible by attention to nutrition, sleep, exercise, and elimination. Avoid worry and excitement. If you can't think as well as usual just rest a while.

MAY HEAR OWN HEART.

F. D. H. writes: A male, 59 years old, blood pressure 135, with no pain or apparent ills, and good habits, experiences a throbbing when trying to sleep at night. No trouble during the day. What could cause this disturbance?

REPLY.

You probably hear your heart beating. This may mean little or nothing. If the throbbing continues, ask your family physician to check up on the organ.

TREATING BURNING FEET.

J. W. writes:
1. What is the cause of burning underneath the feet?
2. What is good for this disorder?

REPLY.

1. The burning may be due to defective circulation or too much or too little blood in the skin.
2. Try soaking the feet nightly in hot water and then rubbing them thoroughly with olive oil or cold cream. Be sure the hose and shoes fit well and do not irritate the feet.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

MORTGAGE TRANSFER.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a mortgage be transferred from one mortgagee to another so first mortgagee may receive his principal in full? 2. Is there any expense attached to such a transaction?

3. If so who pays mortgagor or mortgagee? F. W.

1. If the first mortgagee transfers his rights to a second mortgagee, then obviously the first mortgagee will not be entitled to collect.
2. We cannot advise without knowing whether you are using the word "mortgage" in its technical sense and whether you have enough experience and resourcefulness to handle the matter for yourself.
3. The mortgagor is the original debtor. We do not see how he would be concerned in a transfer of the creditor's interest from one mortgagee to a second mortgagee.

ALIMONY.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—What moral and constitutional or even statutory law gives any judge the power of dictating to a man to pay so many dollars a week for the support of a woman and to send him to jail in case he is unable to pay it? Is not a man miserable enough after discovering that he has married the wrong woman? Why add any further to his troubles and grief? Why not as well jail a man for being unable to pay his rent or grocery bill? Is it a sense of humanity and benevolence that justifies the collection of alimony under coercion and force? If so, how many judges and lawyers have ever done anything to help alleviate the general economic conditions so any self-respecting man might support his dependents voluntarily? D. O.

FULLERTON AVENUE SERVICE.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—What can the people who use the Fullerton avenue "L" station do to get better service? Since last Monday it has been impossible to get standing room on the trains that stop at Fullerton during the rush hours—in particular the morning rush hours. We at least could get some service on the locals once in a while, but now they are so crowded that you cannot move in them. It seems to me that Fullerton should be an important express station considering the Milwaukee railroad and all the manufacturing companies located in that area, and also the hospitals and schools.

IDA COLSON.

THEY CAN'T TAKE IT.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—It is beginning to appear as though the American people will have to elect more rugged men to public office in the future. The health of our present crop of politicians is so precarious that they are constantly on the move from one vacation spot to another. The chief executive apparently has set the example and has developed the technique of getting the maximum amount of leisure out of his job to the point of its being almost an art.

We may expect any day now that Mr. Roosevelt will ask congress for two navies, one for national defense and one for deep sea fishing. As President of the world's largest corporation and chairman of the board, he calls the directors [congress and senate] to a special meeting that involves the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars in transportation and other costs and then leaves them high and dry to go fishing. His zeal for dodging his appointed duties has spread to lesser political lights who find it very convenient to dash off to Florida in winter, Wisconsin and other northern states in summer, as well as all the important baseball and football games and prize fights. A. W. M.

HE WANTS TO JOIN THE BIG CITY.

Gary, Ind., Dec. 4.—Is not there some way that Whiting, East Chicago, and Gary can be annexed to Chicago and get the advantage of big city government? GARYITE.

FROM A GRATEFUL FARMER.

Cambridge, Ill., Dec. 2.—I want to thank you for the wonderfully good cartoons of Nov. 25 by Mr. McCutcheon and Mr. Orr. They are surely representative of the times. But do not think all of us farmers are of this type. Most of us are really thankful to God for this bountiful gift, the harvest of 1937. We do not want government meddling with our crops, but rather to share with our more unfortunate brothers in other parts of our country that have not had a crop for years.

I am also thankful to THE TRIBUNE for its brave fight against regimentation and production control, where they can control nothing.

SPARE THE ROD.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—It has always been a pleasure during my years of residence in Chicago to read the kind, intelligent criticisms in your paper concerning the various musical, theatrical, and movie activities in our city; but during the past months this seems to have changed. I have attended opera performances and hundreds of them, some good, some bad, but really the malicious views and slanderous statements of Cecil Smith are certainly in bad taste. I fear the chap is badly in need of publicity and sees this way to obtain it. He knows nothing of music, etc., which is evident in many statements. Please do something about it so we may continue to read music criticisms and benefit by them.

JOHN A. THOMPSON.

HE THINKS IT'S A CONSPIRACY.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—I do not deny the right of big business to go on a sitdown strike—and only this factor is the cause of our current depression—but I do most emphatically state that your paper has not the right to deceive its readers when it does not print the actual facts concerning this strike, similar to the sitdown strikes engaged by labor.

I also admit the right of big business to demand a reduction in taxes on profits. But why are you such a strong champion of this reduction? Meanwhile you are conspicuous by your silence against the most vicious tax ever imposed on any people, and that is the Illinois sales tax.

As a stanch advocate of a free press, I anticipate you will publish these lines.

A. K. MORTON.

A ROLAND FOR THEIR OLIVER.

New York, Dec. 6.—Your editorial on the alliance of vice and crime in New York is too true.

Our politicians are up to their pocketbooks in the prostitution racket, the labor racket, the shakedown racket, even the murder racket. But how about your own state? The issue of your paper that convicted New York contained a story of a jail delivery in Illinois. What about the alliance of crime and politics there? BROOKLYNITE.

ETHIOPIA'S ACE.

Evanston, Ill., Dec. 1.—I notice in today's TRIBUNE a picture of Col. Hubert Julian, who is described as the ace of Ethiopia's air force during the Italian invasion. This is not true. Just before the war between Italy and Ethiopia broke out Julian was replaced by Mr. John C. Robinson of Chicago, who won world-wide fame when he fought off the attack of two Italian planes while flying the Emperor Selassie. ANTHONY POPE.

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

STATE street downtown is an aile of tall red lighted candles and Michigan avenue a lane of Christmas greens and holly wreaths, snow powdered. A Christmas tree made of silver bells stands in a corner window; children and grown-ups press against the panes to stare at the pair of dolls in a cabriolet, with gray plush lions on the box; at the mechanical chimpanzee that rides a kiddie-car, at King George of Great Britain in his royal coronation robes and Princess Elizabeth with a tiara on her curls. If you look about you in the crowd you're likely to see celebrities there, too. Yesterday it was Peggy Hopkins Joyce, in a mink coat and a hat with a dashing quill, looking young and pretty, too. She got off a New York Central train, was met at the station by a youngish gent, and they walked through the station to the crowded street like high school youths, she with an arm around his waist. . . . Lottie Lehmann was shopping yesterday, too, in a very beautiful mink coat, carrying a capacious handbag.

A WOMAN who traveled abroad last summer was entertained in Denmark by her former butler. He sent a handsome limousine to the station to meet her, kept her supplied with orchids, gave lavish parties, and saw that she met charming Danish people. High spot, perhaps, was when he accompanied her on a shopping tour. She was looking at some Danish flat silver and as she was about to make her selections her former butler reminded her, "O, but you have those pieces already in your silver chest in Chicago."

* *

THE Dane, a handsome, well educated man of good family, had come to America to recoup his fortunes. Having failed in what he attempted, he went into domestic service, and for four years served as butler in the same Chicago home. His parents in Denmark were unaware of his occupation and when they came to Chicago to see him the man and woman for whom he was working, who were to be away on a trip during the time his parents were in Chicago, permitted him to entertain them in their home on Lake Shore drive. The parents never knew it was not his own apartment. Several years ago he returned to Denmark, engaged in business, and now is a successful executive.

BIG city sights: The big, rough looking truck driver reading "Sweetheart Stories" and "Cowboy Romances" as he waited for his lunch in the drug store at State and Ohio streets.

THE thrill of the week for a girl who now lives in northern Michigan occurred while she was shopping at the tie department of a downtown store for men during a Chicago visit. She fell into a conversation with a fellow shopper who also was selecting ties. They chatted, comparing their tastes in ties, and when several of their selections happened to be identical she commented that hers were going out of town.

"So are mine," answered the young man beside her. Then she looked at him directly for the first time. It was Tyrone Power.

MRS. BORIN GETS $100 TO LAST HER TILL TOMORROW

Husband Borrows Check and Pen, Then Writes.

Nathan Borin, wealthy head of the Borin Art Products company, did not have the cash yesterday. Nor had he checkbook or pen. But he wound up, through the coöperation of Judge John J. Lupe and a court clerk, by writing a $100 check so his raven haired wife could struggle along until tomorrow when their domestic troubles will be aired again.

Mr. Borin came before Judge Lupe with his attorney, Si Herr, to contest the temporary alimony petition of his young wife, the former Claire Burman, who once sought a movie rôle as a "panther woman." She now lives at 4300 Sheridan road, and wants a divorce, on grounds of cruelty, and some alimony.

Wins a Continuance.

Attorney Herr asked a continuance of the hearing until tomorrow, which was granted. Mrs. Borin's attorney, Abe Marovitz, said he was agreeable, but that she was in financial straits, having received nothing since Nov. 8, when Borin gave her $125.

"Yes, and the next day she filed her divorce bill," interrupted Attorney Herr.

Attorney Herr stated that the crack about Peaches and Borin was untrue.

"Well, I think Borin should give his wife $100," declared Judge Lupe.

Mr. Borin said he didn't have it with him. His checkbook? Mr. Borin had left it at the office. So Judge Lupe gave him a blank check. Mr. Borin borrowed the court clerk's pen and wrote the check. Mrs. Borin smiled briefly.

Kind and Dutiful, He Says.

In answer to his wife's charge of cruelty Borin stated in a petition yesterday that he was a kind, indulgent, and dutiful spouse. Buh Mrs. Borin, he said, was guilty of "cruelty, indifference, constant nagging, irritability, using vile and approbrious epithets and reviling him before his friends."

"She is selfish and self-centered," his petition added. "Repeated separations and reconciliations were cleverly thought out in advance in order that monetary concessions would be made to her."

Mr. Borin said his wife could continue living in her "doll's house" which he rented after their last unsuccessful reconciliation two years ago. But he asks for an injunction to prevent her from disposing of its $10,000 furnishings.

Husband Pays

Mrs. Claire Borin, who is suing her husband, Nathan Borin, art dealer, for divorce. She was in court yesterday and after loud arguments on alimony, Borin signed a check for $100 which is to last until hearing tomorrow.

DENIES RETRIAL OF FARM SEIZURE AFTER STILL RAID

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday denied a motion for a new trial for John Jursich, whose 150 acre farm near Woodstock, Ill., was recently awarded by a jury to the government because of the seizure of a large still in a barn on the premises several months ago. The farm is valued at nearly $20,000.

Attorney Alfred Roth argued for Jursich that the government did not produce sufficient evidence that his client had knowledge that a still was located on the farm. Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Glasser said Jursich admitted at the trial that he had visited the farm while the still was in operation, which he said was sufficient evidence that he had knowledge, as the still had a distinct odor.

At the trial on Nov. 17 Jursich, who lives at 5525 Agatite avenue, testified he sold the farm to John W. Horn and received $2,400 on the price of $20,000.

Attorney Roth said he would appeal.

RECOVERS FROM POISON.

Frank Miller, 29 years old, 3920 Lake Park avenue, who swallowed poison early yesterday because he had lost his job as a painter one week after his wedding, was sent home from the Chicago hospital yesterday.

Boy of 14 Confesses Four Burglaries in One Night

Kenneth Altenburg, 14 years old, confessed to Evanston police yesterday that he had committed four burglaries for a total of $47 Sunday night. He is the son of Henry Altenburg, janitor of the building in which the family lives at 619 Davis street. A private watchman found the boy asleep in a garage at the rear of 1015 Sheridan road yesterday morning.

1,000 HAVE FUN, AND AID DRIVE OF GOOD FELLOWS

Second Luncheon Is Held by Traffic Club.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Spicing the serious with a bit of humor, more than 1,000 members of the Chicago Trafic club and their wives frolicked yesterday afternoon in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house at their second Good Fellow luncheon. From the proceeds of the party enough money was contributed to take more than 250 Good Fellow baskets loaded with food, toys, and candy to worthy families just before Christmas. And these baskets will be taken by the members.

Janice Porter.

The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop, lent the serious note to the affair when he said that it was for Good Fellows to carry out Christ's teachings and give succor to the poor and needy. Edgar Guest, kindly poet-journalist, dealt both in tears and good cheer as he joined poetry and prose in an interesting ten minutes.

Big Program of Music.

Then there were the W-G-N Northerners, under the direction of Harry Walsh; Miss Janice Porter, soprano of the Chicago City Opera company; Benny Fields, entertainer from the Chez Paree; Richard Schreiber, chosen best man vocalist in the 1937 Chicagoland Music Festival contest, and the Hill Toppers, tuneful trio from WLS.

Rube Appleberry [Lawrence Reed], radio's mythical baseball hero, in a skit with Paul Fogarty and Jess Kirkpatrick; Homer, the "human echo," and the dancing Three Elites received their share of the applause. Lew Diamond, popular Chicago bandmaster, ably handled the show with his orchestra.

How Every One Can Help.

J. J. Barrett is chairman of the distribution committee which will see that every basket is taken to a needy home the day before Christmas from the Chicago Tunnel company warehouse where they will be assembled.

If you are not affiliated with an organization staging some Good Fellow endeavor and if you wish to help call Superior 0100 and ask for the name of a needy family from the Good Fellow bureau. Then take a basket to these folks on Christmas eve. A Good Fellow coupon is printed in this edition for your convenience. The Good Fellow bureau is located at the Chicago Tribune's Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street.

$1,000 FURS STOLEN.

Three men in an automobile stopped before the Bernard Adlerblum fur store at 1145 Lake street, Oak Park, early yesterday, threw bricks through the window and carried off $1,000 worth of furs.

HUNT LAST TWO ESCAPED FELONS IN CITY HIDEOUTS

Of the seven felons who sawed their way out of the state reformatory at Pontiac last Saturday and escaped in a stolen automobile, only two remained at large last evening. Both were believed to be in hiding in Chicago after breaking through police lines which were set up to guard all highways when the escape was reported by radio.

George Le Fevre.

Driven into the open by cold and hunger, two more of the fugitives were captured yesterday. They are George Le Fevre, 23 years old, and Frank Digitis, 22 years old, both sentenced from Cook county for robbery.

Digitis was recognized by members of a roving squad of prison guards as he loitered near the railroad depot in Wilmington, nineteen miles south of Joliet. Le Fevre, who had only ninety days to serve before he could expect a parole, was taken into custody several hours earlier in a farm house near Elwood, twelve miles south of Joliet.

The two convicts who remained at liberty last evening were Lewis Rowski and George Sotak.

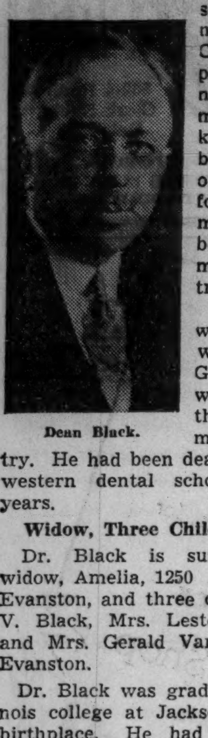
DR. BLACK, DEAN OF N. U. DENTAL SCHOOL, IS DEAD

Succumbs to Leukemia at Age of 67.

Dean Arthur Davenport Black of the Northwestern university dental school died last night in Swedish Covenant hospital after an illness of about six months from leukemia. He had been in and out of the hospital for the last few months and had been given numerous blood transfusions.



Dean Black.

Dr. Black, who was 67 years old, was the son of Dr. G. V. Black, who was known as the father of modern dentistry. He had been dean of the Northwestern dental school for twenty years.

Widow, Three Children Survive.

Dr. Black is survived by his widow, Amelia, 1250 Asbury avenue, Evanston, and three children, Gilmer V. Black, Mrs. Lester E. Dunbar, and Mrs. Gerald Van Doren, all of Evanston.

Dr. Black was graduated from Illinois college at Jacksonville, Ill., his birthplace. He had been on the Northwestern dental school faculty since 1900 as professor of oral surgery, professor of operative dentistry, and professor of oral pathology. In June of this year he was awarded the alumni medal for distinguished service to the university.

On Staf of St. Luke's.

Dr. Black for twelve years was on the staf of St. Luke's hospital. He was the author of a text on operative dentistry in four volumes and of more than 200 scientific articles. In 1930 he was a special guest and lecturer at the Eighth Quadrennial medical congress at Osaka, Japan, the first foreign dentist ever to lecture in Japan.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at St. Mark's church in Evanston, with burial in Memorial Park.

TRIAL OF $100,000 ALIENATION SUIT SET FOR MARCH

Trial of the $100,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Helen Liebmann of New York, former wife of a St. Louis physician, against Mrs. Maude Lepman, 5555 Everett avenue, was set over to the middle of March yesterday by Judge William H. Holly in federal court. Mrs. Lepman is the wife of Dr. Horace I. Lepman and the sister of Benjamin F. Lindheimer, former chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, and County Treasurer Horace Lindheimer.

Mrs. Liebmann, one time art model, filed the suit in June, 1935, two months before divorcing Dr. Jay Liebmann. The suit was dismissed in December, 1936 by Judge Holly for want of prosecution but was reinstated on the motion of the plaintif a few days later. The Liebmanns formerly lived in Chicago and were friendly with Dr. and Mrs. Lepman.

COUNTY RETIRES LAST OF 1936 TAX WARANTS DEC. 15

After a conference with Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer announced yesterday that on Dec. 15 the county will retire all outstanding 1936 tax warants, amounting to $977,000. This is the earliest that warants have ever been retired after the last tax payment deadline, which was Dec. 1 this year. This was made possible by increased tax collections. The move will mean a saving on interest being paid at 3 and 3½ per cent. The warants issued totaled $5,395,000.

Faith Bacon, the dancer who decorates her art with gardenias, bubbles, and other such accessories, yesterday accepted a $5,000 settlement of her $100,000 damage suit against the State-Lake theater. Her attorneys, Murphy O. Tate and George N. Welsh, accordingly dismissed the bill before Judge Robert C. O'Connell. Miss Bacon had 26 stitches taken in her legs on Dec. 5, 1936, when she fell through a glass topped box during a dance at the theater.

CHARLES W. FRY DIES; LABOR AND SCHOOL LEADER

Taken Ill After Trip to Coast.

Charles W. Fry, vice president of the Chicago board of education and a labor leader in the city for many years, died yesterday in the Ravenswood hospital following a brief illness. He was 68 years old.

Charles W. Fry.

As a member of a committee of school board members and industrialists Mr. Fry made an inspection tour of trade schools in San Francisco and Los Angeles late last month. He became ill following his return and last Saturday underwent an operation for a kidney ailment.

On Board Since 1933.

Mr. Fry was appointed a member of the board of education by Mayor Kelly on May 10, 1933. He was elected vice president on May 27, 1936, and was reëlected last May. His term as a member of the board would have expired next April.

His principal interest was in the technical and trade schools. He was a member of the board's finance and budget and lease committees.

Union Member 32 Years.

Mr. Fry was business manager of the construction and maintenance union, local 126, of the International Association of Machinists. He had been associated with the union for thirty-two years. He was also president of the Machinists Society of Chicago and in 1935 was named by the American Federation of Labor as a delegate to the British Trade Union congress in England.

Mr. Fry lived at 5959 South Francisco avenue. He is survived by his widow, Margaret. They have no children.

The funeral will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday from the chapel at 1946 Ogden avenue to St. Rita church, 63d street and Washtenaw avenue.

Bernard McDevitt.

Bernard McDevitt, 148 North Central avenue, employed in the city water pipe extension department for thirty-nine years, died yesterday in his home. He was 71 years old. Mr. McDevitt had been a resident of the west side for more than sixty-five years. He is survived by his widow, Therese; two daughters, and two sons. The funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from the home to St. Catherine of Siena church.

Otto W. Heileman.

Funeral services for Otto Wesley Heileman, 48 years old, construction foreman for the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, will be held at 2 p. m. today in a chapel at 201 Lake street, Maywood. His home was at 1438 South 12th avenue in that suburb. Mr. Heileman died Sunday in the Oak Park hospital. Surviving are his wife, Lillian, and two sons.

PROBATE COURT SPEEDS ESTATE LIQUIDATIONS

Liquidation of estates in the Probate court has proceeded thus far in 1937 at more than twice the pace of 1933, according to the annual report by Clerk Mitchell C. Robin yesterday to the county board.

The court this year has disposed of 10,925 cases, as compared with 10,283 in 1936, 9,233 in 1935, 7,071 in 1934, and 5,100 in 1933.

Credit is given both to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell for his eforts to spur liquidations and to rising market values in part of the year. Judge O'Connell warned yesterday, however, that the business recession may bring back many complications of depression years when estates could not be closed because of falling values and a sluggish real estate market.

WHAT TO DO? CITY HAS $5,000 FOR A HORSE TROUGH!

When David Wallach died in 1894 he willed the city $5,000 to build a combination drinking fountain and horse trough in the area east of Michigan avenue between 22d and 39th streets. The fountain was never built, and this fact rose yesterday to plague City Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes and his staf. The Continental National Bank and Trust company, trustee for the estate, has filed suit for an accounting in Circuit court. The Wallach heirs are willing to agree that the city should get the $5,000 but want the estate to receive $9,000 in interest that has accrued since 1894. Another embarrassing feature is that the park board doesn't want any horse troughs unless somebody will supply the horses.

Use Cushions to Deaden Noise in Blasting 3 Safes

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Using the lether cushions of office furniture to deaden the sound of the blasts safe crackers leisurely ripped open three safes in the offices of the Central Dental Laboratory company and escaped today with dental gold and platinum worth about $5,000.

HARLEM PUZZLED BY CANNED MUSIC AS DANCER WEDS

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Harlem admirers of Josephine Baker were elated when Paris received her with open arms as a music hall star a little more than a decade ago. When Josephine went to Prague she was received with wild acclaim. A contract to present her nude dance in Vienna stirred the Austrian parliament to protest. In Budapest she was greeted with stench bombs. The president of Argentina intervened when she appeared in Buenos Aires to present her nude dance. Harlem still claimed Josephine as its very own.

Then Josephine announced she had married a count, one De Albertini. French police said he was not a count, but Josephine said he was to play the rôle of one in a French film, so there. Harlem was satisfied. Then Miss Baker was made queen of the colonies for the colonial exposition in Paris in 1931, and Harlem was happy.

Harlem friends of the dancer learned today that Miss Baker's marriage in France last week to Jean Lion, French wholesale broker, was not in the best Harlem tradition. The music for the ceremony was provided by a talking machine.

Sweden Welcomes Lucia Day; Robert Taylor, Too.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 7.—Robert Taylor's welcome by the women of London and Paris was repeated on his visit to Stockholm, but a kiss planted on the Taylor cheek was not from an enthusiastic shop girl. The kiss was saved from being professional only by the fact that it was a necessary part of Swedish custom in observance of St. Lucia's day, and in this instance it was a preview. St. Lucia's day comes on Dec. 13. When Taylor appeared as the principal guest at a luncheon, Miss Sickan Carlson, film actress, appeared as Lucia and bestowed the kiss.

Don't take needless risks with CHEST COLDS

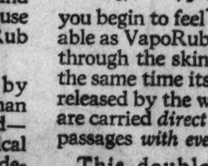
Relieve their misery this Proved way

WHEN there's a cold to treat—especially if it's a chest cold—that's no time to experiment. Relieve the misery with the treatment that has been doubly proved for you.

Here's What To Do: It's best to stay in bed and get lots of rest. Eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and keep elimination regular. And use your dependable Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

No Long Waiting for Relief to Begin... Vicks VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no risk of stomach upsets. You simply massage it on throat, chest, and back (as illustrated). Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.



Almost before you finish rubbing, you begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break up local congestion. And long after you relax into restful sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working—hour after hour.

LAMBS GO TO MARKET

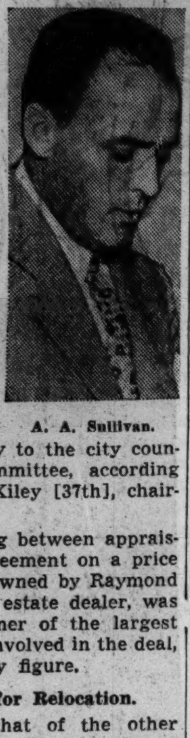
The first of the season's crop of lambs, 33 in all, together with two ewes and one yearling wether, were marketed recently. What the sale netted the Tribune experimental farm is the subject of Frank Ridgway's article on page 26 of today's Tribune.

On this page also are the farm lands want ads which each weekday appear adjacent to the farm article.

ACT TO CONDEMN LAND NEEDED TO ENLARGE AIRPORT

Ordinance to Acquire 160 Parcels Drawn.

Chicago's tangled airport expansion problem, which revolves now on the acquisition of property held by private owners, was advanced yesterday in two kindred actions.



A. A. Sullivan.

An ordinance authorizing the condemnation of 160 parcels of land needed to give the airport landing accommodations for new giant sky liners was drawn by Attorney Arthur A. Sullivan, the city's legal representative in airport negotiations. It will be presented today to the city council airport subcommittee, according to Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th], chairman.

The first meeting between appraisers seeking an agreement on a price for the 2¼ acres owned by Raymond E. Herman, a real estate dealer, was also held. As owner of the largest block of property involved in the deal, Herman is the key figure.

Land Needed for Relocation.

His land and that of the other property owners is needed for the relocation of the tracks of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad from 59th to 55th streets. At present they bisect the land which eventually will compose the enlarged airport.

The amount the city will pay the other property owners depends in a great measure on that which Herman will collect. John R. O'Connor, representing the city, has offered $20,000. Ernest Lyons, appraiser for Herman, asks $63,000.

Both appraisers, however, agreed to take the valuation placed by an impartial arbiter, Arthur Kruggel, newly installed president of the Chicago Real Estate board. After meeting with Lyons and O'Connor, Kruggel said he would confer with them again, probably within ten days, after he has studied the problem.

160 Lots Must Be Bought.

When the relocation plan was first under discussion it was thought condemnation proceedings would involve only 70 parcels of land. Under the final arrangements for shifting the tracks, however, Attorney Sullivan declared it was found that 160 separate lots must be purchased.

The need for a greatly enlarged landing field was emphasized yesterday when A. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, announced that the first of the new DC-4 40 passenger air liners will be given test flights and placed on exhibition in the spring.

They will be unable, however, to land here due to inadequate space, he said. Ald. Kiley promised that the field will be ready for the new ships when they are put in regular service next fall.

STOVE GAS KILLS TWO.

Siamese Prince, Auto Race Driver, to Wed British Girl

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The engagement of Prince Birabongse of Siam and Miss Ceril Heycook, which was announced recently, will provide London with another royal wedding. The prince is popularly known on Europe's motor racing tracks as Prince Bira. Miss Heycook is the daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. P. R. Heycook. Prince Bira, a son of the late Prince Bhanurangsri of Siam, recently won the 1937 Gold Star, premier award for British race drivers.

WAUKEGAN JUDGE JAILS ANOTHER DRUNK RELIEFER

The drive against drunken reliefers in Waukegan was continued by Police Magistrate Clarence L. Brown yesterday when he sentenced one colored man to jail for five days and held another to the grand jury. The first reliefer caught in Judge Brown's drive was sent to jail last Saturday.

John Campbell, 55 years old, 960 Indiana avenue, Waukegan, was the man sent to jail yesterday. He was arrested Monday on a drunk and disorderly charge after he had used $6.75 given him by Harold Pillifant, township supervisor, for liquor instead of groceries.

At the conclusion of Campbell's case Judge Brown and Pillifant met and agreed that no more cash will be given to drunken reliefers in Waukegan. Grocery orders will be substituted for the cash.

Milton Jones, 37 years old, colored, of 551 Market street, Waukegan, a WPA worker, was held for the grand jury in $2,000 bond on a charge of drunken driving. He was involved in an accident Sunday night. Court attaches said that the usual action in such a case in Waukegan is a fine of $50.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Members of the Royal Air Force in training at Cranwell, Lincolnshire, have found a new interest in their work. The reason is simple enough. Wing Commander J. R. Cassidy interrupted routine by inviting a team of German girls who have been appearing on the London stage to give a demonstration of their means of improving physical fitness. The apprentices watched with interest as the girls performed on gyro wheels. They are hoping for a repeat performance.

"THE BOSS SAYS I'M ON THE SKIDS!"

"REGULAR" FOLKS GET AHEAD!

Kellogg's All-Bran will make you "regular" as the clock's tick—but without medicines and without regrets. Instead of over-stimulating your intestines, it provides two things they lack and want. First, "bulk"—All-Bran absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Next, Nature's intestinal tonic, Vitamin "B_1". Eat two tablespoons of Kellogg's All-Bran daily and drink plenty of water. If you do this regularly, you can avoid common constipation—and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

College Girl Is a Winner at the Piano

BY CECIL SMITH.

Natalie Rudeis, a 17 year old scholarship student in her first year at the University of Chicago, last night took enough time away from syllabi and preparation for classes to play a piano recital in Kimball hall. It was technically her debut, for a first professional downtown recital is always a debut for newspaper purposes. Actually, however, she had already won the approval of a critical audience last winter when she played with Carl Bricken and the University of Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Miss Rudeis is a winner. With no fuss and feathers she simply sits at the piano and plays with a degree of competence one hardly expects to find in a girl whose main business is getting a college education.

She has all the technique she needs for all practical purposes. Her scales and arpeggios are clean and rippling. Her tone in expressive passages accomplishes the difficult feat of making the piano sound like a singing instrument. Her rhythm is accurate, sure, and excellently accented.

Above all else she is remarkably musical. Her feeling for the curve of a phrase, the intuitive rightness of her rubato and her understanding of the way the parts of a composition fit together in the whole are not qualities gained entirely in the studio.

One of the most gratifying impressions Miss Rudeis leaves is that of womanliness. It is not a part of her desire to try to compete with her masculine colleagues in brilliant bravura playing. With proper self-realization she should become another valuable pianist on the order of the matchless Guiomar Novaes. Certainly big things are ahead of her, if all goes well.

Sun lamps are a grand thing in the winter, but most of them are expensive. There's another type of lamp that costs only a few dollars and that has come to be a standby in more than one family we know.

It's an infra-red health lamp, giving quick, penetrating heat rays. It has brought relief to people suffering from aches, pains, soreness, and colds. Of course, it is not a cure-all, but it is one of those grand, comforting things to have around the house.

Makes Debut as Model

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Two year old Sarah, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Shambaugh, seems to be peering into the future, wondering, no doubt, what Santa Claus will bring her. She made her debut as a fashion show model yesterday. The bright yellow overalls Sarah was wearing when this picture was taken were so becoming it is almost certain that the little lady will find them in her stocking on Christmas morning.

Princesses Given Treat Missed During Abdication

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, young daughters of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain, today enjoyed a Christmas treat which was postponed last year because of the abdication crisis. With Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mother Mary they saw "A Christmas Story," a play performed in the famous West End church, St. Martin's-in-the-Fields.

Child's Skill Is Developed by Playthings

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The right playthings for your child was the subject we talked about the day before yesterday. Its importance and general suggestions for selection were given in that article.

Today I want to give you a few more hints and then list some toys and playthings. What I want to point out is that the very young children play best with big things and enjoy rather heavy and clumsy ones to pull around; their fine muscular skill is not well developed. As children grow older they become increasingly able to handle detailed work and play.

If you are not sure of just what your child is equal to, observing him about the house in his handling of objects and in the things that he is interested in will act as a guide. So much for that. Now let us list some of the things that the children under 3 enjoy.

The range for the baby is not very great. Under 12 months and around that time in general, objects that he can watch and grasp at form his chief play interest. Various sorts of rattles, soft balls of the right size for his hands that will not roll away from him, and bath toys are all good purchases. Some of the soft woolly toys or animals, some rubber or wooden toys he can get a great deal of amusement out of.

Then as he gets along and becomes a "run-about" we find the greatest widening of play range. He loves all the "legitimate" toys and a lot of "illegitimate" objects—meaning conventional toys and also many things that you would much rather he wouldn't play with. Here your cue is to duplicate for him some of your own grownup possessions, even if it is only a wooden spoon that he can have for his very own, for banging and beating—not cake, but the floor or a tin pan!

Here is an actual list:

Coal shovels, pails, sand shovels, sink shovels, wooden spoons, trowels, footstools, low tables, solid; low solid chairs, big soft balls, hammer, nails, blocks, large solid 6"x4"x3"; blocks, large solid [paving blocks] 8"x4"x4"; blocks, large hollow 8"x8"x4"; smaller, round corner blocks, animals, soft; dolls, soft.

Squares of cloth in primary colors to wrap dolls in, irons to iron squares, wagons, four wheeled, with sides and without; pieces of wood to load in wagon, wheelbarrow, slide, kiddie cars.

Two planks nailed together, raised an inch, which can be laid flat or inclined to increasing degrees of steepness; sandboxes, pebble boxes, swings made of big squares of wood, hung by parallel ropes at four corners, a foot or less from ground, loops of heavy rope suspended from beam about 7 feet high, loop to be about 2 feet to 3 feet long; bottom of loop about 1 foot from ground.

This subject will be continued tomorrow.

The full leaflet of "Toys and Playthings for Children of All Ages" will be sent out on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

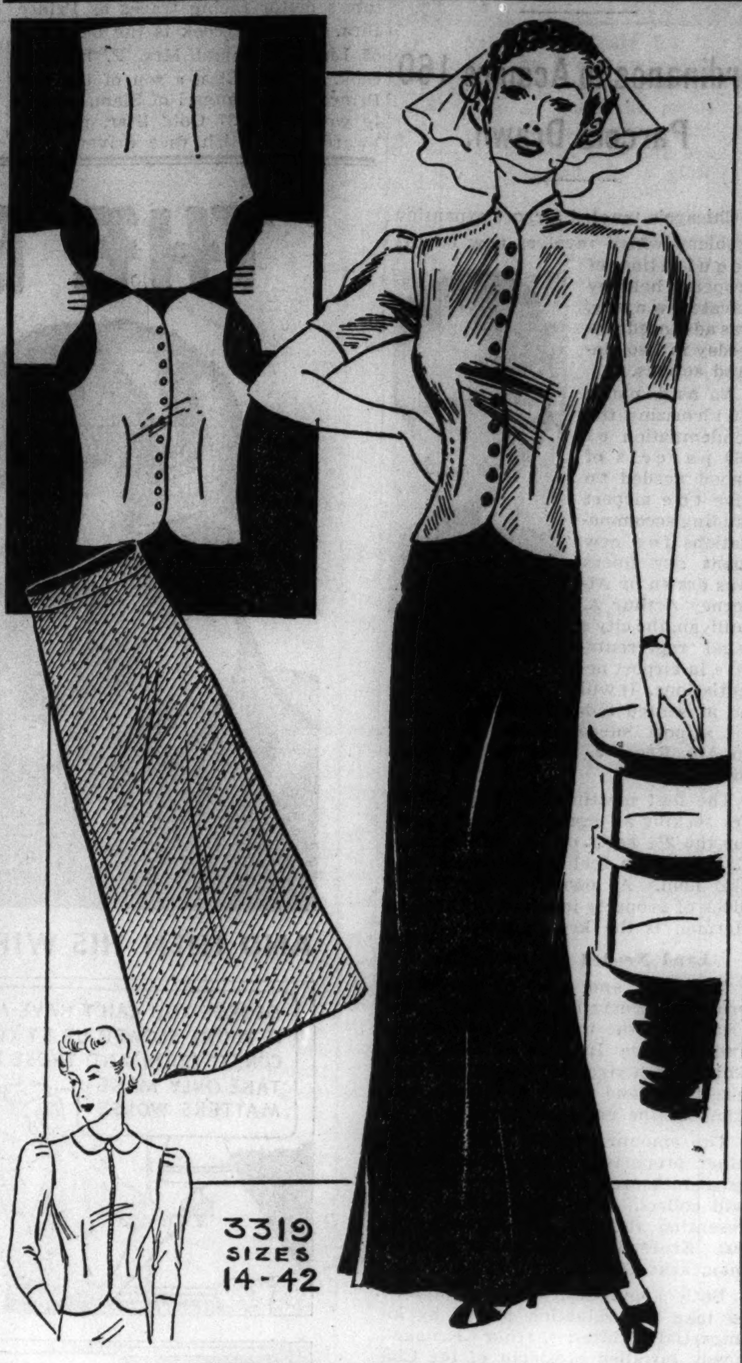
In the Semi-Formal Mood



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

If you're on a clothes budget [and who isn't?] you will appreciate the versatility of this semi-formal model. It consists of a blouse and skirt which may go to all kinds of informal events, from luncheon and tea to cocktail parties and dining out. It all depends upon the length of the skirt. If you're wise you will follow our suggestion—make two skirts, one in street length and the other gracing the instep, to go with a gleaming satin or metal cloth blouse. The latter has a high and collarless neckline, puffed sleeves rather squared, and a tight bodice with buttons in a sparkling row down the front. Just as simple as the blouse is the trim skirt which, if long, may be slit in the Parisian manner at the side seams.

If you're a practical soul with beaux on a budget which seldom allows dining out in swanky style, you probably have more need for a street ensemble of silk or woolen skirt with tailored daytime blouse. All of the silks will make up well for this purpose.

Style No. 3319 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2⅜ yards of 39 inch material for the floor length skirt, and 1¾ yards of 39 inch fabric for the short-sleeved blouse.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Today's menu for the tired business woman offers a multiple choice in desserts. If you like stirring things up in a mixing bowl, you may have the quick spice cakes with baked frosting. If you feel weary or just plain lazy, don't bother with the cakes, but stop at the bakery for [1] cream puffs, or [2] chocolate eclairs. Many bakeries have really good puffs and eclairs, usually better ones than you could make at home.

Here's the rest of the plan for this time saving dinner.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S DINNER.
Pork Link Potatoes
Fresh Cooked Spinach with Bacon Fat and Vinegar Seasoning
Tokay Grape, Kumquat and Cream Cheese Salad
Baking Powder Drop Biscuits. [Using Drop Biscuits [Using Prepared Mix.] Jelly
Coffee

The potatoes are fun to prepare, and you can forget them once they are in the oven. Here's what to do.

PORK LINK POTATOES.

Choose rather small baking potatoes, scrub them and oil the skins. Using an apple corer, cut a hole from end to end, and insert a pork link sausage in each potato. Place in a 425 degree oven to bake for 45 minutes or so, until the potatoes are tender.

TOKAY GRAPE, KUMQUAT AND CREAM CHEESE SALAD.

Seed the grapes and slice the kumquats, skin and all, very thinly removing seeds. Arrange the fruit attractively on individual lettuce covered salad plates with balls of cream cheese which may be rolled in nuts or not, as preferred. Pour French dressing, made with lemon juice, over the combination.

Quick Spice Cakes with Baked Frosting.

[8 small cakes.]

- ¼ cup butter
- ½ cup brown sugar, sifted and packed into cup
- 1 egg
- 1 cup flour
- ⅛ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon cloves
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup sour milk

Cream butter and add brown sugar gradually. Mix well and beat in unbeaten egg. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour milk, beating after each addition. [If you haven't any sour milk on hand, fresh milk may be soured quickly with the addition of a few drops of vinegar]. Turn into small greased muffin pans, and cover with a topping made by beating an egg white until stiff and then beating into it ¾ cup brown sugar [sifted]. Sprinkle nuts over the top. Place in a 350 degree oven for 25 minutes.

You will note a difference in oven temperatures recommended for various items in this menu. The temperature for baking the potatoes is a little high for the cake, but all will go well if the cake is placed in the oven about 10 or 15 minutes before the dinner is ready to serve, and the heat adjusted for it. Then the cakes may finish baking while the meal is being served, so that they are warm when brought to the table. I think they are at their best when fresh from the oven.

Husband Stays Home in Play Forecasting Clubwoman of 2037

Eight thousand members living in a building 300 stories high . . . their husbands relegated to the home . . . their leader a queen with dictatorial powers . . . numbers instead of names . . . meals of chemical tablets prepared by robots. . . .

This fanciful picture of the Chicago Woman's Aid 100 years hence was presented at a luncheon celebrating the organization's 55th anniversary yesterday at the Standard club.

The clubwoman's day in 2037 will begin at the same time as her fellow members' when she is aroused by a "telespeech" over a central loud-speaker system, according to the play, which was written by Mrs. Perry Segal, a member. If a clubwoman weighs less than 130 pounds, she will eat one assortment of tablets, if over 130, another, and no variations permitted.

When a member announced sextuplets, the queen dictator exclaimed reprovingly, "Only six! See that you do better in the future! Why, away back in 1934 a Mrs. Dionne had quintuplets."

Buds to Start Busy Holiday Whirl Dec. 19

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOME of the college boys and girls, who will come home for Christmas, hardly will have time to unpack their trunks and bags before they are drawn into the whirl of good times that will fill the holidays. Those who arrive before the 19th will have a little time to spend with their parents, do a little shopping, or perhaps rest a bit, but those who do not arrive until that date—and many of them come on the morning of the 19th or night before—will have no time for parents, shopping, or rest.

The hocky game on Sunday night, the 19th, will attract many to the near west side and at least two parties for debutantes will be given in the Stadium that night. The Mellen C. Martins and the Frederick Burnhams have invited about fifty to dine with them at the Racquet club and then go to the hocky game. The Martins are entertaining for four Winnetka buds, Nancy Blaine, Sally Jane Crowder, Margot Webbe, and Nancy Wolcott.

Miss Barbara Austin Will Bow That Day.

Earlier that day the George Voevodskys will give a luncheon at their new home in Libertyville for debutantes Betty Lord and Laura Moyer.

The 19th will have its debutante, too, for Miss Barbara Austin is being presented that afternoon at a tea at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Austin of Glencoe. That evening the Stanley Peirces and the junior Lyman Drakes are giving a buffet supper party for Miss Austin at the Peirces' home in the same north shore town.

Another debutante luncheon on the 19th will be given by the Arthur Sullivans at their home in Winnetka. The especial guest will be Miss Crowder, who also will be given a party on the 29th by the John Walter Millers of Winnetka. Instead of giving a dinner as they planned originally, the Millers will take their young guests to supper and to dance at the Bal Tabarin following the Mask and Wig show.

The University of Pennsylvania alumni are sponsoring the supper-dance. The Sullivans' son, Arthur Jr., will be at home from Dartmouth in time for the luncheon his parents are giving for the popular and pretty Sally Jane Crowder.

Martin Children Arrive Dec. 17.

The Mellen Martins' daughter and son, Marilyn and Edward, will return home for the holidays on Dec. 17. Marilyn, who goes to Monticello college, will not be a debutante for two years, but Edward, who is at the University of Michigan this year, will be in the stag line at all the debutante balls this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rice, as parents of students at Monticello, will be among those assisting at the Monticello college centennial dinner to be given Friday night at the Palmer house. Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde will be the speaker.

Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, who is presenting her elder daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, to society at a ball at the Blackstone hotel on Dec. 27, will entertain for her younger child, Barbara McClurg, on the 29th when the Mask and Wig club of the University of Pennsylvania presents "Fifty-Fifty" in the Chicago Civic Opera house.

Miss Alberta Woodruff Will Become Bride.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Alberta Estelle Woodruff, daughter of Mrs. Harvey T. Woodruff and the late Mr. Woodruff of Evanston, to Harry Albert Hunsberger of Evanston.

Miss Woodruff was educated at the Roycemore school and Northwestern university. She is an active member of the Evanston Junior league. Her fiancé, who has just returned from a month's vacation in Bermuda, is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He is on the committee sponsoring the university's Mask and Wig show in Chicago this winter. The wedding is planned for the spring.

An attractive visitor in the city is Miss Fayette Smith, who will be with her aunt, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr of Lake Shore drive, until the 18th. Miss Smith and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith, moved to New York some years ago and this is the first time Fayette has been back except for a brief stay in Lake Forest with Mrs. Carr a year and a half ago.

Arts Club Has Chinese Exhibit of Rare Beauty

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A beautiful exhibition of Chinese porcelains, lackered furniture, paintings, pottery, and bronzes opened yesterday at the Arts club to continue through Dec. 19. The collection is lent by C. T. Loo of Paris and New York. Mr. Loo has brought other rare and lovely Chinese pieces to the Arts club, but this exhibit is unique in that each object might very easily find a place in the average home.

At the entrance to the gallery there stands a magnificent yellow horse of the T'ang dynasty [618-906 A. D.]. The trappings of the horse are stunning and the animal stands on a piece of simulated rug, an unusual detail. Because of the richness and beauty of the animal and its trappings one knows that it was an officer's horse, belonging to some man of high rank. Behind it is an exquisite white lacker screen. At the end of the gallery is another magnificent screen with a gold background.

The "Wooden Maitreya," on a pedestal near the horse, is of carved wood lackered. It is an unusually perfect figure and one that is harmonious and pleasing. Near it is a "Stone Apsara," or flying angel, from some carved relief in a Buddha's temple. The Graeco-Buddhic relief across is interesting, suggesting Greek influence.

There are cases of little bronze figures and of terra cotta figures; there is a fascinating case showing lovely porcelains, many of them of birds and animals, pieces that are scarce today. There is a unique collection of Ming objects in another case and an exceptional showing of early bronzes; here again the animals figuring in it are extremely rare. The 18th century imperial porcelains are among the most beautiful pieces shown.

In the little gallery several very beautiful pieces of lacker furniture have been arranged, with the imposing screen as foil. On the walls are a few stunning paintings and a few choice jars or figures are placed on the various surfaces. The furniture is not formal; it has the gracious simplicity of the finest workmanship.

Possibly the sculpture by Atanas Katchamakoff in the round gallery would not appear so insensitive and flat were it not shown in combination with the Chinese art. As it is one feels a drooping of the spirit as one glances at "The Story of Bread," a series of carved reliefs which are rather reminiscent of Rivera.

The most imaginative and satisfying piece is "Prayer." The "Madonna" is badly named as the figure in no way suggests the character of Mary, but rather fits those free and inspiring young persons who shelter under "Spring" and "Inspiration."

EXHIBITORS ATTEND TEA

Both Mr. Loo and Mr. Katchamakoff were at the tea which opened the exhibits. The tea tables were upstairs in the dining rooms, which made for comfort in seeing the shows and in having tea. The rococo pale blue dining rooms never looked gayer than they do now with new shades and shields on the lights of the plaster chandeliers and sidelights, for the new accessories are in brilliant colors. The attractive cocktail room was crowded, too, the cold weather and snow flurries making many glad to sip something stronger than tea and coffee.

Many who were at the club had been to the Roullier galleries to meet R. Stephens Wright and to see his original etchings. "To meet" hardly is the proper term, because the young artist was a Chicago boy, although he now lives in California.

Peter Lehman, Son of N. Y. Governor, Engaged to Wed

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—The engagement of Peggy Lashanska Rosenbaum to Peter Lehman, son of Gov. Lehman, was announced today by Mrs. Harold A. Rosenbaum, mother of the bride-to-be, of 550 Park avenue. The wedding will take place early next summer. Young Lehman is attending Lehigh university. Miss Rosenbaum is a student at Sarah Lawrence college, Bronxville. Her mother was known on the concert stage as Mme. Hulda Lashanska.

For Dancing at Resorts

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Gather round, all you luxury loving chickadees and gift hunters, while we tell you about the "champagne" bath! It's divine fun and the "champagne" is one of the knockout gift items of the year.

This isn't really champagne, but it looks like it and acts like it. It comes in two sizes, a large size and a split—and it's done up exactly like the lovely bubbly stuff the reformers hate and the wasters adore. The bottle is bound in gold cord, its neck swathed in chamois, complete with impressive seals and ribbons. What's more, it's bedded in golden cellophane imitation straw.

The large size is the most elegant; it comes in a charming wicker wine hamper and looks wickedly grand. We'd put this down as a remarkably good gift. It's not as expensive as the description of all the ritzy trappings might lead you to think. And you must admit that it's a unique idea.

The "split" is a shade less grand in size or splendor, but every bit as chic. We don't see how any woman could resist either. The "champagne" itself is an amber liquid. A teaspoonful of it dropped into the bath under full pressure transforms the water into a sea of iridescent bubbles. It has a sparkling cologne fragrance.

As a bath trimming it's tops; your bath is exhilarating and ultra-luxurious. Take your champagne this way and you'll have lots of fun but no headaches!

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Resort Styles Win Notice of Yule Shoppers

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Pity the susceptible clothes collector with Christmas money to spend. Just in the thick of the annual shopping binge for the other fellow come the resort fashions, new and colorful, and darn good competition for anything in the way of Christmas loot.

If you pass them by without spending a cent you're good material for budget balancing.

High lights of the passing shows are crisp pleated skirts. The pleats are narrow and stitched down to way below the hipline and the pleats go all the way round. Dresses for daytime and evening boast these pleats and these outfits are just about the most becoming things you ever lost your heart to.

Stripes are everywhere, with the equatorial formation the most popular. But this going round and round idea is surprisingly slenderizing, so don't be afraid to wear them. More narrow stripes in a riot of contrasting colors make the smartest of gay beach outfits, and the loose swinging separate jackets used for top contrast for skirt of dress. Flowered motifs in band or stripe effects are good for daytime sports or evening clothes.

Chartreuse green appears the color favorite, and we predict that it will be the choice of the season. Faded raspberry and a dusky pink compete for second place. Prints are lovelier and more feminine than ever. Combinations of plain and print outfits are popular. An amusing costume has the back of the dress in print, the front plain, and a coat with a plain yoke and other parts made with the print in front and a one color plain back.

Resort clothes stress streamlines—snug little short jackets, trim short skirts, and neat waistlines. You'll still need a figure to wear these new arrivals.

Reefer coats of deep blue or black are accented with sugar-white buttons. High colored tweed suits, faded pastels, and white shark skins make the smartest clothes active or spectator shorts.

New swim suits have zippers down the back. New materials include silk moire and sleek satin lastex. Some suits have a flaring skirt cut in one piece with the jersey underlayers. Gunmetal blue, raspberry, and pale chartreuse are three new colors in the swim suit shows.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Bill Powell Takes Stand

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 8.

Q.—You swear to tell the——

A.—Do you like it out here?

Q.—Yes, I do. Do you swear to tell——

Bill Powell once an usher.

Q.—Mr. Powell, if you'd be so kind, I'm interviewing you.

A.—Quite so. Of course I swear I'll tell the approximate truth. And I trust that you'll be good enough to write the approximate truth. There was a reporter in Chicago once who——

Q.—Is it true that you were once an usher in a Kansas City theater?

A.—It certainly is true. In fact, I am quite proud of it, one of the few really worthwhile things I've done in the theater. But I kept my amateur standing. I didn't get paid for it. You see, the only ushers who got paid were those who worked in the audience. I never made the grade and when I quit I was still seating Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doakes in the balcony with a flashlight for a glowworm.

Q.—Do you remember any great performers who played that theater while you were seating contented customers in the stratosphere?

A.—It wasn't that kind of a theater. We didn't get any GREAT acts at the Kansas City Opera house. The two other opposition houses got the topflighters. We got the grade B performers, because we charged less. However, we got one break.

Q.—Is that so?

A.—No columnists ever made personal appearances.

A.—I hope.

A.—Quite a long time, Edward. Since 1912.

Q.—You're clowning?

A.—No, my first Broadway stage play was in 1912—"The Ne'er Do Well." In 1913 I played in "Within the Law." It ran two years in New York. Remember it?

Q.—When I was going to St. Mary's, at Port Chester, I used to rush home to read it every night in the New York papers. It ran as a serial. How did you get into pictures?

A.—Al Parker and John Barrymore did it, I guess. Parker was a director. He took me up to see Barrymore, who was about to make "Sherlock Holmes." Parker said: "Jack, I think that Bill would be great for your picture." Barrymore said: "I wouldn't be at all surprised." So that's how I got into pictures.

Q.—You said you were an usher in Kansas City.

Q.—Then you were born there?

A.—No, I came from Pittsburgh. My dad was a public accountant and he switched to Kansas City. Quite a few theatrical people come from the Pittsburgh area. In fact, the only musical show in which I ever appeared was produced by a Pittsburgher, Earl Carroll.

Q.—You knew, of course, that Pandro Berman, Dave Selznick, Mrs. Mervyn Le Roy, James Stewart, Frank McHugh, June Clayworth, Johnnie Weissmuller, Allan Jones, Michael Whalen, and Alma Kruger all come from Pittsburgh or its suburbs?

A.—I do.

Q.—Then why didn't you stop me?

A.—I should have. You read your lines very badly.

Q.—You're not at all as I'd pictured you—in the first place, you're taller——

A.—I'm six feet.

Q.—In the second place, you're much graver than I expected you to be.

A.—I save it for my public.

Q.—Your success story would furnish an inspiring document to the youth of America, don't you think?

A.—No, I don't. Survey it dispassionately. I worked as an usher and never got paid. I worked at the Home Telephone company in Kansas City and got $50 a month. Out of that I tried and failed to save enough money to go to New York and study dramatics at the Sargent school.

Q.—But you made the grade?

Q.—That doesn't make sense.

A.—I wrote a letter to her explaining why the world and myself would be indebted if she loaned me $1,411 so that I could go to Sargent for two terms. I itemized the probable living expenses in New York.

Q.—So?

A.—So she gave me $700 and I took off to New York. If that's an inspirational document, I'll eat it.

A.—You, too?

Q.—You introduced Luise Ranier very charmingly to the American public in your first picture with her. At the end of the picture you brought her out on the screen and said you thought she'd be an American favorite. Why don't you do the same thing with Annabella?

A.—She has a big European reputation. Maybe she wouldn't like it.

Q.—They could drop it from the European prints.

A.—It's not a bad idea at that. I'll take it up with Darryl. In the meantime——

Q.—In the meantime?

A.—Thanks for something you wrote about me about ten days ago, and good luck to you out here.

Woman's Field Army Urges Early Treatment to Win Cancer Fight

Some 60,000 of the 140,000 who yearly lose their lives through cancer can be saved if they are taught the importance of receiving treatment early, Mrs. Marjorie B. Illig, national commander of the women's field army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, told representatives of the city's leading women's organizations yesterday at the Hotel Sherman. She spoke at a luncheon sponsored by the Illinois division of the army.

Although most people regard the disease as incurable, there are 29,000 authenticated cases of cures, Mrs. Illig said.

"Early cancer is curable; fight it with knowledge—that's the message of hope we want to get across," Mrs. Illig declared.

RUN!
By Patricia Wentworth

[Copyright: 1937: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.]

SYNOPSIS.

Delivering a new car to a customer, James Elliot, lost in the fog, finds himself on some one's estate. Groping his way in the dark house he stumbles over a bicycle. The front door is ajar. Entering, his flashlight reveals a girl, who commands him to "run!" A shot whistles after them as they flee to hide in the hayloft. The girl tells James she was searching for a necklace her dying aunt Clementa had told her was hidden in the house. The girl vanishes before James can learn more. At his cousin Daphne's party James meets the girl. She is Sally West, the sister of his college chum, Jocko West. She hints of danger to him—because of what he saw—her brother and herself. Sally is terror-stricken when Ambrose Sylvester, the uncle, and his wife, Hildegarde, arrive. Jackson, a rival salesman, takes credit for driving the car the night of the fog and is run over on the road and killed.

INSTALMENT XV.
A SOLEMN VOW.

Mr. Hartley was a car tester. He didn't like buying cars, he liked trying them. When he had worn out the patience of one firm he passed easily to another. By the time James got away he was feeling quite murderous. Mr. Hartley knew a great deal more about cars than any one in the trade. Mr. Hartley was prepared to give driving hints to any expert alive. James reflected gloomily that Mr. Hartley was the sort that wanted his face pushed in.

All through the afternoon his mind was most dreadfully weighed down by the thought that something might be happening to Sally—now, at this very minute, whilst he was talking to this ass Hartley about automatic chassis lubrication, pre-selector gears, and down draught carburetors. If any one had seen that bicycle, he thought Sally stood the same chance of being put out of the way as Jackson did when he claimed to have driven the car on that foggy afternoon.

James' humanitarian feelings kept on getting stronger and stronger. As soon as Hartley left he rang up his cousin Daphne. That is to say he rang up his Cousin Daphne's house. Daphne, he discovered, was at a cocktail party. Beyond the fact that she was dining out, and so, presumably, would return home to change, no one could give him any idea of what time he would be able to catch her. He rang again at a quarter to seven, at seven o'clock, and at a quarter past. He was still talking to a footman who sounded inexpressibly bored when he heard Daphne say "Who is it?" The footman's cautious "Mr. Elliot" brought her to the line.

"James, is that you? Darling, whatever you want, do make it snappy, because I'm going to be out all night, and there's a man waiting to do my hair, and a girl waiting to do my nails while Marthe does my face, so you see—"

James saw. He made it very snappy, indeed. He said:

"I want Sally West's address and her telephone number."

Daphne laughed. It was a silvery laugh, which meant she was going to be irritating. He said in a tone of cold ferocity:

"I don't see anything to laugh at—and you're keeping your hairdresser waiting. I want Sally's address."

"And her telephone number. Don't forget her telephone number."

"I won't," said James. "What is it?"

Daphne laughed again. This time it was more of a giggle.

"Darling, I can't give it to you. She absolutely made me swear."

"What nonsense!"

"I know, darling, but I don't see what I can do about it. I couldn't break a solemn vow."

"Couldn't you?" said James in his nastiest voice. "I should have thought you'd had any amount of practice. I seem to remember—"

"Darling, how unkind!" I couldn't have believed you'd be so vindictive."

"Sally's telephone number," said James shortly.

"Darling, I positively can't. She made me swear—like glue."

"Well, look here," said James, "will you ring her up—now, at once? No waiting till you've had your hair done and forgetting all about it and going off to your blighted party and not coming home till the middle of tomorrow morning?"

"O, well," said Daphne. "James, I think you get ruder and ruder."

"Are you going to do it—at once, as soon as I ring off—and then ring me up again and tell me whether you've got her?"

"All right. It's going to make me late."

"It doesn't matter how late it makes you. And, Daph—no messages—you've got to speak to Sally herself. If she's out, ask where she is and get her, get her somehow. I've got to speak to her at once. And hold your tongue about it, Daph!"

James rang off.

It was about twenty minutes before Daphne's call came through.

"Darling," she said, "I've worked like a black, and I shall be half an hour late for dinner, so I hope you're feeling really fervid, because of course she was out, and I had to track her to about six cocktail parties and she'd always just left as I got there. And she says—here's the important part—she says she'll ring you up at once."

"Then you'd better get off the line," said James.

"Darling! You overwhelm me! I never expected such gratitude!"

"Don't be an ass, Daph," said James, and rang off.

Five minutes later the bell rang again. A very faint, distant voice said "Hullo!"

James said "Hullo!" and the voice said, "Who is speaking?"

"James Elliot."

The voice said, "It's Sally. Daphne said you wanted to speak to me."

"Yes, I must. It's frightfully important. I want to see you."

Sally's voice sounded a little regretful.

"Sorry, James Elliot, it can't be done."

"What?"

"I can't tell you like this. I've got to see you."

There was such a long pause that he thought they had been cut off, but when he said "Hullo!" she said:

"All right—I'm here—I was just thinking. You're sure it's important?"

"Yes."

"Very well—just this once. We oughtn't to meet, you know. Or you don't know, but—we oughtn't to."

James took no notice of this.

"Where shall we meet?" he said.

"I'm supposed to be going to a dance. If I start early and arrive late no one will be any the wiser—at least I hope not."

"What?"

"I'd better come to you. You're in Gertrude Lushington's flat, aren't you? I'll take a taxi to the corner and you can meet me there at a quarter to ten."

"I'll be there," said James.

Corbyn Mews opens on the Little Corbyn street, and Little Corbyn street runs into Hinton road. The houses in Hinton road, old-fashioned, inconvenient, and five stories high, back on to the Mews.

James walked from the corner fifty paces down Hinton road and back to the corner and fifty paces down Little Corbyn street. It was a bitter night with a cold wind blowing.

James hoped that Sally wasn't going to be late. He glanced at the luminous dial of his watch and found that it was just a quarter to ten. Before he had time to pull down his cuff a taxi drew up in front of the corner house. James was a dozen paces away. He stood still where he was in the shadow. He watched Sally get out and pay the driver. He watched the taxi move off and disappear up the road. Then he came up quickly and said:

"I was just wondering if you were going to be late."

"Brr!" said Sally. "Isn't it bitter? I was here first, James Elliot."

"No—I've been here ten minutes. Come along. I thought the taxi man had better not see me—just in case, you know."

Sally laughed under her breath.

"In here. It's only a step."

Sally said "Brr!" again.

Harvard Dean Calls on Church to Serve Right of Criticism

Because typically American religious communions uphold the right of social self-criticism they should be perpetuated, Dean Willard L. Sperry of the Harvard University Divinity school declared last night at the annual meeting of the Chicago Congregational union, 32 West Randolph street.

Dean Sperry described typical American Protestant communions as those which adhered to the personal and individualistic interpretation of religious faith, with autonomy centering in the local church. He named the Congregational, Baptist, and Disciples denominations as being notable examples, with Congregationalism marked by greater religious and social liberalism.

"Liberalism is now gone from the continent of Europe, is unheard in England, and is bewildered in America," said Dean Sperry. "The traditional values of liberalism are now being ground in America between the upper and nether millstones of communism and Fascism."

Dean Sperry said other liberties—those of the press, speech, and assemblage—vanished in Europe along with the right of social self-criticism.

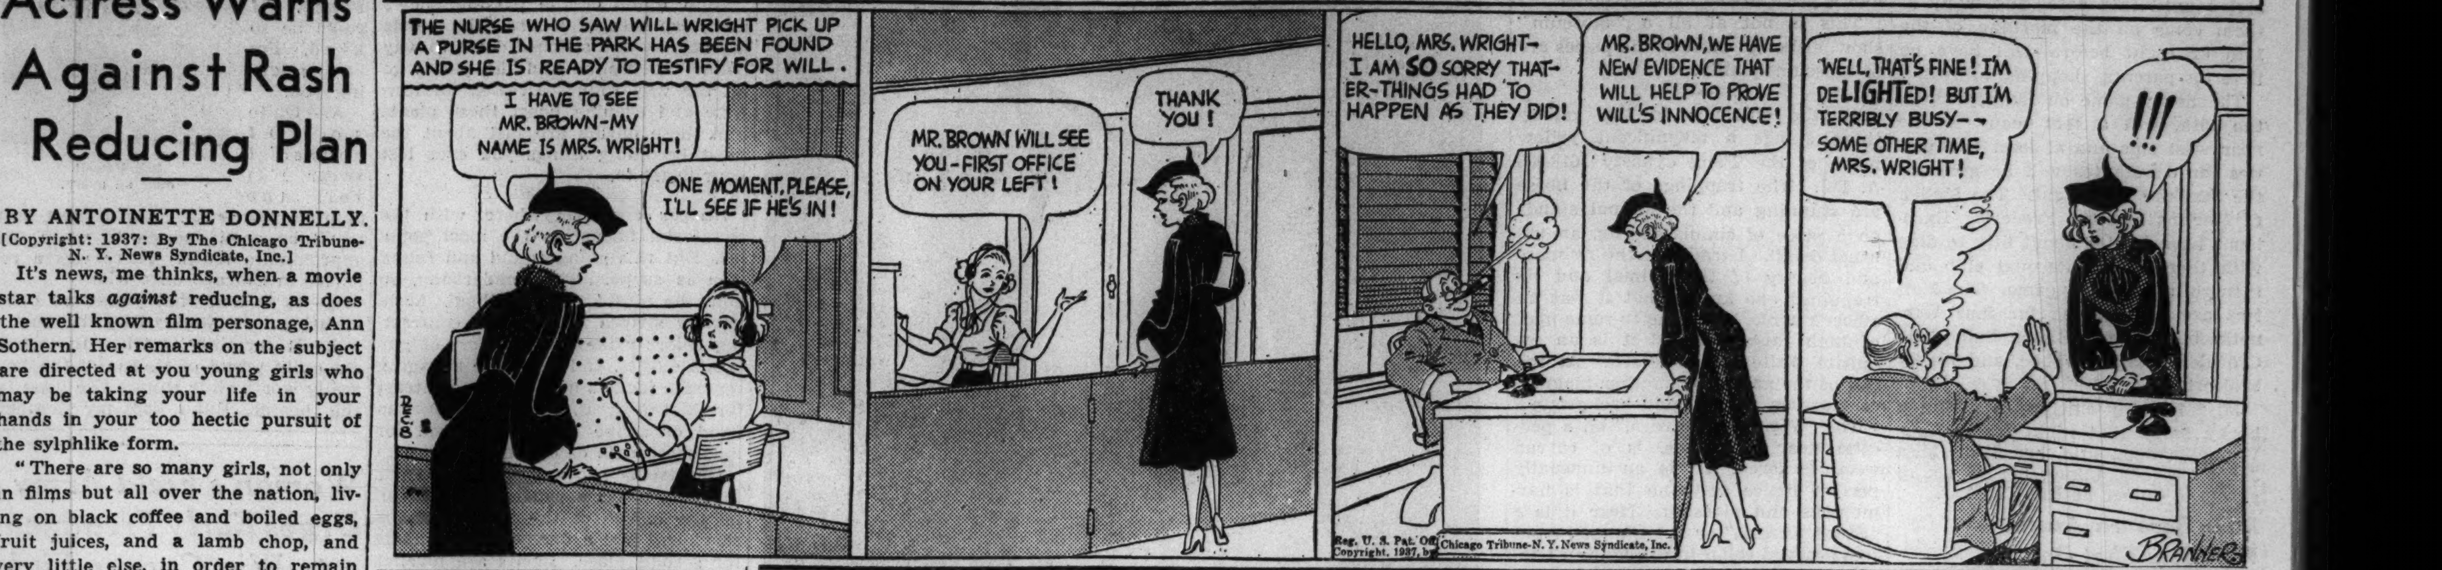
WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Tired Business Man



Actress Warns Against Rash Reducing Plan

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It's news, me thinks, when a movie star talks against reducing, as does the well known film personage, Ann Sothern. Her remarks on the subject are directed at you young girls who may be taking your life in your hands in your too hectic pursuit of the sylphlike form.

"There are so many girls, not only in films but all over the nation, living on black coffee and boiled eggs, fruit juices, and a lamb chop, and very little else, in order to remain sylphlike. When will they learn that such foolishness is not only detrimental to their precious health but unnecessary as well?"

A screen star works hard, but if she has to keep her weight down she must do so on a well balanced, nourishing diet. Miss Sothern watches her weight carefully and always keeps herself at just the right poundage, but any one could follow this charming star's reducing diet and still maintain sensible eating habits.

Upon rising Ann drinks two large tumblers of hot water with the juice of half a lemon in each.

Her breakfast consists of fruit juice, a poached egg on thin toast, and coffee. Sometimes she has her egg soft boiled and adds a few pieces of very crisp bacon. Sometimes she dispenses with the juice and has a dish of stewed fruit or sliced bananas with milk.

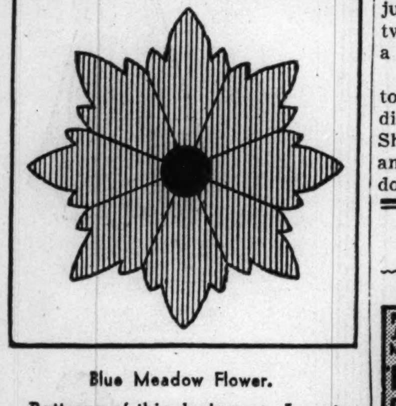
Ann always has her lunch served in her dressing room so that she may eat and rest at the same time. A typical menu might be a salad [generally a combination salad with diced lean meat or chicken], a glass of milk, and a simple nonfattening dessert, such as gelatin or stewed fruit. Often, instead of a salad, she has a vegetable plate.

Dinner finds the star eating lean steak or lamb chops, or baked or roast chicken, a small salad, two vegetables and a small salad, and a simple dessert. Sometimes she has a baked potato.

This is the sort of sensible diet she adheres to during the making of a picture. When she is not working she drinks only fruit or vegetable juices one day a week and eats but two meals a day the rest of the time, a late breakfast and an early dinner.

Ann does not believe in including too much citrus fruit juice in her diet. Pineapple juice is her favorite. She always goes easy on the butter and eats little or no bread. When she does, it is in the form of dry toast.

Blue Blossoms Adorn Native English Quilt



Blue Meadow Flower.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Blue Meadow Flower" is an old English pattern which was brought to America in 1859. It has been in this country only 78 years, but it was popular in England long before that and was typical of the lovely blue flowers in which the English countryside abounds. This applique block is not difficult to do, and for those whose favorite color is blue it is an ideal pattern. The dash of yellow in the centers of the flowers is the only other color. These applique blocks are set together with plain blocks in an alternate arrangement. A quilt measuring 88 by 108 inches contains 32 applique and 31 plain blocks, surrounded by a nine inch white border.

Urgent Plea for Clothing.

Mr. D. was able to support his family until severe arthritis made him unemployable. He has six children—girls 8, 6, 3, and 2, and boys 7 and 5s, all in need of clothing. The 7 year old boy now wears a size 14 coat, and dislikes going to school because the other youngsters laugh at him. Mrs. D. is attending a clinic and is in need of a winter coat and dresses in the largest size available. She now wears cotton aprons and a light spring coat much too small for her. Medical attention is imperative, but she will be unable to continue treatment unless clothing can be found for her. The relief agency is unable to provide it.

Forest will have as their guest over the Christmas holidays Miss Cynthia Toulmin who arrives here on Dec. 18. Miss Toulmin, who made her debut in London last June, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lewson Gower of London, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman Kreer [Billie Andersen] are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Katherine Bowman, on Nov. 29 at the Evanston hospital. The baby and her parents are going Friday to the home of the infant's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney W. Andersen, in Winnetka, to remain until Jan. 1, when the Kreers and tiny Katherine will return to their own apartment in Niles Center.

Two Junior League Actresses Will Retire.

The last opportunity to see Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr. and Mrs. Richard Gambrill Jr. in a Chicago Junior league Children's theater production will come on Saturday morning at the Grand Opera house at the league's final performance of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

These two veteran troupers have decided to retire. Mrs. Winterbotham finds that she is portraying the rôle of a boy of the same age as her son, John, who is coming home from Yale for Christmas, and Mrs. Gambrill, as Mrs. Wiggs, is playacting as the mother of children as old as her Helen, who is coming home from Vassar next week.

Their joint decision will rob the Children's theater of two of its most popular and gifted actresses. Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, Mrs. M. Scott Bromwell, Mrs. John P. Wilson, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Sidney S. Gorham, and Mrs. Lynn A. Williams Jr. are some of those who are bringing youngsters to the performance Saturday.

The broadcast of questions and answers last Saturday provided a hilarious interlude between acts.

Mrs. Charles Garfield King will be the speaker at this week's Friday morning lecture for the league. The lecture will be given in parlor G at the Drake hotel, and a buffet luncheon will be served in the league's headquarters at the hotel. Mrs. King will speak on the Needlework guild, and few are more able than she to talk about needlework, for she has executed so many lovely pieces.

Renaissance Society to Open Exhibit Today.

This afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in Wieboldt hall of the University of Chicago the Renaissance society of the university will give a tea to open an exhibition of paintings by the late Florence Robinson. The pictures, which will be shown through Jan. 8, have come to the Renaissance society directly from a memorial exhibition at the gallery of Mrs. Cornelius Sullivan in New York.

Miss Robinson, who was a watercolorist of international reputation, was commissioned to paint many beautiful American gardens, including those of Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Mrs. J. P. Morgan, Mrs. H. H. Rogers, and Mrs. John Hays Hammond.

Miss Eva Jack is giving a tea this afternoon in her studio in the Fine Arts building to show a portrait of Ebba Sundstrom by Carl A. V. Tolpo. Miss Sundstrom is to appear on Jan. 16 as guest conductor with the Philadelphia Civic orchestra.

Hunt to Entertain Landowners Tonight.

Tonight at the Shawnee Country club the Longmeadow hunt will entertain the landowners over whose grounds the hunt rides. The landowners are invited to bring their wives and children, so there will be about 350 guests at the party, which will include a buffet supper, beer, and a program of entertainment. Ross J. Beatty Jr. is chairman of the committee that has planned the party.

Mrs. Frank G. Logan has invitations out for a musical and tea at her Lake Shore drive home at 4 o'clock next Tuesday.

The executive committee of the board of trustees of the School of Domestic Arts and Sciences will give a delightful tea next Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the Adams house living rooms of the school in Belden avenue.

Mrs. Budd Clarke Corbus, a member of the committee, will set the tea table with her original handmade Christmas decorations, and during the afternoon she will describe the making of her famous edible decorations.

She uses cookie and cake dough, and from them makes the most entrancing things such as Hansel and Gretel and their house.

Mrs. William S. Monroe and Mrs. Homer W. Chandler will pour.

Rev. Cummins New Head of Universalist Church

Boston, Mass., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Election of the Rev. Robert Cummins, Pasadena, Cal., as general superintendent of Universalist churches and the Rev. John M. Ratcliff of Tufts college as secretary was announced tonight by the board of trustees of the Universalist general convention.

HAROLD TEEN—AN IMPOSITION ON THE EFFERVESCENT ADOLESCENT

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

At the very outset of the National Bridge Examination, recently completed, I warned readers that it was a test of bridge knowledge, not of "system knowledge." I even stated that Culbertson system adherents need expect no greater leniency than the disciples of other systems. Hence, I was not greatly disturbed when dozens of readers protested the answer to question No. 7 on the ground that I had advocated a non-Culbertsonian bid. The question and answer were:

Question No. 7: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. North, your partner, dealt and bid two no trump. East passed. Your holding is:
♠ Q 4 2 ♥ A J 6 ♦ K 7 3 ♣ 7 5 4 3.
What call do you make?

Answer: You should give a double raise. Bid four no trump. You would raise to three if you held only one king. The other honors you hold amply justify a slam try.

Immediately after the publication of the answer the storm broke. I had violated the principle laid down by myself on page 89 of the Gold Book." The sentence thrown in my face was:

"With more than one and one-half honor tricks the responder usually should try for a slam unless his hand, also, has 4-3-3-3 distribution."

I answered each individual protest, and now make public, that my answer did not violate any principle, either of the Culbertson system, or of bridge itself. I do acknowledge and apologize for the poor phrasing of the excerpt, but it seems to me that any player who tries to memorize a so-called rule without attempting to understand the spirit behind it deserves whatever comes to him. The statement in the Gold Book cannot be taken literally, for the simple reason that it is ambiguous. Apparently I recommended that no slam try be made by the responder to a two no trump bid with any number of honor tricks, as long as he has the despised 4-3-3-3 distribution. Now, I ask you, how could I have meant such an absurdity? Responder might hold three honor tricks. Can it be thought that I still would recommend a mere raise to three no trump? I apologize for my rhetoric, but still feel that readers should be penalized for failure to give a mild slam try with the hand in question.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 diam.	1 spade	2 diam.
3 diam.	Pass	4 clubs	Double
4 spades	5 diam.	Pas.	Pass
5 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

North's diamond cue bid was, of course, "phoney," the idea being to discourage a diamond lead at an eventual spade contract.

West opened his singleton heart, not that he believed the alleged diamond cue bid. This lead had far reaching results. Declarer felt certain it was a singleton and, therefore, dared not take his normal trump finesse. He played the queen and, when West did not cover, went up with dummy's ace, dropping the singleton king. The spade ten then drew West's remaining trump. Now declarer went out for an absolute top. He led dummy's heart nine and, when East followed low, gambled on his own judgment to the extent of letting the nine ride. It held and the opponents never took another trick, since dummy's heart suit now was solid and, after discarding one diamond, declarer had two trumps left with which to ruff the dummy's two diamonds.

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

VETERANS: Eight years ago this week a timid group of ten canaries was taken to a Chicago radio studio for an audition. Next Sunday at 10:45 a. m. on W-G-N-Mutual five of these same radio warblers will round out eight consecutive years on the air. This veteran quintet is composed of Tony, Bing, Jimmie, Duffy, and Oscar, a basso.

Eight years is a long time in radio. Few of the favorites of 1929 are still on the air. Rudy Vallee and Guy Lombardo were then newcomers on the networks. Correll and Gosden had just made their bow as Amos 'n' Andy; Jack Benny, Major Bowes, Gracie Allen, and Charlie McCarthy, just to mention a few, had not even been heard of in radio circles.

COMEBACK?—The Rev. Father Coughlin, silenced presumably by his archbishop last fall following criticism of President Roosevelt for "stupidity" in the appointment of Senator Hugo Black to the Supreme court, has announced that he will return to the air on 27 stations early next year. A spokesman for the priest reported "that all matters have been clarified and will be explained in Father Coughlin's first appearance."

BOUQUETS: The new "Chicago Salutes You" series, which WBBM has planned to cement relations between this city and its neighbors, will be launched at 9 p. m. Saturday, with Elgin getting the first tribute. Mayor Kelly is to open the broadcast; Mayor Myron Lehman of Elgin will respond. Interviews with various Kane county leaders will follow.

ROMANCE: Three WIND stafmen were married last week-end. The Rev. William L. Clark tied the knot for Engineer Daniel Munroe and Lucille Noyes. Pianist Henry Yohannen and Mable Peters of Enid, Okla., and Announcer Carl Erickson and Mary Fox of Rockford are the other newlyweds.

INFLATION: Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who as governor of that state put it on a pay-as-you-go basis, is to broadcast over NBC from local studios at 6:15 p. m. Saturday on "Doped Money."

IRELAND: Daniel McGrath, consul for the Irish Free State in Chicago, is to discuss life in Ireland on WLS' School Time broadcast at 1 p. m. tomorrow. Bill O'Connor, Irish tenor, will contribute a ballad or two.

AWARD: Ed Sullivan, who writes Looking at Hollywood, now appearing in THE TRIBUNE, will present awards to Clark Gable and Myrna Loy as king and queen of moviedom on the Good News of 1938 broadcast at 8 p. m. tomorrow over WMAQ. They are the movie favorites, according to results of a poll conducted by THE TRIBUNE and associated papers.

How Can Girl Know if Beau Is Married?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"How can you find out whether a man in whom you are interested is married or not?" asks June.

June's man, to explain, has been paying her court for six months or more now, and never has he referred to his family background or volunteered a word about himself before June entered his life. It so happens, as June tells it, that she knows no one who knew him before she met him. Theirs was a meeting under unusual circumstances, June volunteers, without explaining them. She just has no way of looking him up as one might have, she says, were she going into a business partnership with him. And there is a sneaking feeling, a hunch as June puts it, that allies a wife with his past.

We don't understand the extreme delicacy of feeling that influences a woman not to come right out and ask the gentleman the questions that should be answered. After all, a woman would want to know for her own reputation's sake and future guidance whether she is jeopardizing her name by continuing to be seen with the gentleman. There always is some one with a definite clew to the man's background.

Our judgment would be that when one's history is kept a dark secret from the girl a man takes around steadily, there must be something to be hidden. It is not normal for a man, in love with a girl, not to reveal the story of his life, as they say.

If we were harassed with doubt, we'd come right out at the first opportunity and tell the visiting gentleman that his reticence about his past has us guessing and what is to hinder him from making an honest disclosure. If there is nothing to tell, the question can be laughed off. If there is something, the girl has her cue for action.

THE ELECTRIC AUTO-LITE COMPANY

"We entered the spark plug business just a little over a year ago; in fact, about the time you launched your magazine.

"You will be interested to know just how effectively our jobbers and salesmen have merchandised our LIFE color pages. The first sales drive, which was launched last May and culminated with four color advertising in July, resulted in our securing nearly 10,000 new retail outlets. The second campaign, which is still under way and which has been concentrated almost entirely in LIFE, has produced an even greater amount of interest in the trade and will, I am sure, increase our retail distribution to the point where we expect to have 25,000 retail outlets by January 1st.

"We will again concentrate our color advertising in LIFE in 1938, as our dealers have felt the force of our 1937 campaign through steadily mounting sales."

F. A. Nealon, Sales Manager, Merchandising Division

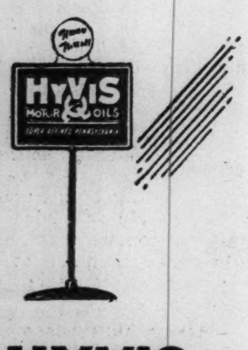
CASCO PRODUCTS CORP.

"Life is the best read magazine in America."

"As a consistent 1937 LIFE advertiser, it is our belief that LIFE is the best read magazine in America.

"Beginning in the early spring of 1938 we will be represented in every issue of LIFE. It will be the only magazine used in our 1938 campaign."

D. J. McCarthy, Assistant Sales Manager

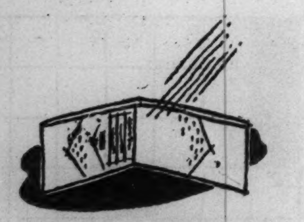


HYVIS OILS, INC.

"Life has established a real place among U. S. car owners."

"We have had more favorable comment regarding our advertising in LIFE MAGAZINE this year than we have ever had from any advertising that we have ever done. LIFE has apparently established a real place for itself in the magazine-reading habits of the motor car owners of America, and we have been most agreeably surprised at the trade influence of LIFE.

Harry R. Lewis, President



AMITY LEATHER PRODUCTS CO.

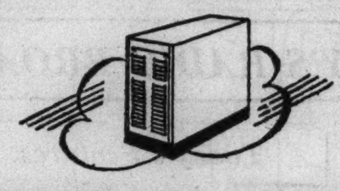
"Results have convinced us that a well merchandised campaign in LIFE is the strongest single modern selling force. Since our LIFE advertising started, our sales have been phenomenal—over-the-counter sales felt by dealers from coast to coast."

R. C. Freitag, Advertising Manager



CHRYSLER'S AIRTEMP

"For example, a distributor in Texas was deluged with telephone calls."

"Without any exception, every Distributor we have talked with has voiced his approval of the LIFE campaign, and the results it has brought direct to them — for example, a Distributor in Texas, who, after one of our advertisements appeared on the room air conditioner, during the summer months, was deluged with telephone calls which were the direct result of seeing our advertisement in LIFE."

Edward Bozorth, Director of Advertising and Sales Promotion

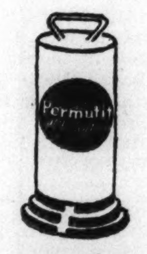
A. E. NETTLETON CO.

"Phone rang constantly the day after Life hit the newsstands."

"Sales results tell their own story — but comments of individual dealers illustrate the general response. For example, a large Cincinnati department store reports its shoe section's phone rang constantly on the LOAFER slipper subject the day after LIFE hit the newsstands.

"Our Boston Shop tells of mail orders from every New England state within one week ... and our Washington account writes that never before have they felt such pulling power from a single ad on Nettletons. Oklahoma City wired two re-orders to meet heavy demand ... etc. ... etc."

S. M. Webb, Advertising Manager



THE PERMUTIT COMPANY

"October sales of household equipment largest in history."

"Tremendously favorable reaction from concentration of all our advertising in LIFE this year. Everywhere we go we are greeted with 'I see your company is advertising now!' ... and we have been advertising for years!"

"Did it sell? People who wrote in were real prospects eager to buy. In some territories dealers sold all the inquirers. All over the country the proportion of sales to inquiries was extremely high. October sales of household equipment were largest in our history.

"Distributors telephoned and telegraphed for franchises. Dealers and individuals wrote for information on local markets. The flow of inquiries of this type has increased as the campaign progressed.

"LIFE gave a tremendous impetus and stimulation to our entire Sales, Distributor and Dealer organizations."

Henry H. Wilkinson, Advertising Manager

Behind each of these result stories has been a well planned sales campaign which has not depended alone on advertising in LIFE but has included a studied linking of the LIFE force to all the forces of selling from salesmen to dealers and consumers.

NATIONAL LEAGUE DEADENS BALL FOR 1938

N. U. RALLIES TO TRIUMPH, 31-29, AT MARQUETTE

Melchoir's Shot Wins in Last Minute.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—A short basket by Charley Melchoir, sophomore forward, gave Northwestern a 31 to 29 victory over Marquette before 4,500 in the Milwaukee auditorium tonight.

Charles Melchoir.

Melchoir's basket stopped a Marquette rally that had brought the Hilltoppers from behind and sent them into a 29 to 27 lead a few minutes before the gun. Bob Voigts, Wildcat guard, tied the score with a long shot and then came Melchoir's final salvo.

After playing on even terms through most of the first half, during which the score was tied four times, Northwestern pulled away to a 17 to 12 lead at the intermission.

Marquette had scored first on Adams' free throw, but long shots by Vance and Smith gave Northwestern a 4 to 1 lead. Graf's followup and Sokody's free throw again tied it at 4 to 4, and it was tied successively at 6-6, 8-8 and 10-10.

Purple Increase Lead.

Northwestern then romped to the fore on Trenkle's free throw and baskets by Currie and Vance, before Marquette counted again on Hesik's short shot. Currie added two points from center court just before the gun.

A much faster second half found Northwestern taking a 24 to 16 lead before Quabius and Sokody went on a scoring rampage that was climaxed with a 26 to 26 tie.

Marquette then took the lead on Hesik's free throw, but Davis countered with one for Northwestern. It was here that Hesik's hook shot put the Hilltoppers in front for the last time, just before Voigts and Melchoir decided the contest. Lineup:

ILLINI WIN PAIR

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Illinois defeated Carroll college of Waukesha, Wis., 48 to 25, in its opening game here tonight. The varsity, with three veterans from last year's Big Ten championship team in the lineup, won as it pleased. At the half, Illinois led, 26 to 10.

Illinois' B team defeated Armour Tech, Chicago, 39 to 24, in a curtain raiser. O'Brien scored five baskets and a free throw for Armour. Illinois was paced by Davies with four field goals.

ARMY ADOPTS BIG TEN RULES ON ELIGIBILITY

Limits Athletes to Three Years on Varsity.

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 7.—(AP)—The United States Military academy today changed its eligibility rules to make them conform with those at the naval academy and the leading civilian colleges in the country.

The change permits varsity athletes only three years of collegiate eligibility. Up to now, Army has permitted any student to play three years for West Point, regardless of the number of years he has played in other colleges before coming to the academy

Maj. Gen. William D. Connor, superintendent of the academy, made the announcement, which eliminates the cause of Army's break in athletic relations with the naval academy in 1928 and 1929.

Follows Big Ten Action.

"Hereafter, the eligibility rules which obtain at Annapolis and the leading civilian colleges in the country," said Gen. Connor's announcement, "will be applied in determining that eligibility of cadets to play upon the athletic teams of the military academy."

Navy broke with army after their 1927 football game, demanding that the three year eligibility rule be applied to West Point athletics. Although the two institutions played in 1930 and 1931 for charity, the breach was not officially healed until 1932.

The new Army eligibility standard follows closely on the action of the Big Ten conference last week in sanctioning renewal of relations with West Point. The midwestern group also broke off with Army, beginning with the 1935 season, largely over the eligibility rule.

How About Old Cadets?

The immediate question rising from the action was over the status of football stars of other colleges who have entered or are planning to enter the academy. Two of the more prominent of these are Bill Guckeyson, Maryland, back, who was a plebe, or freshman, at Army this year after completing his career at Maryland, and Carl Hinkle, Vanderbilt center, who plans to enter Army.

Queried over this situation Army officials refused comment.

"There is no information regarding the status of such players as yet," one officer explained.

NAVY DECLINES COMMENT

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Naval academy athletic officials declined specific comment tonight on the army's new athletic eligibility rulings.

"The navy has accepted and will continue to accept whatever eligibility rules the army sees fit to adopt," said Commander A. C. McFall, graduate manager of athletics.

GRIFFITH LAUDS ARMY

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Western conference, complimented Army tonight on its adoption of the three year eligibility rule. Maj. Griffith was here to address a football banquet at Western State Teachers' college.

"It was a very fine sporting thing for Army to do to come in line with the standards of most of our other colleges," he said.

LEWIS STOPS GASTANAGA IN NINTH ROUND

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 7.—(AP)—John Henry Lewis, world's light heavyweight champion, bounced back into the heavyweight spotlight as a contender for the title tonight with a technical knockout over Isador Gastanaga in the ninth round of their scheduled 15 round fight.

Fight Decisions

At St. Louis, Mo.—John Henry Lewis stopped Isador Gastanaga [10]; Everette Rightmire stopped Jackie Sharkey [8]; Otis Thomas beat Jim Thompson [8]; Joey Parks knocked out Wally Elkins [1].

It Happened in Dubuque.

She began by arriving an hour late for bridge and keeping the rest of the girls waiting. From the moment she began to play it was obvious this was one of her bad days, for she picked at everything from the cards her partner played to the kind of weather it probably would be week after next when she got around to do her Christmas shopping. She managed to get in a couple of nasty cracks at poor Annie, whose new dress didn't quite come up to specifications. Unable to stand it any longer, one of the ladies remarked quietly: "Josie, you wouldn't by any chance be getting ready to write a sequel to Dale Carnegie's book, would you?" Josie, never much on the literary side, was plainly stopped. She sparred a moment for an opening and then inquired, "Why, what do you mean, a sequel to Dale Carnegie's book?" "I just thought," replied the other lady, "that you might be gathering material for one called 'How to Lose Friends and Have No Effect Whatever on People.'"

Stagg to Bring Team to Midway

Amos Alonzo Stagg, who directed the football fortunes of the University of Chicago for forty-one years, will return to the Midway next fall to lead a team against the Maroons. Stagg's College of the Pacific eleven has been signed for a game at Stagg field Nov. 12, T. N. Metcalf, Chicago athletic director, announced last night.

Chicago invited the Stockton, Cal., team to Chicago as a tribute to Stagg on his fiftieth year of football coaching.

Metcalf also disclosed that the Maroons will go back to an eight game schedule next autumn. This year's schedule included only seven games. The 1938 opponents will be Harvard, Bradley, the last champion of the Little Nineteen; DePauw, champion of the Indiana conference; College of the Pacific, and four Big Ten opponents, Michigan, Iowa, Ohio State, and Illinois.

Stagg completed his fifth season at College of the Pacific on Thanksgiving day. He coached for three years at the Springfield [Mass.] Y. M. C. A. college before going to Chicago. Last year his Pacific team won the far western conference title, and this year lost the championship in its final game. High point of the season just closed was Pacific's game against St. Mary's, which ended in a scoreless tie with Stagg's team in possession of the ball on the St. Mary's 1 yard line.

Oct. 1.—Bradley at Chicago.
Oct. 8—Chicago at Michigan.
Oct. 15—Iowa at Chicago.
Oct. 22—Chicago at Ohio State.
Oct. 29—DePauw at Chicago.
Nov. 5—Chicago at Harvard.
Nov. 12—College of the Pacific at Chicago.
Nov. 19—Illinois at Chicago.

RED WINGS UPSET BRUINS, 3-2, FOR THIRD VICTORY

Shore in Penatly Box as Winning Goal Scores.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 7.—(AP)—The champion Detroit Red Wings, flashing in their old time form, whipped the Boston Bruins, 3 to 2, tonight before thirteen thousand in a National Hocky league game. It was only the Wings' third triumph in eleven starts, but they appeared well out of their surprising slump.

The winning Detroit goal was scored while Eddie Shore was in the penalty box. The Boston defense star drew a major in the third period for high-sticking Doug Young, and while he was halfway through his five minutes' sentence Hec Kilrea scored, assisted by Marty Barry Larry Aurie. Aurie supplied the other two Detroit goals during the second and final minutes of the first period.

Cowley Scores Twice.

Both of the Boston goals, scored by Bill Cowley, came when the Red Wings were short handed. During the final minute Manager Art Ross pulled out Goalie Tiny Thompson and with less than five seconds to play Bucko MacDonald broke out of the Detroit zone and whipped the puck into the empty Boston cage. Just before he fired, however, an offside play was called.

The setback was the first the Bruins have suffered at home this season, and their top balcony admirers, holding the officials at fault, expressed displeasure during the last ten minutes by ripping off the tops of their seats and hurling the jagged slats at the whistle tooters.

Chief Flaherty Heap Big Man in Redskins' Drive

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Washington's spectacular rise to the championship of the eastern division of the National Professional league with victories over Green Bay and the New York Giants generally is attributed to Sammy Baugh, the game's greatest passer; Cliff Battles, one of the outstanding running backs of all time, and Turk Edwards, 255 pounds of tackle.

Coaches and others analytically inclined are willing to concede Baugh, Battles, and Edwards a sizable share of the glory. Most of the credit, however, they bestow upon 33 year old Ray Flaherty, the Redskins' mild mannered, soft spoken leader, who in his second year as a major league coach has brought the Redskins their second division title.

Was Advance Favorite.

Washington, after it had signed Baugh, was made the eastern division favorite. Early season reverses and not particularly sparkling performances against mediocre opponents soon led to a revision of odds. As late as two weeks ago Washington appeared to have no better than an outside chance to qualify as the Bears' opponent in Sunday's world championship game at Wrigley field.

The chance depended upon success against Green Bay and New York on successive week-ends. Green Bay was surprised, 14 to 6, and the Giants, together with all the rest of pro football, were astounded, 49 to 14. The reason was Flaherty and his handling of the Redskins.

Washington began the season with an attack built to specifications for Baugh. The former Texas Christian star was a passer, who throughout his college career had known nothing but an aerial offense, run largely from short punt formation, with an occasional double wing back. He threw as many as 50 passes in one game and was not asked to block, tackle or run with the ball.

Pros Set for Sammy.

Professional opponents were a little smarter than Baugh's collegiate rivals and as soon as they sensed that Flaherty was under orders from up front to exploit Baugh's talents, linemen ceased charging and dropped back to bat down Sammy's bullet throws. This made it difficult for Baugh to maintain the pace which had earned him the captaincy of the TRIBUNE's All-Star team last summer. It also hurt Battles, a driving, shifty ball carrier. Without the ball he was no threat and unless Baugh could hit him with a pass, he seldom had the ball.

Baugh's Boss

RAY (RED) FLAHERTY.

After the Cardinals had beaten Washington, 21 to 14, and the lowly Philadelphia Eagles, led by Bill Hewitt, had come off with the Redskins' scalp, 14 to 0, Flaherty tossed the showmanship overboard and began making Baugh over into a football player. He set Sammy to blocking for the first time in his life and gave the elongated Texan tackling practice. He set up a single wing back offense which permitted Battles to run, contained formations on which Baugh had to carry the ball, and changed Baugh's passing technique. Out of the short punt formation, Baugh had always thrown the ball from a flat footed stance. In the new offense, Baugh had to learn to fade and fake.

Under Flaherty's teaching Baugh

National, American Leagues Unite in Final Session Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Baseball's winter treadmill, otherwise the major league meetings, will come to an official standstill today with the joint meeting of the National and American leagues in the Palmer house. Last night the two leagues were hissing each other a bit and there was some hope on the part of fun lovers that the nabobs will bestir themselves to the extent of hollering at each other.

There will be several points of agreement before the magnates get around to discussing controversial matters, such as the push around on the dead ball proposition, in which each side claims to have been given the double cross.

Cincinnati Gets Big Game.

One of these peaceful matters will be the official awarding of the 1938 All-Star game to Cincinnati, as per informal agreement weeks ago. President Ford Frick of the National league will enter today's joint meeting impressed with the fact that personnel selection for the 1938 game should be restored to the fans, with certain minor modifications to take care of injury emergencies.

Mr. Frick said: "I am convinced that at least eighteen players from each league should be selected through the balloting of the fans, as per the original plan in the first game conceived and sponsored by THE TRIBUNE in 1933, except that the managers should, I feel, have a leeway of no more than five players. This would take care of emergencies, such as existed the year the fans voted for Lefty Grove when he was ill and doing no pitching for several weeks before the game. There have been other instances, Travis Jackson affording one such case, when the fans apparently wanted to honor a favorite, without taking into consideration that the selected players should be able to play.

Terry Is For the Fans.

"I have talked about the method of selection with many baseball people, including Bill Terry, who again will manage the National league team," Mr. Frick continued. "Terry said he would prefer to manage a team selected by the fans. Last summer Terry, with the coöperation of other managers, selected the National league team, without any poll at all, and he felt the responsibility brought him criticism he didn't rate, as he merely was carrying out the plan of baseball officials.

"The whole thing will be up to the advisory board, and my part will include recommendations for a return to the fan selection basis, with some understanding that the team be not packed with the five supplemental players, they being used for emergencies when the fan selections are not available for service."

Date Is Uncertain.

Mr. Frick said the details will be worked out following a review of all the circumstances surrounding each of the five earlier games, including the ideal setup of the original game at Comiskey park on July 6, 1933. The date will not be set until the regular season schedule is prepared, but the game in Cincinnati probably will be played some time between July 4 and 10.

In selecting a dead ball yesterday the National league, it is said, supposed that the American league would go along with a joint agreement effected a year ago. The action yesterday, National spokesmen explained, was merely a selection of a certain type of ball from three samples submitted by the manufacturer. It was assumed that the American league would make a similar selection, not only in view of the conferences a year ago, but because the American league was reported to have voted, five to three, for the dead ball in an informal caucus last week.

Great consternation was professed when it became known that the American league had voted to stay by the Yankee lively ball. It was announced that the action yesterday was not final under the circumstances, and that it may be rescinded today.

HELPS PITCHING; AMERICAN KEEPS PRESENT TYPE

Finds Samples Are Unsatisfactory.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The two major leagues fell apart yesterday on the matter of baseballs. The National league magnates, in the second day of their annual session at the Congress hotel, performed an operation aimed at removal of some of the liveliness from the sphere used in recent years. Meanwhile the American league, meeting at the Palmer house, decided to forego alterations, pending further experiments.

The difference of opinion, however, over the distance a batted ball should travel legitimately, doesn't mean war between the two circuits is looming on the horizon. It will not be the first time this situation has existed. The National league employed a dead ball in both 1932 and 1933, the American league, meanwhile, refusing to make a change. Before the start of the 1934 season the National accepted the ball made according to specifications established by the junior major league.

Here's Why It's Slower.

The National league ball for 1938 will be sewed up in what the manufacturers of the article term a No. 4 cover, whereas the official ball for the last four seasons was a No. 3. The difference in trade numbers means that the No. 4 hide is an infinitesimal fraction of an inch thicker than the other.

The new National league ball also will carry a five instead of a four strand stitch. The heavier cover will operate slightly in favor of the pitchers, who will gain additional cunning by manipulations which are possible with a higher seam. The latter affords the pitchers a better grip, which leads to more deceptive hooks on the curves and improved hops on the fast balls.

The same No. 4 ball was used in the National in 1932 with only a slight contraction of batting averages, so in 1933 the league went for a No. 5 cover but this proved such a killer for hitters that the league adopted the American's No. 3 cover.

It's a Break for Infielders.

The National league, in adopting the new ball, wasn't exactly aiming at a drastic curtailment of the home run epidemic. The No. 4 ball, if well hit, will travel as far as No. 3. But giving the pitchers higher seams with which to work means the batters will see fewer bargain pitches and, while the home runs may go on as in the past, there should be a curtailment of rifle drives past the infielders.

The American league was somewhat surprised when word reached its meeting that the National had acted. The former promptly voted to stand pat. It was the understanding of the American officials that neither circuit would take action one way or the other unless in joint conference. The two leagues are scheduled for their annual joint session today, and, while the ball may be discussed, there is slim possibility of either rescinding yesterday's stand.

Makers Submit Samples.

At their meetings a year ago the two leagues took their first step toward restoring some authority to the pitchers. As the result of the vote at that time the league presidents were delegated to coöperate with the ball manufacturers.

The makers submitted samples, which were used during spring games. They weren't satisfactory. During the season other specimens were submitted to each of the sixteen clubs, and they were tried out in pre-game practice. They failed to hold their shape.

It was because the samples proved unsatisfactory that the American league yesterday decided to delay making the change.

Try Again Next Spring.

Baseballs which the manufacturers promise to produce during the winter will be tried out by the American league clubs in the spring, and if a suitable implement is found it will be adopted for 1939.

The American also voted to continue assigning umpires to work in spring exhibitions and to continue awarding $500 to the league batting champion.

The American leaguers discussed the subject of broadcasts and today will reveal a definite program for 1938. The league will sell exclusive rights to one sponsor, the rights covering all parks except New York and Washington, which do not permit air dispatch of home games. This means that the sponsor, if he wishes, can limit oral accounts to one station in each of the six cities.

The Cleveland club made an inquiry about playing seven night games at home during the season but this was voted down.

McElligott Leads Viator Five to 40 to 23 Victory

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Led by Red McElligott, who scored 14 points, the St. Viator college basketball team defeated Arkansas State tonight, 40 to 23. The Irish led at the intermission, 23 to 10.

WAR ADMIRAL ONE OF 93 NAMED FOR $100,000 STAKE

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Ninety-three race horses, a record number, have been nominated for the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap, but it still was uncertain tonight whether War Admiral will be here to try for the rich prize March 5.

Along with War Admiral, Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, such nominations as Seabiscuit [biggest money winner of the year], Pompoon, Heelfly, and several outstanding foreign importations promise to make the mile and a quarter race a grand climax to Santa Anita's 1937-'38 meeting.

Entry List Grows.

Los Angeles Turf club officials pointed out that, with the exception of Samuel Riddle's War Admiral and one or two more, every leading hope for the race is either here or routed to the Arcadia plant.

The last $100,000 handicap drew eighty-eight nominations and eighteen starters, and was won by the Foxcatcher farm's Rosemont. The year before eighty-two were nominated and fifteen started, with A. A. Baroni's Top Row the champion.

The first running of the race drew seventy nominations and twenty starters. Fred Alger's Azucar won the initial event.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, whose Discovery was a forlorn hope last year, has only one candidate, Tedious, named for the Handicap.

Racing Secretary Webb Everett will post the weights next week. Seabiscuit probably will draw top impost of 130 pounds.

ADAMS IN DEMAND.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Johnny Adams, jocky from Iola, Kas., who is the nation's No. 1 ranking rider, has been offered a contract to ride for the Austin C. Taylor stables at the Santa Anita meet this winter. Maj. Taylor, British Columbia sportsman, said today Adams would ride his star, Indian Broom, in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap if he accepted the contract.

MENDEL REPLACES CHAPMAN AS 6 DAY BIKE BOSS

New York, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The retirement of two figures long associated with six-day bicycle racing in the United States, Promoter John M. Chapman and Frank L. Kramer, chairman of the board of control of the National Cycling association, was announced tonight.

Chapman, manager of races in Madison Square Garden and elsewhere for 25 years, resigned after notifying John Reed Kilpatrick, Garden president, of his inability to give full time to bike promotion. Kilpatrick named Harry Mendel of Newark, N. J., as Chapman's successor.

Patrick J. Mulvey of Nutley, N. J., replaces Kramer, who has been prominent in the sport for more than 40 years. Kramer was an amateur champion in the '90s and subsequently holder of the professional sprint title for 20 years. He retired from active competition shortly after the war.

AUSTIN BEARS, CALUMET TEAM CLASH TONIGHT

The Austin Bears, west side independent football team, and the Army of the Calumet Region Football league will play tonight at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. The game will start at 8:15 p. m.

Tonight's contestants are evenly matched if their close victories over the Kenosha Coopers can serve as a basis of comparison. The Bears, coached by Earl Solem, will depend on Half Back Harry Postaer and Center Bill Casey, recently of De Paul; Laurie Carlson, a former Illinois full back; Emmert Joyce of North Carolina, Clarence Jahnke of Wright college, and Andy Dahl, a former Illinois tackle.

Classic League Bowls at Kaadland Tonight

The Classic league will bowl tonight at the Kaadland Recreation, 3239 North Ashland avenue. The Triangle Shirts, who took second place in the Central States tournament at Dayton, will meet the Baby Ruth Candies; the Oak Leaf Motors will face the champion Prager Beers; the Charles H. Webers will oppose the league leading Pabst Blue Ribbon Beers, and the Monarch Beers will shoot against the Power House Candies.

Trotting Association Picks New Secretary-Treasurer

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Roger Duncan of Hartford, Conn., was elected secretary and treasurer of the National Trotting association at the annual meeting of the board of review held today. He succeeds the late William Gocher of the same city, who held the positions for forty-two years.

Dizzy Dean, Paul Waner Enter Miami Open Golf

Miami, Fla., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Pitcher Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals and Outfielder Paul Waner of the Pittsburgh Pirates will take a crack at big time golf in the $10,000 Miami open starting Friday. Entry fees were sent from Bradenton by Dean and from Sarasota by Waner.

Time, 1:13 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Little Drift, $19.00 straight, $7.40 place, $4.80 show; Maiden Dream, $7.20 place, $5.00 show; Slavonia, $3.20 show. Winner, br. f., 3, by Ariel-Lucky Drift. Owner Miss M. E. Martin. Trainer, C. J. Martin.

LITTLE DRIFT showed fine early speed, shook off POPPINALONG and, standing a hard drive, outstayed MAIDEN DREAM. Latter improved her position rapidly and, finishing with a rush was getting to the winner. SLAVONIA came fast from a slow beginning and finished very strong. BELLE ELAN showed an even effort.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:14 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Taximan, $20.80 straight, $8.60 place, $5.60 show; Just High, $3.20 place, $2.80 show; Takus, $5.20 show. Winner, ch. g., 7, by Oilman-Pushpin. Owner, H. J. Mezan. Trainer, H. J. Mezan. Start good.

TAXIMAN, well up from the start, moved past the leaders with a fine burst of speed in the stretch and drew out. JUST HIGH raced BEDIGHT into defeat and held on well but could not withstand the winner. TAKUS closed a gap while racing wide. BLACK BUDDY, slow to begin, made up ground in the stretch. JACKEMMA was in close quarters early. BEDIGHT quit in the stretch.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:15 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Forewarned, $5.80 straight, $3.60 place, $3.00 show; Taddy Bane, $7.40 place, $4.80 show; Linlace, $13.40 show. Winner, ch. g., 8, by Spur-Mind The Paint. Owner, Mrs. E. Oros. Trainer, J. Oros. Start good.

FOREWARNED had the speed of his party, moved into the lead quickly and was safe from the fast finishing TADDY BANE. Latter, slow to get going, took a loss of ground and finished with a rush. LINLACE saved much ground and came from far out of it. WAX, with the leaders early, stopped after a half mile.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Two year olds. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:15 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Queen Regnant, $14.40 straight, $6.00 place, $3.80 show; Trans Wynn, $3.00 place, $2.60 show; Fredricka R., $3.20 show. Winner, light bf., 2, by Leo Cotner-Pheldale. Owner, J. A. Davis. Trainer, D. Womeldorf. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 4:27. Off at 4:29½.

QUEEN REGNANT, outrun the first half mile, came strong after straightening out in the stretch and, passing TRANS WYNN held him safe. TRANS WYNN had early speed, shook off LEE WALKER but swerved in the stretch or might have won. FREDRICKA R., outrun early, was making a fast finish on the rail when forced to pull up by TRANS WYNN. LEE WALKER tired. CHICKEN LADY closed a gap.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Three year olds and up. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

BIOGRAPHY, well up early, took command when called on but just lasted to stall off FLYING DERE. Latter, reserved the first half mile, had to take a big loss of ground moving up but finished with a rush. FRANK C. opened a long early lead and held on gamely after tiring. PROPOSING, far back early, finished fast.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Three year olds and up. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:13. Two dollar mutuels paid: Porcellus, $18.80 straight, $8.20 place, $5.60 show; Gold Mesh, $8.00 place, $5.40 show; Calculator, $10.40 show. Winner, ch. f., 4, by Hardtack-Anna Leighton. Owner, B. M. Smith. Trainer, J. Massey Jr. Start good for all but Wise Duke. Won handily, place driving. Went to post at 5:19.

PORCELLUS, outrun early, came between horses entering the stretch and, taking command with a rush, won drawing out. GOLD MESH also came fast after a slow beginning. CALCULATOR survived a fast pace and fought it out gamely. MOISSON, outrun early, finished with a late rush and was close up. POMPASSE made up ground. BLACK RHAPSODY had early speed. HASTINOLA and ODD BLUE quit badly.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile and a sixteenth. Three year olds and up. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:49. Two dollar mutuels paid: Chatterly, $23.20 straight, $10.20 place, $6.60 show; Saxopal, $4.40 place, $3.40 show; Dutch Uncle, $13.80 show. Winner, b. g., 6, by Chatterton-Miss Millions. Owner and trainer, H. M. Henderson. Start good.

CHATTERLY, hustled into the lead early, saved much ground and, benefiting when UNION carried out many contenders, he lasted to hold a margin. SAXOPAL, probably best, was moving up fast in the stretch when carried out by UNION, then came with a resolute rush and was closing in fast. DUTCH UNCLE came from far back. BABY JOE finished well. UNION was moving up fast entering the stretch when he ran out. GOLDEN QUEST tired. SISTER JEAN closed a gap. WARDELL ORMONT raced poorly.

Frank Is Given Trophy as Best 1937 Player

New York, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Hailed by his coach, Ducky Pond, as "one of the greatest Yale captains," Clint Frank of Evanston, Ill., tonight received the Heisman memorial trophy as the outstanding football player of the 1937 season.

The trophy was presented at a dinner at the Downtown Athletic club attended by 1,000, including many stars of the past. Given in memory of the late John W. Heisman, a famous coach and athletic director of the club, it is awarded to the player chosen as the best by a vote of more than 600 sports writers throughout the country.

Frank is the second Yale man to receive the trophy in the two years it has been awarded on a nation-wide basis. Last year it went to Larry Kelley. In 1935, the first year of the award, it was limited to players east of the Mississippi and was given to Jay Berwanger of the University of Chicago.

FORT SHERIDAN PUTS TWO TRIOS IN TITLE PLAY

Absent from Metropolitan Polo league competition last season, Fort Sheridan is returning with two teams for this year's play. The junior division trio will open play Saturday night, meeting Olympia Fields in the first game of the double-header at the 124th Field Artillery armory.

Led by Capt. Edwin C. Greiner, the Fort Sheridan lineup will include Capt. Henry T. Jernigan and Capt. Robert B. Hood. Each of these players carries a one goal rating.

The feature game will be between the Chicago Ramblers and Detroit Gold Hats.

CHIEF FLAHERTY HEAP BIG MAN IN REDSKIN DRIVE

revealed more ability than even the Redskins suspected he possessed. He became a dangerous ball carrier and as a blocker he developed to the point where he was able to team in a back field with Battles and get the former West Virginia Wesleyan Rhodes scholar off on the long copyrighted runs for which he was famous. The Redskins' offense became something to behold and fear.

This offense was the answer to the Green Bay and New York victories, two upsets which really were not such upsets after all, if one had followed the reorganization that Flaherty was perfecting in the last half of the season. The new policy and its success stimulated the line and Washington soon was able to put up the front predicted for it in pre-season appraisals.

It's a Big Thrill.

"I never got more of a kick out of playing football than the thrill that has come from being in the pro league," Baugh said after the Giants game. "Blocking and tackling were things the other fellow did. They never seemed to care whether I did them or not, just so I was around to chuck the ball. I even get a bigger kick out of passing under the new system. The old one was just stand up and pitch. And since Mr. Flaherty changed my kicking style I have been able to get longer and more accurate punts. I didn't think I was such a poor punter in college, but I guess the records show how much better I am up here."

Baugh and associated Redskins will arrive tomorrow morning to complete training for Sunday's game. All are reported in excellent condition. Ed Kawal, for years a member of the Bears, who was made regular center at Washington after having been traded last spring for Frank Bausch, was injured in the Cleveland game and did not play against Green Bay and New York. But he is said to be ready to oppose his old teammates.

Carr Names Officials.

The Bears also are without injuries. Keith Molesworth, veteran quarter back and the smallest player in the league, is receiving treatment for a smashed nose sustained in the Cardinal game, but will be available.

Joe Carr, president of the league, in reaffirming the 1:15 o'clock starting time yesterday, also announced the officials for the game. William T. Halloran of Providence, R. I., was named referee with Boby Cahn, Chicago, head linesman; E. F. Hughitt of Buffalo, field judge, and Ed Cochrane of Chicago, umpire.

Report, in Brief, of Big League Leaders' Actions

Facts and rumors from the major league baseball meetings:

FACTS.

Majors split on lively ball issue, National adopting heavier cover dead ball and American retaining same lively ball used in 1937. Cincinnati awarded 1938 All-Star game.

National league approved Cincinnati request to play seven night games again in 1938.

American league voted to continue annual $500 award to its batting champion and to assign all umpires for spring exhibition games involving its clubs.

Both leagues voted to work with minors for celebration of baseball's centennial in 1939.

Chicago White Sox and Washington fail to agree on deal, White Sox demanding First Baseman Joe Kuhel and Infielder Buddy Myer for First Baseman Zeke Bonura and Infielder Lou Berger and Washington holding out for straight trade, Kuhel for Bonura.

RUMORS.

Pitcher Buck Newsom, traded to St. Louis by Boston, will stay with Browns.

MAROONS NAME MOST VALUABLE PLAYER TONIGHT

The University of Chicago football team will nominate its candidate for THE TRIBUNE's silver football trophy for the most valuable player of 1937 tonight at the annual banquet given for the team by the Chicago Alumni club. The dinner, which is expected to draw a large turnout, will be held at Hutchinson commons on the Midway campus.

President Robert M. Hutchins and Vice Presidents Frederic and William B. Benton head the list of speakers. John Schommer, Maroon alumnus and conference official, and Prof. James Weber Linn will present a skit entitled, "How to Get Tough About It," which allegedly deals with proselyting. Talks will be given also by Harry Swanson of the La Salle street coaching staf; William McNeill, editor of the Daily Maroon, who opposes intercollegiate athletics; Coaches Clark Shaughnessy and Nelson Norgren, and Capt. Bob Fitzgerald.

Sixteen major letters will be awarded, and the varsity will elect next year's captain.

EVEN AT 215° BELOW
"ZERONE" anti-freeze would protect!

SCIENTIFIC tests prove that "Zerone" anti-freeze can keep water from freezing solid even at 215° below zero. "Zerone" is so effective you need less of it for complete radiator protection.

Tests also show that a mixture of "Zerone" and water passes off engine heat better than water alone, actually improving engine performance. Just follow directions on chart or can.

What's more, in a clean cooling system, "Zerone" conditions the metal parts, prevents the formation of rust and corrosion. This is important, winter or summer, because cooling system rust and sludge affect power, can waste fuel and oil, and may lead to costly repairs.

"Zerone" is made by Du Pont. At only $1 a gallon, 25c a quart, isn't "Zerone" a bargain worth trying?

Why not go to your nearest "Zerone" dealer today, and have him give your car complete radiator protection for cold-weather driving? Drive in where you see the "Zerone" banner that tells you the dealer is "Glad to serve you!" Du Pont, "Zerone" Division, Wilmington, Delaware.

ALL THOSE BIG LEAGUE TRADE BUBBLES BURST

Canny Club Owners Just Refuse to Deal.

The American league trading market which, as the result of forty-eight hours of rumors, threatened to boom at the last minute, collapsed yesterday. The Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Cleveland, Boston and Washington clubs, which had been talking give and take, surrendered in disgust.

James J. Dykes, the White Sox manager, who, after his big deal at Milwaukee last week, decided to continue as the No. 1 trader, kept on talking business yesterday but by nightfall threw up his hands and insisted everything was off. He did some of the canceling himself.

Dykes' main effort was to get Buck Newsom, the wordy righthander, from the St. Louis Browns. His suggestions were laughed down by Donald Barnes, the Browns' president.

Newsom Not for Sale.

Dykes named three players and told the Browns they could pick two of them for Newsom. Two of the three were Outfielder Rip Radcliff and John Rigney, the rookie right hander. Barnes not only refused to express a choice but wound up saying Newsom wasn't on the market. Dykes' retort to this was "You'll probably be sorry by next July."

After changing his mind a half dozen times in the last couple of months about giving First Baseman Zeke Bonura to Washington for First Baseman Joe Kuhel, Dykes last night definitly decided against the deal. The Washington club was willing to make it.

Dykes would deal with Washington only on one basis. That was Infielder Buddy Myer and Kuhel for Infielder Lou Berger and Bonura. Washington demanded Jack Hayes in place of Berger. After this little matter had been abandoned Dykes gave Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, a new thought.

Trader Dykes Persists.

"I'll give you Sugar Cain for Chink De Shong," declared Dykes. "You won't do anything of the kind," responded Griff. Both men are pitchers.

Mike Cochrane, the Tiger manager, started for home yesterday afternoon to listen to the "lynch 'im" cry of the Detroit fans, who are peeved because Outfielder Gerald Walker was snatched from their midst and deposited on the White Sox roster.

Cochrane's last few hours here were spent trying to make headway in his quest for Outfielder Beau Bell of the Browns. His bid wasn't high enough to attract President Barnes, but a better offer may be submitted.

Chelini Goes to Saints.

Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, announced that Italo [Lefty] Chelini had followed Catcher Merv Shea to St. Paul and that Tom McBride, a kid infielder-outfielder, had been turned over to the Dallas Texas league team.

Eddie Collins, business manager of the Boston Red Sox announced last night that the club had purchased Outfielder Ted Williams from the San Diego Pacific Coast league team. Williams, who has played only two seasons of professional ball after being graduated from San Diego High school, is touted as another Joe DiMaggio. In return, the Boston club gave an unannounced sum, Infielder Al Niemic, and Outfielder Dominic Dallesandro.

The Cleveland club renewed its efforts to take Catcher Rollie Hemsley from the Browns and the latter decided to accept Catcher Billy Sullivan and an unidentified minor league infielder. Before signing the papers, President Barnes of the Browns asked the Cleveland club's permission to talk contract with Sullivan, who is known as a hard headed business man when it comes to salary. The Indians wouldn't go for this, so Barnes wouldn't go for the deal.

MOON MULLINS—THE GIRL LEO LEFT BEHIND HIM

Induct Hale as President of District Golf

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Our town's official golf family, which next year will enter the twenty-fifth year of its existence, gathered at the La Salle hotel last night for the annual meeting and election of the Chicago District Golf association. Thirty-five of the sixty member clubs were represented. The association was organized in 1914 with a membership of twenty-five clubs.

The nominating committee, composed of Walter G. Leininger of Oak Park, chairman; Cal Smith of Olympia Fields, and Dwight W. Bennett of Westmoreland, presented the ticket for 1938, which was elected. It consisted of Allan W. Hale of Medinah, president; Maynard G. [Scotty] Fessenden of Bob o' Link, vice president; E. A. Dolan of Park Ridge, treasurer; Elmer A. Eulass of Calumet, secretary, and Joe G. Davis of Acacia, acting secretary. Mr. Leininger will serve as ex-officio member of the board, following four years as an officer, two as vice president and two as president.

Directors Are Chosen.

The board of directors includes F. A. Bunte of Evanston; John A. Carroll of Midlothian; Russell J. Chandler of Sunset Ridge; Thomas L. Grace of Butterfield; Herbert J. Lorber of North Shore; Thomas G. McMahon of Skokie; William Otter of Westmoreland; Horace P. Ramey of Olympia Fields; L. H. S. Roblee of Glen Oak; Lowell D. Rutherford of Medinah; Gray B. Tuthill of Beverly, and Robert F. Zeddies of Exmoor.

Among the speakers last night were Harry E. Radix, thrice president of the C. D. G. A.; Elmer Biggs of Peoria, president of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association, and Gorton Fauntleroy, president of the Western Golf association, which will hold its annual meeting and election Dec. 17 at the University club.

No Action on Open Meet.

No definite decision was made on a continuance of the Chicago open, won last summer by Gene Sarazen at Medinah. It was pointed out in several speeches that a number of clubs had not coöperated as well as they might have in making the event a financial success in so far as a caddy fund was concerned, although the open from a competitive standpoint was considered one of the outstanding tournaments of the year. The enthusiasm reflected last night augured well for a renewal of the tournament next year, depending upon the attitude of the association's entire membership.

Aside from the Chicago open the tournament committee of the C. D. G. A. conducted twenty-five events, including the Illinois state amateur, the qualifying rounds for the national open and amateur events, the C. D. G. A. team tourney, the Midlothian pater-filius, and two junior tournaments. In addition the C. D. G. A. sponsored two new events—one for left handers and a handicap meet for players in classes A, B, and C designed to give the average player a chance at equal competition. Nine one-day handicap tournaments were held.

Prep Elevens Meet for Right to Play Austin

Jackson, Tenn., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Jackson and Union City will meet here tomorrow for the prep football championship of western Tennessee and the right to oppose Bill De Correvont and his Austin associates, Chicago champions, in the second annual Dixie interscholastic contest at Crump stadium, Memphis, Saturday afternoon.

It will be their second meeting this season. Jackson triumphed over Union City, 25 to 6, in their first contest. Jackson played ten games and won nine. It was tied by Memphis Tech, but later defeated Tech in the western Tennessee playoff, 14 to 13. Union City also has scored nine victories in its ten games.

Jackson has rolled up 309 points to its opponents' 32, while Union City has scored 298 to opponents' 58. Jackson is coached by Tury Oman of Chisholm, Minn., and Union City's coach is T. F. Wallace, former Mississippi State star.

Union City will be without the services of its regular center, Art Scates, who was seriously injured in the game against Covington last Saturday. Union City won, 32 to 20.

A former Memphis player, Billy McKinney, will be at quarter back for Jackson. He is rated as one of the best half backs in the state.

JACK EICHERLY NAMED FOOTBALL CAPTAIN AT IOWA

Eicherly started every game for the Hawkeyes during the season just completed and was one of the team's most consistent ground gainers. He scored the Hawkeyes' touchdown against Minnesota when the Gophers defeated Iowa, 35 to 10. He raced sixty-six yards for the score after catching a pass from Nile Kinnick.

Amateur Bouts Head Card in Cicero Ring

Picks Schmeling

ADD EIGHT MORE PLAYERS TO EAST ALL-STAR SQUAD

Eight more players were added yesterday to the All-East football team being assembled for the annual Shrine hospital East-West benefit game to be held at San Francisco New Year's day.

Four players were from the Big Ten, two from Pitt, and one each from Duke and Detroit universities. The Western conference additions included End Ray King and Guard Lou Midler from Minnesota's Big Ten champions, and Gust Zarnas, guard, and Ralph Wolf, center, from Ohio State, which was runnerup to the Gophers in the title race.

Pitt's undefeated eleven contributed Capt. John Michelosen, quarter back, and End Frank Souchak, while Duke will be represented by Quarter Back Elmore [Honey] Hackney and Detroit's Titans by Andy Farkas, one of the middle west's outstanding half backs.

Tunney Picks Schmeling to Defeat Louis

Summit, N. J., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Gene Tunney came out from behind his favorite double shelf of Shakespeare today and predicted that Max Schmeling would win his heavyweight championship back from Joe Louis next June by a knockout.

Gene, who retired undefeated to his books and travel nine years ago, was mightily impressed by German Max's form as he worked out at Mme. Bey's training camp for his bout at the Garden next Monday night with Harry Thomas of Chicago.

"He could knock out Louis tomorrow," he declared after watching Schmeling maul two sparring partners. "Louis is out of shape, and Max has the greatest right I ever saw on a heavyweight."

Argues Max's Case.

"There's no reason why Max shouldn't be the first man to win the title back, even if he is 32," Tunney continued. "Bob Fitzsimmons won the championship at 35, and I hadn't reached my peak when I retired at 30. I'm sure of it, because I was better in my last fight against Tom Heeney than in any other."

Tunney's visit to the camp was quite a surprise, as he has studiously avoided them since his retirement. Gene crowded into the little gymnasium just like anybody else and posed amiably with Schmeling for the photographers. He watched the Teuton closely, particularly after he had finished boxing and was doing some strenuous calisthenics on his back.

"He's in marvelous shape, and he has a wonderful heart," he said. "This is the hardest part of it all—that mat work after you've finished boxing. It takes a strong heart. Nobody ever has accused Max of being a great boxer, but he has plenty of everything else. He'll beat Louis."

Preliminary Bouts Set.

In New York Al Weill, matchmaker for the 20th Century Sporting club, announced preliminaries to the Schmeling-Thomas fight. Lorenzo Pack and Johnny Whiters, both of Detroit, meet in one six round bout. Another matches Ralph Carpenter of Joplin, Mo., and Bob Tow, Washington, D. C., and in a third Freddie Fiducia of Newark faces Lem Franklin of Chicago. Bud Mignault of Worcester, Mass., and Henry Cooper of New York will battle in still another bout set for six rounds.

DE PAUL FIVE TO CLASH TONIGHT WITH WESLEYAN

Seeks 3d Victory Before Starting on Trip.

De Paul university's basketball team will seek its third straight victory tonight at the expense of Illinois Wesleyan at the De Paul gym. A victory would give the Demons confidence for their first road trip.

Tomorrow night De Paul plays Hamline U. at St. Paul; Friday night the Demons engage Wisconsin State Teachers at Superior, Wis., and on Saturday they will meet North Dakota at Grand Forks, N. D.

Wesleyan's team includes Frank Soeka and Ken Chittum, guards; Morgan Evans and George Walker, forwards; and George Ruff, center. De Paul will enjoy a height advantage, the Demons averaging six feet one inch and the downstaters approximately five feet ten inches.

LOYOLA PLAYS TONIGHT

A team of five lettermen is expected to start at alumni gym tonight when Loyola opens its basketball season against Arkansas State college. The Ramblers will be out to better the record of sixteen victories in nineteen games established last year.

Loyola will have Bill O'Brien, six foot four inch junior, at one forward and Bill Lynch, senior letterman, at the other. Big Mike Novak, who is six feet nine inches tall, will be at center.

"Wibs" Kautz, leading Loyola scorer last year, has one guard berth, and Bobby Brennan, five foot ten inch senior the other. Kautz is particularly effective at driving under the basket, while Brennan, regular guard two years ago, specializes in long shots.

NOTRE DAME VS. WESTERN

Notre Dame, Ind., Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Notre Dame will seek its third basketball victory of the year, and its sixteen in a row, here tomorrow night against Western States Teachers college of Kalamazoo, Mich.

The Irish will be without Capt. Ray Meyer, forward, who suffered a dislocation of his right elbow Saturday night against Ball State Teachers. He will be out of the lineup for three weeks. Eddie Sadowski, junior letterman, will replace him. Starting lineups:

GRAINS RECEDE; ARGENTINE CROP DAMAGE IGNORED

Wheat Prices Ease Under Selling Pressure.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .93⅛	$ .94⅛	$1.21⅞
Corn	.57½	.57⅞	1.03⅝
Oats	.30½	.30⅝	.47⅞
Rye	.70⅜	.70	.96⅞
Soy beans	.93⅝	.93¾	1.40

Grain prices were on the downgrade yesterday with trading the smallest in some time. Further bullish crop reports on the new Argentina wheat crop apparently lost their effect and sufficient scattered selling pressure developed to result in wheat prices declining around 1 cent a bushel.

Corn, oats, and soy bean futures closed fractions of a cent a bushel lower. Rye was unchanged to ⅜ cent higher, removal of hedges against export sales resulting in that grain showing independent strength.

With the exception of reports of torrential rains in parts of Argentina, where the new wheat crop is now being harvested, there was little in the general run of the news to induce operators to take a decided stand on the buying side of wheat.

Speculators Take Profits.

Wheat prices had been on the upgrade for five days, with the December delivery at the extreme high on Monday showing an advance of 10½ cents from the low level of Nov. 26. This fact induced professional speculators to take profits on purchases made at lower prices.

Pressure of Australian wheat caused a decline of 1¼ to 1⅜ cents a bushel in Liverpool wheat futures, and Buenos Aires showed an easy undertone despite the heavy rains in Argentina. Markets in the latter country will be closed today. European demand for North American cash wheat was slow and only small lots of Pacific coast and Canadian grain were said to have been sold abroad.

Corn in Narrow Range.

Corn futures held within narrow price limits, easing late in the session in sympathy with wheat. Export sales of about 200,000 bushels were reported, largely from the Atlantic coast to Rotterdam. Deliveries of 100,000 bushels of cash corn were made on December contracts.

Farmers were reported to be dissatisfied with the price of 40 to 45 cents per bushel offered for corn at country loading stations in Iowa and Illinois, and only 28,000 bushels were bought for deferred shipment to Chicago.

Propose Election of Both Grain Pit Vice Presidents

A vote by members of the Chicago Board of Trade on a proposed change in rules to provide for annual election of both vice presidents has been ordered by directors for Dec. 21. Under present rules the second vice president automatically becomes first vice president for the next year.

10 MILLION ISSUE OF PAPER FIRM'S BONDS OFFERED

First Major Industrial Financing in Weeks.

A banking group headed by Brown Harriman & Co., Inc., will offer today $10,000,000 of West Virginia Pulp and Paper company 15 year first mortgage bonds, 4½ per cent series, dated Dec. 1, 1937, and maturing Dec. 1, 1952, at 100 and accrued interest. This is the first major industrial financing to be undertaken for the purpose of raising new money for productive purposes in many weeks.

The company is said to be the largest producer of white, or "book" paper, in America. An outgrowth of a business established in 1888, the company operates six mills at Mechanicville, N. Y.; Tyrone, Pa.; Williamsburg, Pa.; Luke, Md.; Covington, Va., and Charleston, S. C.—which have an estimated annual capacity of 447,950 tons of white paper and kraft paper and board. The company also owns 376,900 acres of timber land.

Bank Loans to Be Retired.

Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to retire $8,500,000 of outstanding bank loans incurred principally in the construction of a new mill at Charleston, S. C., to manufacture kraft board, with the remainder to be used to provide for increases in cash, receivables and inventory.

This is the first public financing to be undertaken by the company and the bond issue will be the company's only outstanding funded debt.

An issue of 10 million dollars of New York state 2½ per cent grade crossing elimination bonds was purchased yesterday by a banking syndicate headed by the Bank of Manhattan company and was immediately reoffered at prices to yield from 0.40 to 2.50 per cent, according to maturity. The bonds mature $200,000 annually from 1938 to 1987. Municipal bond men stated that the interest cost to the state, 2.47¼ per cent, probably was the lowest in history for obligations of comparable maturity.

Long Maturities Slow to Sell.

It was stated in La Salle street that the earlier maturities were moving fairly well while the longer maturities did not sell so well. About 3 million dollars of the bonds were reported to have been sold up to the close of business.

Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Bancamerica-Blair corporation and Ladenburg Thalmann & Co. yesterday bought an issue of $2,200,000 of Buffalo, N. Y., 1.08 per cent tax anticipation certificates of indebtedness, dated Dec. 15, 1937, and maturing June 15, 1938, which they are reoffering at a price to yied 0.80 per cent.

Set Limit on Pure Oil Offer.

Edward B. Smith & Co. yesterday announced that it will withdraw at the close of business Dec. 9 its offer to make up to 5,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock of the Pure Oil company available for purchase at $100 a share flat on and after Dec. 6. It has notified the committee of securities of the New York Stock exchange of its intention. The offer was made to relieve a situation created by dealers who had sold the stock on a when issued basis and who were unable to make delivery.

Graham-Paige.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on Graham-Paige Motors corporation.—L. P.

Answer: One of the smaller automobile manufacturers, Graham-Paige has suffered severely, both from the depression and competition of larger manufacturers in recent years. It has operated at a profit in only two of the last ten years.

The company has placed in effect drastic economies in the last two years to reduce overhead and adapt reorganization to its smaller production schedule. Factory operations have been concentrated in the main Detroit plant and other properties have been sold or are up for sale now. The main plant has a capacity for 600 cars a day.

The company sold about 450,000 shares of additional stock to its stockholders during 1936 to bolster working capital, and recently has arranged a private sale of $1,000,000 in notes. Proceeds of the note sale will be used for working capital to finance retooling, larger inventory, and the 1938 manufacturing and merchandising campaign.

Prospects for a return to profitable operations are clouded by current uncertainties in the general business picture. A loss of $483,000 was reported in the first six months of 1937, compared with loss of $217,000 in the first half of 1936. Sales were $7,495,000, against $8,506,000. Cars sold numbered 10,026, against 12,599. For the full 1937 model year, company sold 21,318 cars, compared with 19,211 1936 models.

An additional source of possible revenue is an arrangement to build tractors for Sears, Roebuck & Co. Some production was started last summer, and plans now call for manufacture of twenty-five tractors a day next spring and summer.

As a result of realignment of manufacturing facilities and increased sales of higher priced cars, net loss was cut from $1,701,000 in 1935 to $470,000 in 1936. Loss was $475,000 in 1934. Net income of $67,000 was reported in 1933, after losses of $2,811,000, $4,736,000, and $4,969,000 in the preceding three years.

Current assets were $2,652,000 and current liabilities were $1,701,000 on June 30, 1937. Aside from the notes, debt consists of $860,000 of first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, due in 1943.

Capitalization consists of 4,727 shares of 7 per cent $100 par preferred and 2,866,029 shares of $1 par common stock. No dividends have been paid on the preferred since 1932 or on the common since 1926.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Load of Lambs Sold.

December 7, 1937.

THE first truckload of lambs from this season's crop raised on the Tribune's Wheaton farm was sent to market last week. Included in the shipment of thirty-three lambs were one yearling wether and two aged ewes.

One of the lambs was injured in handling and could not be sold with the others. It weighed 80 pounds, but brought only $4. The remaining thirty-two lambs weighed a total of 2,500 pounds, averaging 78.1 pounds per lamb. They brought $9.35 a hundredweight, or $233.75. The wether weighed 100 pounds and brought $8.50, and the two ewes weighed 230 pounds and sold for $5 a hundred, bringing $11.50.

Selling charges at Union stockyards totaled $13.07, leaving the farm a net price of $244.74 for the thirty-six head. Charges at the yards consisted of fire insurance, 6 cents; yardage, $6.12; commission, $6.76, and meat board fund, 7 cents. The sheep were taken to market in one of the farm's trucks.

Fat and Well Finished.

Although the flock as a whole has not done well this year, the thirty-three lambs sold last week were fat and well finished. They were grade lambs and were the best that could be picked out of the flock of 253.

All the lambs were kept with their mothers on pasture until they were weaned early in September. Then they were started on a light feeding of whole oats. They continued to run on blue grass, alfalfa, Lespedeza, and volunteer oats pastures. Shelled corn was added to the ration the first of October, but the lambs would not eat much corn until about the middle of that month.

Since the middle of October, the flock has been kept on a full ration of oats, shelled corn, soy bean hay, oil cake, and molasses feed, supplemented with a mineral mixture. The farm manager expects another truckload to be ready for market some time next week.

Breeding Ewes Sorted.

The breeding ewes at the Wheaton place have been sorted out and are being mated for late spring lambing. There are 228 ewes in the flock, 59 pure bred Southdowns and 169 grades. Twenty-nine of the grades are yearlings saved from the 1936 crop. Fifty ewe lambs—30 pure breds and 20 grades—have been kept to be added to the breeding flock next year. Twenty-seven large ewes were culled out in order to even up the flock. They will be sold for breeding or shipped to market.

Down South, the $200 ram brought to the farm this fall from Land o' Goshen farms at Goshen, Ky., is stepping around the pastures a bit prouder than usual as a result of further show ring honors won by his brother and other former flockmates at the International Live Stock exposition last week. His brother, famous in show circles for the last three years, took first place in the class for aged Southdown rams and then was declared grand champion of his breed over rams of all ages, bringing his total winnings to 24 first and championship prizes at 26 major shows. Other blue ribbons were awarded to the Land o' Goshen flock last week at the International.

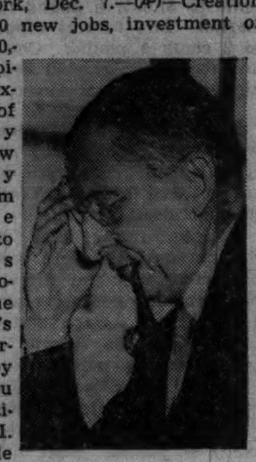
DU PONT OFFERS PLAN TO CREATE 3 MILLION JOBS

Urges Congress End Tax Uncertainty.

New York, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Creation of 3,000,000 new jobs, investment of $25,000,000,000 of capital in expansion of industry and a new recovery program over the next two to ten years were proposed to the nation's manufacturers today by Lammot du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.



Lammot du Pont.

Addressing the National Association of Manufacturers, meeting here in annual convention, du Pont said such a program was "staggering in its size and complexity" but "neither hopeless nor impossible." To achieve it, he declared, government must give industry "a reasonable amount of certainty upon which it can count in planning current and future operations."

"The bulk of responsibility for future social betterment," du Pont asserted, "should be placed on industry's shoulders. And industry accepts the responsibility.

Says Industry Welcomes Task.

"Even more, we welcome the responsibility with full confidence in our own and our nation's capacity to discharge it successfully. All that we ask is the same fair opportunity that we believe should be given the humblest citizen."

New jobs, new wealth and agricultural prosperity could be produced only through planned research, planned expansion of plant, sales and administrative facilities, du Pont said. That meant, he added, "planned expenditure of capital months and years in advance of any penny of return."

Describing business as blanketed by a "fog of uncertainty" over future taxes, labor conditions, inflation or deflation, possible new restrictions on capital and profits, du Pont demanded:

Urges "Some Definition."

"If industry is to be given the fair opportunity to work that it seeks some definition should be given to what, to those of us in industry, would constitute a fair opportunity.

"My own thought may be summed up in a sentence: Give industry a reasonable degree of certainty upon which it can count in planning current and future operations."

Du Pont envisioned bringing about of a new era with eventual elimination of poverty and unemployment through this threefold program:

1. "Development and popularization of new products."
3. "Maintaining a rule of fair return for all efforts, not excepting capital effort."

Calls for Federal Pledge.

Industry can put this plan into effect," he said, if given an opportunity through a three-fold governmental pledge covering these points:

3. "Immediate stabilization of the 'legal rules' under which business must operate, subject only to 'unmistakable public demand' for amendment."

He said the actual rates of taxes, or the actual scale of wages or hours, were not as important as stabilization.

The largest industries, the smallest merchant, he said, must gauge the future in operating their business.

"Obviously, then, when the future is uncertain, business is uncertain," he said.

Declares Uncertainty Rules.

"Uncertainty rules the tax situation, the monetary situation, and practically every legal condition under which industry must operate.

"Are taxes to go higher, lower, or stay where they are? We don't know. Is labor to be union or nonunion, is the A. F. of L. or the C. I. O. to dominate it, and in any event what will be expected of the employer? It is impossible even to guess the answers. Are we to have inflation or deflation, more government spending, or less? Industry is without a scrap of knowledge on either subject. Are new restrictions to be placed on capital, new limits on profits? Industry doesn't know.

"Strikes, broken contracts, wars within labor's own ranks, the constant threat of sweeping new laws,

Silver Policy to Be Outlined Late in Month

President Roosevelt announced yesterday that he will decide Dec. 23 or 24 whether to continue or alter the present silver purchasing program of the United States government. Under the present program, which expires Dec. 31, the United States treasury pays 77.57 cents an ounce for silver mined in this country and 44¾ cents an ounce for foreign silver in New York.

Orderly trading was restored in silver markets of the world yesterday as offerings diminished in view of the hint by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau late Monday that the United States would continue its silver purchasing program in some form after Dec. 31.

London Price Advances.

In London the price of the metal advanced moderately to an American equivalent of 41.66 cents an ounce, up 0.22 cent from Monday when the quotation fell 2.22 cents. Traders believed the recovery would have been greater except for a late rush of Indian selling.

The American price for foreign silver was unchanged at 44¾ cents an ounce and the United States treasury continued to offer 77.57 cents an ounce for metal mined in this country.

No Sales in Montreal.

Nominal quotations on silver futures were unchanged to 0.85 cent an ounce higher in Montreal, but no sales were made. Silver contracts lost 3 to 3.25 cents an ounce there Monday.

Confusion in world markets Monday was attributed to continued heavy shipments of Chinese silver and to alarm over the probable course of prices after Dec. 31. Both the proclamation under which American silver purchases are now being made and the London silver agreement of 1933 expire at the end of this year.

Approximately 10,770,000 ounces of foreign silver was received in New York yesterday, including 10,000,000 ounces of Chinese silver coin shipped presumably to apply on credits extended to the Chinese government.

MARITIME BOARD TO ASK $20,000,000 BIDS ON NEW SHIPS

Washington, D. C. Dec. 7.—(AP)—The maritime commission, it was learned authoritively today, is ready to start within the next two weeks a multimillion dollar program for rehabilitating the American Merchant Marine.

An official said that "in a week or ten days" bids would be asked on about $20,000,000 worth of construction. This will include at least 10 and probably a dozen 9,000-ton cargo vessels, costing about $1,750,000 each.

The commission also has projected a tanker construction program in conjunction with 10 oil companies, headed by Standard Oil of New Jersy. The companies are to bear the basic cost of the vessels, the government paying only for building into them such features as will make them suitable for naval auxiliaries in wartime.

In addition the commission is scheduled to ask in a day or so for bids on remodeling a government-owned vessel to be used as a training ship. The cost of this probably will be $400,000 to $500,000.

CARGILL DENIES PIT REQUEST TO EXAMINE BOOKS

Cargill, Inc., yesterday refused permission to the Chicago Board of Trade to examine its books in connection with the inquiry into the corn market squeeze which occurred last September.

John H. MacMillan, president of Cargill, made public a letter to Kenneth S. Templeton, president of the board, in which he said that the firm did not wish "to divulge its affairs to competitors who have no legal or moral right to information." Several members of the investigating committee, the letter said, are competitors of the Cargill firm.

The board's committee, which is headed by William A. McDonald, is inquiring into all angles of the corn market squeeze, including the operations of the short sellers. The committee had sought permission to examine the books of the Cargill firm, which was the principal holder of September corn.

THREE MORE OIL SUIT DEFENDANTS ARE DISCHARGED

Madison, Wis., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone reduced the number of defendants in the government's gasoline price fixing case from 41 to 38 today by dismissing charges against Ira Smith of Tulsa, Okla., gasoline buyer for the Standard Oil company of Indiana; R. R. Irwin of the Kansas City office of Socony-Vacuum, and J. A. Welch, Shreveport, of the Louisiana Oil and Refining company. The judge said he still was considering motions on behalf of other individual defendants.

Marion Travis of the Southport Petroleum company, defense witness and one of the founders of the East Texas Refiners' Marketing association, denied today that any major oil company had anything to do with the formation of the organization.

J. C. Penney Declares Extra $1.50 Dividend

A large number of corporations yesterday declared extra dividends on common stocks or voted larger payments to reduce surtaxes on undistributed earnings.

American Express company voted an extra payment of $2 and the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50.

Directors of the J. C. Penney company, chain store operators, declared an extra dividend of $1.50 and the regular quarterly payment of $1 on the common stock.

Superheater company, makers of steam equipment for locomotives, declared a special of 75 cents and the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents.

Steel Firm Votes 50c Extra.

Continental Steel corporation directors ordered an extra dividend of 50 cents, bringing payments for this year to $1.50 a share, the same as was paid in 1936.

An extra of $1.25 and the usual quarterly dividend of 45 cents were announced by Bucyrus-Monighan company on the class A stock.

Gardner-Denver company voted an extra payment of 10 cents along with the regular quarterly 25 cent disbursement on the common stock. The quarterly dividend ordinarily would have been paid in January, but payment was advanced to Dec. 24 in order to reduce surtaxes, officials said.

Mead, Johnson & Co. announced an extra dividend of $1.75 and the usual quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the common.

Order $14 Paid on Arrears.

Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company declared a dividend of $14 on account of arrears on the preferred stock. On Nov. 18 a dividend of $1.75 was authorized. Both payments will be made Dec. 23 to stockholders of record Dec. 15.

Bridgeport Machine company declared a cash dividend of 25 cents and a stock dividend of $1 in 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock on the common shares.

An extra of 50 cents and the usual quarterly payment of the same amount were ordered by directors of Western Pipe and Steel company, making a total of $2.75 a share in dividends in 1937, compared with $2.62½ in 1936.

Sharon to Pay 30 Cents.

Directors of the Sharon Steel corporation voted the usual quarterly 30 cent dividend on the common stock, but took no action on a special dividend "because of changed conditions in the steel industry generally." Shareholders of the company in November authorized directors to issue up to 8,000 shares of the $5 preferred stock as a dividend on common stock. The usual quarterly dividend of $1.25 was voted on the preferred stock yesterday.

Novadel-Agene corporation declared the regular cash dividend of 50 cents, and also voted to pay on Dec. 23 the dividends which normally would be payable April 1 and July 1, 1938. Payment will be in the form of non-interest bearing notes payable on the usual dividend dates. The action was taken in order to reduce undistributed profits taxes for this year.

25 Cents on Mission Corp.

Mission corporation declared a dividend of 25 cents on common stock. On June 15 this year the company paid $1.

An extra of 5 cents and a quarterly dividend of 10 cents were announced by General Water, Gas and Electric company. The company previously had paid 20 cents quarterly.

Stockholders of Federal Knitting Mills company voted to dissolve and liquidate the company, following which action directors declared an initial liquidating dividend of $10.

Production of Airplanes Shows Gain Over Last Year

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—(AP)—The air commerce bureau reported today that aircraft manufacturers produced 2,757 airplanes in the first nine months of 1937, representing a 25 per cent increase over the corresponding 1936 period. The bureau said 1,821 of the airplanes were for domestic use, 484 for the military services and 452 for export. In addition to the airplanes, the manufacturers produced 22 gliders and 9 lighter-than-air craft.

Australia to Drop Trade Licensing; Adopt Tarifs

CANBERRA, Australia, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Trade Minister T. W. White announced today in the Australian house of representatives that the commonwealth would abandon its trade licensing system in favor of protective duties. The change, which he said would not be made until parliament reassembles in March, was described as a gesture toward British-American negotiations for a reciprocal trade agreement.

British Want '4 to 1' Benefit in Trade Treaty with America

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The United Kingdom, it appeared today, is going to ask the United States for many more concessions in the projected new trade agreement than it expects to give. It is suggested here now that the "give and take" ought to be about 4 to 1 at the expense of the United States.

How keenly British business circles are following events was indicated in the house of commons during the day when R. De La Bere pressed Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, for assurances that the agricultural interests in this country which might be affected by the proposed Anglo-American treaty would be given a chance to make representations to the government. Stanley announced that traders had been invited to do so.

Asks Members' Suggestions.

The two biggest organizations, the Association of British Chambers of Commerce and the Federation of British Industries, have completed surveys and are expected to issue statements within a few days. They have asked their members to suggest articles on which America should be asked to cut tarifs to aid British producers.

A meeting of the executive council of the Federation of British Industries tomorrow probably will be followed by an announcement covering the whole question, it was said tonight.

Meanwhile, in a letter to Stanley giving the views of the executive committee of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce on the projected trade pact, Secretary Robert Dunwoody of the association voiced the recommendations of traders that the United States be called on to make the bulk of the concessions.

"As the United Kingdom purchases from three to four times as much from the United States as the United States purchases from the United Kingdom," Dunwoody stated, "the approximate value of the concessions to be secured from the United States should be three to four times the value of those granted to the United States."

Demand Committee Study.

The association also demanded that before any tarifs are reduced or concessions are given the proposals be referred to the British government's import duties advisory committee for a report on their effect on British idustries.

British manufacturers of "luxury" goods, including woolen, whisky, cutlery, and expensive lether work particularly seek to benefit from American tarif concessions.

Meanwhile, statements by cabinet ministers in Australia and Canada today were interpreted in official circles in London as indicating the readiness of their governments to share in the proposed new trade relations.

British Stabilization Fund to Make Report on Dec. 31

LONDON, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—Chancellor Sir John Simon today announced in the house of commons that the half-yearly statement relating to the exchange equalization fund will be issued Dec. 31. The report will relate to the fund's position on Sept. 30.

STOCKS SPURT IN LAST HOUR; VOLUME LARGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 7.—Leading stocks advanced fractions to about 3 points on the stock exchange today when a definitly improved sentiment spread through financial circles in the last hour of trading after a drab performance by the general list earlier in the day.

Volume of trading was larger than for the preceding session, totaling 965,250 shares against 836,760 shares on Monday.

Until the final hour the dullness that has been characteristic of recent sessions prevailed, with the majority of issues moving within a narrow limit and the tone heavy. In the final hour, however, the list pushed ahead under the leadership of industrial issues and virtually all stocks reached their highest quotations of the day.

Steels, motors, coppers, and aviations led the market in the upturn. U. S. Steel common pushed up to 58⅛ for a net gain of 1⅞. Bethlehem scored an even larger margin, adding 3 points. Youngstown, Crucible, and Republic also made substantial gains.

Aviation shares were a group fea-

KNOW YOUR COURSE

What's Ahead in ADVERTISING?

Advertising, as we approach 1938, is being widely discussed by manufacturers, bankers, financial writers—and advertising men.

The advertising industry as a whole has a pretty good record for 1937, in our opinion.

Nevertheless advertising, like every other industry, has some things to correct. Corrections should be made by those in the industry.

The man who buys advert'sing has just as much right to expect sound value as he who buys steel, coal, lumber, rubber or any other basic commodity.

Alert advertisers are overlooking no ethical method of securing better values.

LESS EXTRAVAGANCE

The bigger the advertiser, the more wasteful his advertising expenditures, as a rule. It seems to be the general tendency to waste money these days.

The medium advertiser says, "Now we have a limited amount of money, so we must plan campaigns that are strategic and we must insist that our advertising plans be carefully figured out."

On the other hand, the big fellow often says, "We can lick them! Where they use half pages, we will use pages . . . where they use black-and-white pages, we will use four-color pages. And we will put on the biggest radio wow this country has ever seen, even if the cost for talent alone is terrific."

Such a plan, from a volume standpoint, may win—but how about the cost? It may be 25, 30, or 40 per cent greater than it should be.

Not that large space or major radio commitments are necessarily uneconomical. Much depends upon the nature of the campaign and the manner in which the advertising investment is handled.

One thing is certain—wasteful advertising methods, like all other wastes, must eventually go. A considerable amount of present-day advertising reveals evidence of waste.

IDEAS RULE THE WORLD

In the advertising industry, ideas are the thing. One dollar put behind a good advertising idea will do more than ten invested in more or less commonplace generalities. That we know.

Contrary to the public's opinion, advertising ideas that are practical seldom come out o the clouds. They are the outcome of experience and observation.

Even the most inspirational idea has its roots in somebody's experience.

In our business, we search far and wide for useful information, firm in the belief that every business, every product, which has a right to exist has a romance behind it. Our biggest problem lies here.

Through commercial research, we are in intimate contact with the most far-flung cities and towns in America.

If a wholesaler in San Francisco is doing an unusual job, we have a resident man on the ground to uncover the why of it . . . If a retail merchant in Dallas or Minneapolis is breaking all records in the sale of a certain branded product, or products, we run down the story through our research resident in that vicinity.

If housewives in a large eastern city are buying twice as much per capita as the national average on a particular product, we learn the cause quickly.

We have at our command sixty research representatives, located at strategic points in the U. S. A.

In that way we assemble merchandising and advertising facts as they exist today. And, through the same research organization, we often confirm the validity of our ideas and plans...What the present-dayadvertiser prefers to know is, will this advertising idea pull, rather than did it pull.

ture, advancing briskly in expanded turnover. Douglas, up 3; Boeing, up 2⅝; United Aircraft, up 1⅝, and Consolidated Aircraft, up 1⅞, were prominent. Also conspicuous was Wright Aero, which advanced 9 points in relatively active trading.

Anaconda and Kennecott Copper were volume leaders in the non-ferrous metals group, gaining 1⅜ and 2 points, respectively. International Nickel, up ⅝; Phelps Dodge, up 1⅞, and American Smelting, up 2⅝, attracted their share of demand.

Farm equipments advanced 1 to more than 3 points, International Harvester rising 3⅝. Fractional improvement was the rule in the oil group. Store stocks added fractions to 1 point. Chemicals advanced an average of 1½ points.

Carrier issues firmed. The majority of issues closed fractionally higher, with one or two, notably Atchison and Southern Pacific, showing larger gains. Union Pacific was an exception, dropping 3¼ points.

Utilities were ignored for the larger part of the session. Final changes were fractional. Improvements were noted for Standard Gas and Electric, Columbia Gas and Electric, and Electric Power and Light, but Consolidated Edison closed almost one point lower. Electrical equipments, however, profited by the upturn in the last hour, with General Electric adding 1⅝ and Westinghouse jumping 4½ points.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A moderate final hour rally helped to put the bond market on its feet today, following a slow sag throughout most of the session. Transactions totaled $6,974,650, against $7,587,200 yesterday.

The shift came with a late upturn in the stock market. Most responsive were low priced rails and industrial and utility loans of speculative rating. U. S. governments had a quiet session, closing 5-32ds of a point lower to 2-32ds higher.

In the corporate sector, gains ranged from fractions to a point or more in Western Union 5s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Loew's 3½s, American Foreign Power 5s, and Great Northern 4s.

Best performers in the foreign division were Japanese, Polish, Argentine and German issues. Italian loans were weak.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks improved a bit in the final hour on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, but less than one-third of the issues traded during the session managed to push into the plus column. Sales totaled only 18,000 shares, against 17,000 Monday.

Of the eighty issues traded, thirty-two declined, twenty-three advanced, and twenty-five were unchanged. Commonwealth Edison, most actively traded stock, finished ¼ lower to 27. Middle West capital stock, also active, closed ⅛ higher at 6⅞. Chicago corporation common, another trading favorite, was unchanged at 2¼.

Zenith Radio climbed ½ to 19, but Bendix Aviation closed 1⅛ down to 12⅝. Marshall Field declined ⅛ to 10⅝. Armour common was unchanged at 6½.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were steady to firm yesterday. First National advanced $5 to $7 in dealers' quotations, and Continental Illinois was $1 higher. Lake Shore Trust and Savings stock was quoted unchanged to $1 higher. Others were unchanged.

COTTON

Trading in cotton futures yesterday was limited. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were .01 to .05 cent lower. Other American markets were .02 cent higher to .06 cent a pound lower.

The department of agriculture will issue an estimate on the American cotton crop today, which will compare with 18,243,000 bales the preceding month and 12,399,000 bales last year. The estimate is expected to be raised around 100,000 bales as compared with Nov. 1. An official Argentina report showed 1,181,000 acres planted to cotton this season, the largest on record, compared with 1,015,000 acres the previous season and a 5 year average of 692,000 acres.

Spot cotton closed .05 cent lower with New Orleans and New York, 8 cents and Galveston and Houston at 7.70 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

A spurt in hide futures and moderate declines in most other staples marked quiet trading in American commodity markets yesterday. The Associated Press index of 35 cash staples receded 0.24 to 75.78 and the Dow-Jones commodity futures index closed 0.17 lower at 53.50.

Short covering and some new buying caused hide futures to climb 0.24 to 0.32 cent a pound in New York. Cash hide prices were unchanged in Chicago. In the Chicago cash hide market about 2,000 light cow hides were sold at 10 cents a pound, unchanged from the preceding sale.

Rubber futures declined 0.07 to 0.14 cent a pound and crude rubber for immediate delivery was 0.10 cent lower at 15.21 cents a pound. Wool tops fell 1½ cents to 86½ cents a pound in the cash market, but losses in wool tops futures were under a cent a pound.

Crack double extra silk slumped 3 cents to $1.60½ a pound in the cash market. Silk futures dipped ⅛ cent to 2 cents a pound. Cottonseed oil finished irregular, 0.01 cent a pound higher to 0.11 cent lower.

Raw sugar for immediate delivery was marked down 0.05 cent to 3.30 cents a pound. Domestic futures contracts eased 0.02 to 0.03 cent a pound in quiet dealings.

Coffee futures rose moderately. Santos contracts were unchanged to 0.12 cent a pound higher and the close and Rio contracts advanced 0.04 to 0.09 cent. Cash coffee was unchanged. Cocoa futures gained 0.07 to 0.09 cent a pound.

Tin for immediate delivery declined ⅞ cent to 44 cents a pound, and antimony closed ¼ cent lower at 14½ cents a pound. Most other metals for immediate delivery were unchanged. Price changes were small in futures trading.

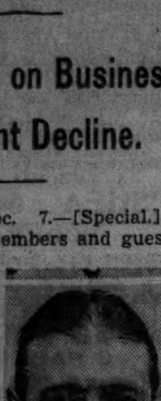
DOUGLAS, EX-AID TO ROOSEVELT, LASHES POLICIES

Blames War on Business for Present Decline.

New York, Dec. 7.—[Special.]—More than 1,200 members and guests of the Economic club of New York heard the present and past of the Roosevelt administration attacked by its critics tonight as largely responsible for the current business recession. The same gathering also heard administration supporters praise what they regarded as its prospects of leading the way to a balanced budget.



Lewis W. Douglas.

The onslaught against the Roosevelt administration was led by Lewis W. Douglas, Democrat, who resigned as director of the budget after a disagreement over Roosevelt fiscal policies. He is president of McGill university in Montreal. Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.], critic of many Roosevelt policies, also spoke.

Speakers for the administration were Wayne C. Taylor, fiscal assistant secretary of the treasury and former Chicago investment banker, and Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the maritime commission and one of the leading conservative advisers of the President.

Hits Attacks on Business.

Douglas held the Roosevelt administration responsible in large measure for the business recession because of its attacks on private business and other factors.

He advocated that the administration cease its attacks on business, "revitalize" private enterprise, press vigorously for reform of taxes that handicap business, modify its attitude on wage rates for the sake of lower prices, soften its policy toward the utilities for the sake of private business spending, and make good its promises to stop the government's spending program.

Douglas suggested that the Roosevelt administration defer some of its social reforms to strengthen American democracy against the danger of being overwhelmed by the world-wide wave of "authoritarianism."

Ask G. O. P. to Revise Stand.

Praising Secretary of State Cordell Hull for his efforts to revive international trade by reciprocity treaties, Douglas asked the Republican party to change its high tarif policy on the grounds that granting subsidies to one group made it necessary to grant them to others and that a subsidized nation was a regimented one.

Douglas declared the vigor of private enterprise must be restored, and said he refused to "accept the philosophies of despair."

"And so," he said, "I make a plea—a plea to business men, to members of the Republican party, and to the administration — that they meet the present 'serious occasion with grave emotions.'

"To make use of some petty political question as the vehicle in which an opposition party may ride into power is to misunderstand the gravity of present events. To proceed on the assumption that there is a conspiracy to destroy the present administration by private encouragement of the recession is to imagine an amount of private power which is nonexistent."

Taylor Denounces Critics.

Taylor declared confidence in the economic future of the nation was justified by the repeated and vigorous statements of President Roosevelt, other administration spokesmen and members of congress in favor of balancing the budget. He denounced members of congress now obstructing the government's program as unworthy to represent their states and sections in congress.

Senator Glass expressed himself as totally in disagreement with nearly everything that has been done in Washington and with nearly everything that has been proposed. He indicated before Douglas spoke that they held similar views.

Kennedy asked Roosevelt administration critics to "stop bellyaching."

"It isn't going to do any good to bellyache or to say Roosevelt is no good or that everybody in Washington is crazy," he said. "Whether you like it or not, he [the President] is going to be there three more years."

Business Bits

C. F. Blackmer, president of the American Steel and Wire company, was guest of honor at a testimonial dinner at the Glen Flora Country club last night in commemoration of the 46th anniversary of the first drawing of wire in the Waukegan-North Chicago area.

Earl S. Thompson, executive vice president and a director of American Water Works and Electric company, yesterday was elected president to succeed H. Hobart Porter, who was made chairman of the board.

Robert A. Stowers, assistant director of finance of Illinois, will lead a discussion on the interpretation of the Illinois retailers' occupational tax law at the monthly forum in the La Salle hotel tonight of the Chicago Association of Credit Men.

Justin F. Barbour of James H. Oliphant & Co. will address the Investment Analysts club of Chicago at a luncheon meeting today in the Palmer House on "Some Observations on the Dow Theory."

E. M. Railton, Chicago, manager for the past nine years of the western division of the Ruberoid company, has been elected a vice president and director of the corporation.

NOVEMBER SALES OF MONTGOMERY WARD INCREASE

Gains Also Reported by Walgreen, Spiegel.

Montgomery Ward & Co., the Walgreen company, Spiegel, Inc., and a number of variety chain concerns yesterday reported increases in dollar sales for November over the same 1936 month. Sales of Interstate Department Stores, Inc., showed a sharp recession.

November sales of Montgomery Ward were $39,550,328, a new high record for the month and an increase of $2,571,114, or 6.90 per cent, over sales of $36,979,214 in November, 1936. October sales totaled $48,825,203.

Company officials explained, however, that November, this year, had one more business day than the 1936 month; that the November, 1937, volume included sales of a number of stores opened during the last twelve months, and that present prices are somewhat higher than a year ago.

Ten Months' Sales Increase.

In ten months ended Nov. 30, the first ten months of the company's fiscal year, Montgomery Ward's sales were $359,339,146, an increase of $56,761,881, or 18.76 per cent, over sales of $302,577,265 in the corresponding period a year ago.

The Walgreen company had November dollar sales of $5,481,613, an increase of 2.9 per cent over sales of $5,328,696 in the same 1936 month. In the two months ended Nov. 30, the first two months of the company's fiscal year, sales were $11,354,256, an increase of 4.5 per cent over sales of $10,857,772 in the corresponding 1936 period. Sales for eleven months ended Nov. 30 were $61,183,839, an increase of 7.8 per cent over sales of $56,700,935 in the same period a year ago.

Spiegel Sales Show Gain.

Spiegel, Inc., Chicago mail order house, had November sales of $6,152,643, against $5,323,451 for the same 1936 month, an increase of 15.57 per cent. November, 1937, was the fifty-eighth consecutive month in which the concern's sales have shown an increase over the same month of the preceding year. In the first eleven months of this year sales were $49,562,312, against $39,459,046, an increase of 25.60 per cent.

Frank S. Cunningham, president of Butler Brothers, principally a wholesaler of dry goods and variety merchandise, reported that November sales of the company were 10.83 per cent under the same month a year ago.

'DON'T BURDEN SHIPPERS,' RAIL TRUSTEE WARNS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Luther M. Walter, co-trustee of the Chicago Great Western railroad, admonished railway labor and management today to beware of placing too heavy a financial burden on shippers.

Walter testified before the interstate commerce commission in its investigation of the railroads' request for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates. He voiced no opposition to such an increase.

Later, off the stand, he told reporters he believed that, "with the living conditions of today, the wage increases of last August were wholly unjustified."

He said that because of the higher operations cost resulting from the August wage boost, some roads had cut off employés, and that "the men and management ought to get together and give everybody a chance to work."

Northern Pacific Road Awards Big Rail Order

The Northern Pacific railroad announced yesterday that it has placed orders for 30,000 tons of rail to be used in connection with improvements next year. On a basis of the present price of $42.50 a ton for standard rail the order will exceed $1,250,000.

FEES TO BANK, LAWYERS TOLD IN RAIL PROBE

Guaranty Official Gives Receivership Testimony.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Senate investigators heard testimony today that the Guaranty Trust company was paid $340,000 and the bank's lawyers about $333,000 for services in the 1925-1928 receivership of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

M. P. Callaway, a Guaranty vice president told the senate railroad finance committee he received an additional $25,000, allowed by the federal court for his services as individual trustee for one class of bondholders.

Being head of Guaranty's corporate trust department, Callaway said, he directed the activities of the company in its position as corporate trustee for the same bondholders, a service for which the bank was paid $125,000.

Payment Resisted, Says Witness.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co., one of the reorganization managers for the railroad, resisted payment of the $25,000 "because they didn't think I was entitled to an individual fee," Callaway said.

The reorganization managers, he added, offered to pay $100,000 for the services of Callaway and the trust company together, but Callaway pressed his claim in court and was awarded an individual fee. He did not turn this fee over to Guaranty, he testified.

Callaway said Guaranty also received $139,629 as depository for one group of bondholders, $13,300 as one of the registrars of deposit certificates issued under the reorganization plan, and $62,190 as an initial fee in its capacity as trustee for one class of bonds issued under the reorganization.

He explained that an individual trustee was necessary in the foreclosure proceedings brought by the bondholders' representatives, because in some states laws require title to be held by an individual.

Facts Withheld, Is Charge.

Earlier, Senator Truman [D., Mo.], acting chairman of the committee, declared that evidence before the committee showed that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. "absolutely controled from start to finish" the St. Paul reorganization.

The road went into bankruptcy again in 1935.

Senator Truman charged that "very material facts" had been withheld from the federal court and the interstate commerce commission in connection with appointment of a trustee in bankruptcy for the road in 1935.

Truman made this assertion while H. A. Scandrett, trustee of the bankrupt railroad, and its president from 1928 to 1935, was testifying with regard to his election as president of the road.

Scandrett denied that the information to which Truman referred was "material" and said he had not submitted it to the court or the commission because he did not believe it was wanted.

The evidence mentioned by Truman included letters from Scandrett to attorneys and officials of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the railroad's bankers, expressing his "appreciation" for their aid in obtaining his election as president of the St. Paul at the time of its reorganization in 1928.

NAVY CONTRACTS FOR VESSELS TO COST 29 MILLION

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—(AP)—The navy department awarded today four contracts totaling $29,884,800 for the construction of one 9,000 ton destroyer tender, one 8,300 ton seaplane tender and two 1,500 ton destroyers.

The contracts for the two tenders, totaling $20,680,555, went to the New York Shipbuilding corporation, Camden, N. J. One of the destroyers was awarded to the Puget Sound navy yard, Bremerton, Wash., and the other to the Charleston, S. C., navy yard. Their estimates totaled $9,204,295.

Stabilization Funds.

Every leading country today maintains a currency stabilization fund. The funds have become an integral part of the present system of international currency management. They were originally created chiefly out of the paper "profits" accruing to governments from currency devaluations.

Through operations in the exchange market various governments are able to maintain comparative stability in the value of their currencies in relation to each other and to change the relationship if desired. The government fund maintains "a market" for its currency. It sells to prevent its currency from rising too high in relation to foreign currencies and buys to prevent it from depreciating too much.

Naturally, under some circumstances, the exchange value of a currency cannot be controled by the operations of such a fund. The French government exhausted its stabilization fund trying to maintain the value of the franc at an artificially high level in relation to other currencies. Other governments have had to replenish their stabilization funds. The British government recently asked parliamentary authorization for an increase in its fund.

The theory behind currency management is that the government can control the exchange value of a currency and regulate the internal price level to the best economic interests of the country.

EXTRA DIVIDEND TIDE RISES; $1.50 ON J. C. PENNEY

American Express to Pay $2 Special.

An interim payment of $1 and an extra of $4 were voted by the Electric Controller and Manufacturing company. President F. R. Fishback announced the board decided to pay a bonus to all company employés, the details to be worked out by the executive committee.

Directors of Petroleum corporation of America declared a dividend of 37 cents on the capital stock, bringing the total for this year to $1.27 compared with a total of 90 cents in 1936.

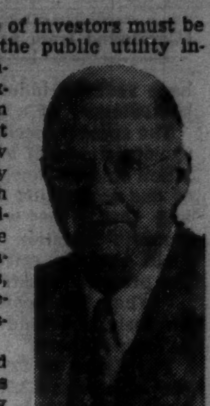
I. C. C. Bars New Evidence on Plan to Split M. & St. L.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission declined today to permit the Associated Railways company to introduce further evidence in behalf of its proposal to dismember the bankrupt Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad. An examiner recommended recently that the proposal be denied. There was no conclusive proof, the examiner said, that the M. & St. L could not be made into a profitable road.

MAGILL OFFERS WAYS TO REVIVE UTILITY GROWTH

Confidence of Investors Must Be Restored.

The confidence of investors must be restored before the public utility industry can embark on an expansion program such as President Roosevelt is now urging on utility executives, Hugh S. Magill, president of the American Federation of Investors, said in a statement issued yesterday.



Hugh S. Magill.

Magill praised the President's action in calling the utility executives into conference.

"But no group of industrialists, however influential and well intentioned," he said, "can obtain the billions of dollars needed unless and until the millions of thrifty, middle class citizens who constitute the investors of America are assured that their money, when invested, will be reasonably safe, and that they can depend upon a fair income."

Suggests Remedial Action.

Magill set forth seven steps that are necessary before the money needed for expansion can be raised. He said this cannot be done:

1. Until the federal government definitly discontinues its destructive competitive policy toward private industry, and particularly toward the utility industry.

2. Until the government shall cease its 45 per cent subsidization of municipal power plants, backed by inflammatory government propaganda against investor owned enterprises, which has injected into the complex business system a vicious element of cut throat competition by politically operated and tax supported electric plants, thereby stifling all incentive for private investment.

3. Until the TVA is restricted by the congress from open, unfair competition at the expense of the taxpayers of the nation with investor owned utilities, and until the government abandons the plan to set up regional authorities throughout the country patterned after the TVA to build hydro-electric power plants in unfair competition with investor owned plants.

Urges Other Changes.

4. Until there is a modification by congress of the "death sentence" of the holding company act so as to permit reasonable adjustment of the holdings of the top companies, while eliminating unnecessary intermediate companies by a process of evolution.

5. Until it is conceded that the basic theory of rate making shall be in accordance with the sound principles of equity, assuring the innocent investor of just treatment and relieving him of the constant fear and uncertainty of political manipulations.

6. Until there is a modification of the punitive tax on undistributed profits to insure sufficient reserves for rainy day maintenance and for necessary reconstruction and extension.

7. Until private business and industry are assured that the continued barrage of government sponsored propaganda aimed at private enterprise shall be halted.

Magill said that the utility industry is now in a position to spend when the conditions are favorable. From 1923 to 1932, he said, the industry spent 7½ billion dollars for new construction, of which about 6¾ billions was new money.

DU PONT OFFERS PLAN TO CREATE 3 MILLION JOBS

The speaker, declaring that the purchasing power of a part of the population was too low, that "some parts of our agriculture are disorganized," and that "the whole future is a gigantic question mark," made it plain that he criticized no one for the present industrial recession.

"What has been done, wisely or unwisely, is behind us," he said. "Let us leave it there."

His figure of $25,000,000,000 as the cost of creating 3,000,000 jobs was arrived at on the basis of study of 100 factories showing an average investment per employé in excess of $8,000, which he describes as low for industry as a whole. He said he believes the money needed "might greatly exceed that sum."

600 Executives at Gathering.

Earlier the 600 executives of American business had heard William B. Warner, president of the association plead for teamwork between labor and capital, management and government, and appeal to the latter for evidence of a "changed attitude toward business."

William B. Warner.

Warner, president of the McCall company, called for "repeal or modification of those laws which have contributed to the downward trend," availability of capital funds "to enable industry to go forward and expand both production and employment," cessation of industrial strife, and avoidance of increasing layoffs of workers.

Results of Polls Discussed.

Raymond Rubicam, advertising executive, discussed polls taken by the American Institute of Public Opinion, which, he said, indicated "fairness, good sense, and perspicacity" on the part of the public.

The polls, he said, indicated the majority of the public was in favor of regulation of labor unions, their incorporation, peace between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., regulation of strikes, a balanced budget, reduction in relief expenditures, revival of the NRA, and a constitutional amendment giving congress the right to greater regulation over industry and agriculture.

It was opposed, however, as indicated by the polls, to a third term for President Roosevelt, sitdown strikes, vigilantism, cash relief, and revival of the AAA, he said.

Bank in Blue Island to Pay Waived Deposit Dividend

A dividend of 7½ per cent will be paid Dec. 15 on waived deposits of the State Bank of Blue Island, Edward J. Barrett, state auditor, announced yesterday. In order to aid in reopening the bank after the 1933 moratorium, depositors waived 60 per cent of their claims. This is the first repayment.
